My Fathers Face:

My Fathers' Daughter Hannah Pool, 2009-01-06 What do you wear to meet your father for the first time In 2004 Hannah Pool knew more about next season's lipstick colors than she did about Africa a beauty editor for The Guardian newspaper she juggled lattes and cocktails handbags and hangouts through her twenties just like any other beautiful independent Londoner Her white English adoptive relatives were beloved to her and were all the family she needed Okay if I treat it as a first date then I'm on home turf What image do I want to put across Classic rather than trendy and if my G string doesn't pop out I should be able to carry the whole thing off Contacted by relatives she didn't know she had she decided to visit Eritrea the war-torn African country of her birth and answer for herself the daunting questions every adopted child asks Imagine what it's like to never have seen another woman or man from your own family To spend your life looking for clues in the faces of strangers We all need to know why we were given up What Hannah Pool learned on her journey forms a narrative of insight wisdom wit and warmth beyond all expectations When I stepped off the plane in Asmara I had no idea what lay ahead or how those events would change me and if I'd thought about it too hard I probably wouldn't have gotten farther than the baggage claim A story that will send shivers down your spine The Bookseller My Fathers Daughter follows Hannah Pool's brave and heartbreaking return to Africa to meet the family she lost and the father she thought was dead Let's Get Serious Billy R. Sue Miller, 2007-12-18 In the fall of 1988 Sue Miller found herself caring for her father as he slipped into the grasp of Alzheimer's disease She was she claims perhaps the least constitutionally suited of all her siblings to be in the role in which she suddenly found herself and in The Story of My Father she grapples with the haunting memories of those final months and the larger narrative of her father's life With compassion self-scrutiny and an urgency born of her own yearning to rescue her father's memory from the disorder and oblivion that marked his dying and death Sue Miller takes us on an intensely personal journey that becomes by virtue of her enormous gifts of observation perception and literary precision a universal story of fathers and daughters James Nichols was a fourth generation minister a retired professor from Princeton Theological Seminary Sue Miller brings her father brilliantly to life in these pages his religious faith his endless patience with his children his gaiety and willingness to delight in the ridiculous his singular gifts as a listener and the rituals of church life that stayed with him through his final days She recalls the bitter irony of watching him a church historian wrestle with a disease that inexorably lays waste to notions of time history and meaning She recounts her struggle with doctors her deep ambivalence about many of her own choices and the difficulty of finding continually the humane and moral response to a disease whose special cruelty it is to dissolve particularities and to diminish in so many ways the humanity of those it strikes She reflects unforgettably on the variable nature of memory the paradox of trying to weave a truthful narrative from the threads of a dissolving life And she offers stunning insight into her own life as both a daughter and a writer two roles that swell together here in a poignant meditation on the consolations of storytelling With the care restraint and consummate skill that define her beloved and best selling fiction Sue Miller now gives us a rigorous compassionate inventory of two lives in a memoir destined to offer comfort to all sons and daughters struggling as we all eventually must to make peace with their fathers and with themselves
