Remembering The Fifties Growing Up In Western Canada:

Roughing it in the Suburbs Valerie J. Korinek, 2000-01-01 Korinek shows that rather than promoting domestic perfection Chatelaine did not cling to the stereotypes of the era but instead forged ahead providing women with a variety of images ideas and critiques of women's role in society The Canadian Historical Review, 1998 "Women and the Material Culture of Needlework and Textiles, 1750?950" Maureen Daly Goggin, 2017-07-05 Rejecting traditional notions of what constitutes art this book brings together essays on a variety of fiber arts to recoup women's artistic practices by redefining what counts as art Although scholars over the last twenty years have turned their attention to fiber arts redefining the conditions practices and products as art there is still much work to be done to deconstruct the stubborn patriarchal art craft binary With essays on a range of fiber art practices including embroidery knitting crocheting machine stitching rug making weaving and quilting this collection contributes to the ongoing scholarly redefinition of women's relationship to creative activity Focusing on women as producers of cultural products and creators of social value the contributors treat women as active subjects and problematize their material practices and artifacts in the complex world of textiles Each essay also examines the ways in which needlework both performs gender and in turn constructs gender Moreover in concentrating on and theorizing material practices of textiles these essays reorient the study of fiber arts towards a focus on process the making of the object including the conditions under which it was made by whom and for what purpose as a way to rethink the fiber arts as social praxis Canadian Books in Print, 2000 Fifty Years of Religious Studies in Canada Harold Coward, 2014-11-07 In Canadian universities in the early 1960s no courses were offered on Hinduism Buddhism or Islam Only the study of Christianity was available usually in a theology program in a church college or seminary Today almost every university in North America has a religious studies department that offers courses on Western and Eastern religions as well as religion in general Harold Coward addresses this change in this memoir of his forty five year career in the development of religious studies as a new academic field in Canada He also addresses the shift from theology classes in seminaries to non sectarian religious studies faculties of arts and humanities the birth and growth of departments across Canada from the 1960s to the present the contribution of McMaster University to religious studies in Canada and Coward's Ph D experience there the Centre for Studies in Religion and Society at the University of Victoria and the future of religious studies as a truly interdisciplinary enterprise Coward's retrospective while not a history as such documents information from his varied experience and wide network of colleagues that is essential for a future formal history of the discipline His story is both personally engaging and richly informative about the development of the field Quill & Quire, 1997 Subject Guide to Books in Print, 2001 This Life, This World: New Essays on Marilynne Robinson's Housekeeping, Gilead, and Home, 2015-09-29 This book explores the author's award winning novels while also engaging her non fiction As the first book devoted entirely to Robinson and to her diverse contributions to literature and scholarship This Life This World familiarizes readers with the major currents in her thought and moves scholarly dialogue into new theoretical directions An interdisciplinary group the contributors bring to their subject a diversity of perspectives Romanticism ecocriticism medicine and literature religion and literature theology American Studies critical race theory and feminist and gender studies that reflects the amplitude and fecundity of Robinson s art and thought The book begins with an annotated timeline and concludes with a substantive written interview with Robinson wherein she reflects on her work and its reception A tremendous resource for Robinson enthusiasts and for readers interested in the questions she raises in her fiction and non fiction Northfield Echoes ,1902 Changing Women, Changing History Diana Lynn Pedersen,1996 Changing Women Changing History is a bibliographic guide to the scholarship both English and French on Canadian s women s history Organized under broad subject headings and accompanied by author and subject indices it is accessible and comprehensive The Mosaic Myth Domenic Diamante,2023-08-22 Canada s official model for integrating newcomers the cultural mosaic is based on false assumptions and fails to meet immigrants new social and cultural needs Canada s government delivered its official policy on multiculturalism in 1971 adopting a model called the cultural mosaic While on the surface the policy and model seemed benign they were based on false assumptions The Mosaic Myth deconstructs the theory of the cultural mosaic to expose those flaws and warn how its implementation will be at best useless and at worst harmful Author Domenic Diamante himself an immigrant from Italy was skeptical from the start After studying the evidence he drafted this book now forty years ago Today with the mosaic model having failed Diamante brings his work to the public stage in its original form to show what was wrong with the mosaic and why it matters Leaving the North Johanne Devlin Trew,2016 The first book to survey the history of Northern Ireland migration from partition in 1921 to the present including the personal stories of individuals who emigrated to many destinations abroad some of whom later returned Frank Farley and the Birds of Alberta Glen Hvenegaard,Jeremy Mouat,Heather J. Marshall,2025-10-16 Frank Farley 1870 1949 was a passionate naturalist and enthusiastic booster for rural development in western Canada He supported and managed newly designated migratory bird sanctuaries networked with expert ornithologists across the continent mentored young people including famous Canadian writer and grand nephew Farley Mowat and published widely to scientific and popular audiences His most significant publication was Birds of the Battle River Region His data and research served as the basis for the first account of the birds of Alberta published in 1958 Farley s career shows how a single individual can make significant contributions to the fields of ornithology and environmental conservation both locally and internationally Frank Farley and the Birds of Alberta adds a new layer to a complex western Canadian past and will be an invaluable resource for those interested in Canadian environmental history climate change and ecological activism Fifty Fashion Looks that Changed the 1950s DESIGN MUSEUM ENTERPRISE LTD,Paula Reed,2012-10-01 The Design Museum and fashion guru Paula Reed present Fifty Fashion Looks that Changed the 1950s The most exciting influential and definitive looks of one of the most significant decades in fashion The Mary Trainer, Brian Antonson, Rick Antonson, 2015 Everybody has a train story. Whether it comes from a distant relative who worked on the railways or from a family train trip that formed a lasting impression of the Canadian landscape, trains inspire a sense of wonder and nostalgia. They are embedded in the history of Canada as a whole and western Canada in particular, and for generations they were how most people travelled and saw the country. Today, trains get the most attention in the context of tragedy in the aftermath of rare but catastrophic derailments. However, train stories go beyond these modern-day disaster tales or romantic glimpses into the past. Whistle Posts West presents a compelling array of stories that illustrate how and why the railways continue to capture our imaginations. From the heartbreaking to the humorous, from the awe-inspiring to the absurd, this fascinating collection of railway tales from BC, Alberta and Yukon is sure to please. T.P.'s Weekly Thomas Power O'Connor, Holbrook, Jackson, 1902 The Rotarian, 1954-04 Established in 1911, The Rotarian is the official magazine of Rotary International and is circulated worldwide. Each issue contains feature articles, columns and departments.
