Global Perspectives in the Geography Curriculum Alex Standish, 2008-10-07 For geographers across the globe this book provides the arguments for a return to the teaching of geography and why they should reject the politicisation of the subject by education policy makers and politicians Standish's careful critique shows the necessity of a depoliticised geography curriculum the irony of which would be that it would ensure that every child could point to Iraq Iran and Afghanistan on a map Prof Dennis Hayes Oxford Brookes University UK A prescient and critical analysis of the changing face of geography teaching This book deserves to be widely read and debated

Alex Standish's book puts current trends in geography teaching in historical and critical context. It comprises a forthright and timely defence of geographical education for its own sake. Dr Jim Butcher FRSA, Department of Sport Science, Tourism and Leisure, Canterbury Christ Church University. Since the early 1990s educational policy makers and some subject leaders have been seeking to fundamentally change the teaching of geography in UK and US schools from a subject which encourages students to explore spatial concepts, ideas and skills to a more ethics-based subject concerned with the promotion of environmentalism, cultural diversity and social justice. In this book the new approach is critically examined within a historical and ideological context, addressing a number of fundamental questions: Should geography be used as a tool for the delivery of citizenship ideals? How does this affect the intellectual and moral value of geographical education for young people? If the state and teachers are taking more responsibility for the values, attitudes and emotional responses of students, how will they learn to develop these qualities for themselves? If global perspectives shift the focus of education from learning about the outside world to learning about the self, what is its vision of social progress and conception of social change? This book advocates a return to liberal models of education, arguing that the new approach to geography currently being promoted for schools fundamentally undermines the educational value of the subject and the freedom of young people to shape the world in which they live. A vital resource for teachers and student teachers alike. Global Perspectives in the Geography Curriculum makes a significant contribution to the growing debate about the future direction of the discipline itself. Scottish Edition David Waugh, Tony Bushell, Chris Peyton, Alasdair McLelland, 2000. Fully compliant with the new Scottish Curriculum. Teachers can rely on the accurate content of the text developed by practising Scottish Geography teachers. Case studies of selected countries, including the brand new Scotland section, can be used at S1 and S2 study. Dedicated website with support materials, relevant links and activities. Key Geography New Interactions John Smith, David Gardner, 2002. Citizenship, literacy, numeracy, ICT, sustainable development and work-related learning are incorporated throughout these guides. The free CD-ROM contains all the materials found in the Teacher Resource Guide and some ICT activities which can be downloaded onto the school network system. Images from the book are included on the CD-ROMs and can be used to make colour overheads or slides to aid class participation and discussion. The guides provide advice and analysis of the revised 2002 National Curriculum and the new QCA Scheme of Work. New Basics Tony Bushell, 2004. Well-chosen photocopiable materials save time in lesson preparation. Less able pupils can spend more time on the real geographical element of the lesson. Students can compile a folder of work with the worksheets, enabling them to monitor their own progress. Encouraging and spacious layout increases confidence of less able learners. Pupil-friendly design encourages concentration and the attainment of measurable outcomes. New Foundations John Smith, David Gardner, 2002. Best-selling course for Key Stage 3 and GCSE Geography. Written to meet the needs of pupils and teachers. Is accessible and flexible in use, provides coherent materials with built-in progression, is attractive and fun to use, is appropriate for pupils of differing abilities and working at different levels.
