

FIRE POEMS

I Do Not Love You Except Because I Love You

I do not love you except because I love you;
I go from loving to not loving you,

Fire And Ice

Some say the world will end in fire,
Some say in ice.

A Child's Christmas In Wales

One Christmas was so much like another, in those years around the sea-town corner now...

My Love Is Like To Ice

My love is like to ice, and I to fire:
How comes it then that this her cold so great

*there's A Fire Burning In My Eyes*

Even the impossible can be done because I believe it can

Ice And Fire

My love is like to ice, and I to fire:
How comes it then that this her cold so great

A City's Death By Fire

After that hot gospeller has levelled all but the church'd sky,
I wrote the tale by tallow of a city's death by fire;

Complete Destruction

It was an icy day.
We buried the cat,

Moira Ferguson, 2014-08-01 First published in 1992 Subject to Others considers the intersection between late seventeenth to early nineteenth century British female writers and the colonial debate surrounding slavery and abolition Beginning with an overview that sets the discussion in context Moira Ferguson then chronicles writings by Anglo Saxon women and one African Caribbean ex slave woman from between 1670 and 1834 on the abolition of the slave trade and the emancipation of slaves Through studying the writings of around thirty women in total Ferguson concludes that white British women as a result of their class position religious affiliation and evolving conceptions of sexual difference constructed a colonial discourse about Africans in general and slaves in particular Crucially the feminist propensity to align with anti slavery activism helped to secure the political self liberation of white British women A fascinating and detailed text this volume will be of particular interest to undergraduate students researching colonial British female writers early feminist discourse and the anti slavery debate

The Columbia Guide to South African Literature in English Since 1945 Gareth Cornwell, Dirk Klopper, Craig Mackenzie, 2010-04-13 From the outset South Africa's history has been marked by division and conflict along racial and ethnic lines From 1948 until 1994 this division was formalized in the National Party's policy of apartheid Because apartheid intruded on every aspect of private and public life South African literature was preoccupied with the politics of race and social engineering Since the release from prison of Nelson Mandela in 1990 South Africa has been a new nation in the making inspired by a nonracial idealism yet beset by poverty and violence South African writers have responded in various ways to Njabulo Ndebele's call to rediscover the ordinary The result has been a kaleidoscope of texts in which evolving cultural forms and modes of identity are rearticulated and explored An invaluable guide for general readers as well as scholars of African literary history this comprehensive text celebrates the multiple traditions and exciting future of the South African voice Although the South African Constitution of 1994 recognizes no fewer than eleven official languages English has remained the country's literary lingua franca This book offers a narrative overview of South African literary production in English from 1945 to the postapartheid present An introduction identifies the most interesting and noteworthy writing from the period Alphabetical entries provide accurate and objective information on genres and writers An appendix lists essential authors published before 1945

The Traffic in Poems Meredith L. McGill, 2008 The transatlantic crossing of people and goods shaped nineteenth century poetry in surprising ways that cannot be fully understood through the study of separate national literary traditions American and British poetic cultures were bound by fascination envy influence rivalry recognition and piracy as well as by mutual fantasies about and competition over the Caribbean Drawing on examples such as Felicia Hemans's elaboration of the foundational American myth of Plymouth Rock Emma Lazarus's ambivalent welcome of Europe's cast off populations black abolitionist Mary Webb's European performances of Hiawatha and American reprints of Robert Browning and George Meredith the eleven essays in this book focus on poetic depictions of exile slavery immigration and citizenship and explore the often asymmetrical traffic between British and American poetic cultures
