Remapping East Asia T. J. Pempel, 2018-08-06 An overarching ambiguity characterizes East Asia today The region has at least a century long history of internal divisiveness war and conflict and it remains the site of several nettlesome territorial disputes However a mixture of complex and often competing agents and processes has been knitting together various segments of East Asia In Remapping East Asia T J Pempel suggests that the region is ripe for cooperation rather than rivalry and that recent region building developments in East Asia have had a substantial cumulative effect on the broader canvas of international politics This collection is about the people processes and institutions behind that region building In it experts on the area take a broad approach to the dynamics and implications of regionalism Instead of limiting their focus to security matters they extend their discussions to topics as diverse as the mercurial nature of Japan s leadership role in the region Southeast Asian business networks the war on terrorism in Asia and the political economy of environmental regionalism Throughout they show how nation states corporations and problem specific coalitions have furthered regional cohesion not only by establishing formal institutions but also by operating informally semiformally or even secretly

Education in Indonesia Daniel Suryadarma, Gavin W. Jones, 2013 In Indonesia as elsewhere in Asia education will inevitably play a key role in the national development experience as the twenty first century unfolds Not much international attention is paid to how the education sector is faring in Indonesia but that is not because nothing is happening The past decade has seen major changes in the structure of the education system and in the schooling trajectories of Indonesian children and adolescents The administration of primary and secondary education has been decentralized to the regions A new paradigm of school based management has been introduced Public spending on education has finally reached one fifth of total government spending as required by law But although enrolment rates at all levels continue to increase the quality of education remains low and has not improved and the tertiary sector continues to experience problems of autonomy and unsatisfactory performance

Growing Apart Peter Lewis,2009-12-11 Growing Apart is an important and distinguished contribution to the literature on the political economy of development Indonesia and Nigeria have long presented one of the most natural opportunities for comparative study Peter Lewis one of America s best scholars of Nigeria has produced the definitive treatment of their divergent development paths In the process he tells us much theoretically about when why and how political institutions shape economic growth Larry Diamond Senior Fellow Hoover Institution Growing Apart is a careful and sophisticated analysis of the political factors that have shaped the economic fortunes of Indonesia and Nigeria Both scholars and policymakers will benefit from this book s valuable insights Michael L Ross Associate Professor of Political Science Chair of International Development Studies UCLA Lewis presents an extraordinarily well documented comparative case study of two countries with a great deal in common and yet with remarkably different postcolonial histories His approach is a welcome departure from currently fashionable attempts to explain development using large multi country databases packed with often dubious measures of various aspects of governance Ross H McLeod Editor Bulletin of Indonesian Economic Studies This is a highly readable and important book Peter Lewis provides us with both a compelling institutionalist analysis of economic development performance and a very insightful comparative account of the political economies of two highly complex developing countries Nigeria and Indonesia His well informed account generates interesting findings by focusing on the ability of leaders in both countries to make credible commitments to the private sector and assemble pro growth coalitions This kind of cross regional political economy is often advocated in the profession but actually quite rare because it is so hard to do well Lewis s book will set the standard for a long time Nicolas van de Walle John S Knight Professor of International Studies Cornell University Peter M Lewis is Associate Professor and Director of the African Studies Program Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies

Modern Peoplehood John Lie,2011-04 A most impressive achievement by an extraordinarily intelligent courageous and that goes without saying well read mind The scope of this work is enormous it provides no less than a comprehensive historically grounded theory of modern peoplehood which is Lie s felicitous umbrella term for everything that goes under the names race ethnicity and nationality Christian Joppke American

Journal of Sociology Lie's objective is to treat a series of large topics that he sees as related but that are usually treated separately: the social construction of identities, the origins and nature of modern nationalism, the explanation of genocide and racism. These multiple themes are for him aspects of something he calls modern peoplehood. His mode of demonstration is to review all the alternative explanations for each phenomenon and to show why each successively is inadequate. His own theses are controversial but he makes a strong case for them. This book should renew debate.

Immanuel Wallerstein, Yale University and author of The Decline of American Power: The U.S. in a Chaotic World. Chinese Entrepreneurship and Asian Business Networks Thomas Menkhoff, Gerke Solvay, 2012-11-12. The degree to which the extensive business networks of ethnic Chinese in Asia succeed because of ethnic characteristics or simply because of the sound application of good business practice is a key question of great current concern to those interested in business management and economic development in Asia. This book brings together a range of leading experts who present original new research findings and important new thinking on this vital subject. Based on rich empirical research data and a multidisciplinary explanatory framework, this book assesses the role, characteristics and challenges of Chinese entrepreneurship and business networks in various East and Southeast Asian countries: the People's Republic of China, Vietnam, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia and Australia. Chinese Entrepreneurship and Asian Business Networks demonstrates that Chinese network capitalism is contingent upon, for example, time, place, institutional frameworks and that explanatory approaches of Chinese economic behaviour which stress culture and ethnicity are too simplistic.

Timor Leste Andrea Katalin Molnar, 2009-12-17. This book provides a comprehensive country overview of Southeast Asia's newest nation, Timor-Leste (East Timor). This book focuses on its cultural and ethno-linguistic diversity and its political history from the pre-Portuguese period up to 2009. The book pays particular attention to the historical roots of the current challenges to nation building by reviewing the Indonesian occupation, guerrilla warfare by the Timorese against the occupiers, the politics leading up to the United Nations popular consultation and the vote for independence in 2002. Explaining the structure of the government and its parliamentary system, this book highlights the problems and historical and cultural underpinnings of the challenges Timor-Leste faces in building a stable, viable nation. The author presents a synopsis of selected issues including language, truth and reconciliation, the Catholic Church's political activism, internal security problems, the politics of oil and the fact that violent conflicts from 2005 to date have made it necessary for the United Nations peacekeeping forces to return. Thus far, the book argues, Timor-Leste's nation building efforts have been hampered by the dynamic interaction of a number of national and international factors. The first comprehensive political and cultural history of East Timor to date, this book fills a gap and will be an important single reference resource for students and researchers in the field of Southeast Asian Studies, Anthropology and Political Science.

myth Television, Nation, and Culture in Indonesia Philip Kitley, 2014-07-31 The culture of television in Indonesia began with its establishment in 1962 as a public broadcasting service From that time through the deregulation of television broadcasting in 1990 and the establishment of commercial channels television can be understood Philip Kitley argues as a part of the New Order's national culture project designed to legitimate an idealized Indonesian national cultural identity But Professor Kitley suggests that it also has become a site for the contestation of elements of the New Order's cultural policies Based on his studies he further speculates on the increasingly significant role that television is destined to play as a site of cultural and political struggle

The Politics of NGOs in Indonesia Bob S. Hadiwinata, 2003-08-29 This book deals with two major issues how Indonesian NGOs survived under Suharto's authoritarian rule and how NGOs contributed to the promotion of democracy in the post Suharto era If NGOs are to change from development to movement in democratic post Suharto Indonesia they must adjust not only their management and working style but also their very ideology This comprehensive study will be an important book for scholars interested in Asian studies Indonesian politics and development studies
