Nationalism After Communism Lebons Learned:

Nationalism After Communism Alina Mungiu-Pippidi, Ivan Krastev, 2004 Drawing on lessons from post communist Europe this book provides a summary of the practical wisdom learned in the management of ethnic conflicts from the Balkans to Chechnya Grounded in empirical mostly comparative research the essays go beyond theoretical postulates and normative ideals and acknowledge the considerable experience that exists within the post communist world on ethnic conflict nation and state building What does the post communist experience have in common with other nationalisms and nation related conflicts and what if anything is unique about it This book written by academics with experience as policy advisors is strongly policy oriented The primordial type hypotheses of ethnic social capital and ancient hatreds are tested on the basis of public opinion surveys on nationalism and ethnic cohabitation in various countries in east central Europe Power sharing arrangements in the Balkans the small separatist Republics of the post Soviet world as well as ethno federalism from the former Yugoslavia to the former Soviet Empire are discussed in the respective chapters Confronting the Yugoslav Controversies Charles W. Ingham, Thomas Allan Emmert, 2013 This collection of essays examines Yugoslavia's dissolution and the subsequent wars Central and Eastern Europe After Transition Wojciech Sadurski, 2016-04-08 How have national identities changed developed and reacted in the wake of transition from communism to democracy in Central and Eastern Europe Central and Eastern Europe After Transition defines and examines new autonomous differences adopted at the state and the supranational level in the post transitional phase of the post Communist area and considers their impact on constitutions democracy and legal culture With representative contributions from older and newer EU members the book provides a broad set of cultural points for reference Its comparative and interdisciplinary approach includes a useful selection of bibliographical resources specifically devoted to the Central Eastern European countries transitions

Extraterritorial Citizenship in Postcommunist Europe Timofey Agarin, Ireneusz Pawel Karolewski, 2015-09-29 What role does the protection of citizens abroad play in motivating states policies How does citizenship of non residents map onto domestic nation building projects And in what ways do extraterritorial citizenship issues differ from those related to diaspora and migration This volume develops a new analytical framework for emerging research on how states establish relationships with non resident citizens and resident non citizens It provides new insights on the changing relationship between states and the societies they govern particularly in light of the liberalization of the state institutions on the one hand and their approach to citizenship as a political resource on the other Examining a range of European states in the post communist region the book illustrates the complex geopolitical interests and interstate relations involved with these policy decisions whilst highlighting the relevance of similar issues around the globe Citizenship after Yugoslavia Jo Shaw, Igor Štiks, 2013-10-31 This book is the first comprehensive examination of the citizenship regimes of the new states that emerged out of the break up of Yugoslavia It covers both the states that emerged out of the initial disintegration across 1991 and 1992 Slovenia

Croatia Bosnia Herzegovina the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and Macedonia as well as those that have been formed recently through subsequent partitions Serbia Montenegro and Kosovo While citizenship has often been used as a tool of ethnic engineering to reinforce the position of the titular majority in many states in other cases citizenship laws and practices have been liberalised as part of a wider political settlement intended to include minority communities more effectively in the political process Meanwhile frequent re definitions of these increasingly overlapping regimes still provoke conflicts among post Yugoslav states This volume shows how important it is for the field of citizenship studies to take into account the main changes in and varieties of citizenship regimes in the post Yugoslav states as a particular case of new state citizenship At the same time it seeks to show scholars of post Yugoslavia and the wider Balkans that the Yugoslav crisis disintegration and wars as well as the current functioning of the new and old Balkan states together with the process of their integration into the EU cannot be fully understood without a deeper understanding of their citizenship regimes This book was originally published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies

Power Sharing Ian O'Flynn, David Russell, 2005-10-20 It is widely assumed that internal power sharing is a viable democratic means of managing inter communal conflict in divided societies In principle this form of government enables communities that have conflicting identities to remedy longstanding patterns of discrimination and to co exist peacefully Key arguments in support of this view can be found in the highly influential works of Arend Lijphart and Donald Horowitz Power Sharing seeks to explore the unintended consequences of power sharing for the communities themselves their individual members and for others in society More specifically it is distinctive in questioning explicitly whether power sharing perpetuates inter communal conflict by institutionalising difference at the political level inhibits conflict resolution by encouraging extremism stifles internal diversity and fails to leave sufficient space for individual autonomy This book not only provides a theoretical exploration and critique of these questions but comprehensively examines specific test cases where power sharing institutions have been established including in Northern Ireland Belgium Bosnia Herzegovina Macedonia and Lebanon It also explores such issues as the role of political leaders human rights instruments the position of women and the prospects for reconciliation within such societies Furthermore it provides a detailed set of policy recommendations to meet the challenges of transition in deeply divided societies

Europe's Burden Alina Mungiu-Pippidi, 2019-12-05 The EU is many things a civilization ideal to emulate an anchor of geopolitical stabilization a generous donor and a historical lesson on cooperation across nations A fixer of national governance problems however it is not In this book Mungiu Pippidi investigates the efficacy of the European Union's promotion of good governance through its funding and conditionalities both within EU proper and in the developing world The evidence assembled shows that the idea of European power to transform the quality of governance is largely a myth From Greece to Egypt and from Kosovo to Turkey EU interventions in favour of good governance and anti corruption policy have failed so far to trigger the domestic political dynamic needed to ensure sustainable change Mungiu Pippidi explores how we can better bridge the gap between the

Europe of treaties and the reality of governance in Europe and beyond This book will interest students and scholars of comparative politics European politics and development studies particularly those examining governance and corruption

Women and Citizenship in Central and Eastern Europe Joanna Regulska,2017-03-02 The transformations seen in women s active citizenship in Central and Eastern Europe mirror the social political and economic transformations in the region since the fall of communism at the end of the 1980s This book challenges the universal notion of citizenship by focusing on the diversity of situations women in this region have found themselves in since the end of the 1980s looking at the challenges and struggles they have faced to assert themselves as citizens and their citizenship rights Featuring detailed case studies which demonstrate the social and political discrimination between women that still exists the book will be of interest to academics and post graduate students in women s gender studies political sociology and European studies

Multilingual Democracy Nenad Stojanović,2021-06-29 Most experts on divided societies and institutional design broadly agree that it is more difficult to establish and maintain a stable functioning democracy in a country with multiple languages and linguistically fragmented public spheres than in more homogeneous countries Multilingual countries such as Canada and Belgium have been experiencing considerable difficulties in past decades see the almost successful 1995 referendum on sovereignty in Quebec or the institutional deadlock and the rise of Flemish nationalism in Belgium since the 1970s The prospects for the EU to become a viable democracy are even more haunted by multilingualism considering that it has 24 official languages and no lingua franca Switzerland however is also a multilingual country without a lingua franca fragmented into 22 mono lingual and three multilingual cantons as well as into four distinct public spheres German French Italian Romansh And yet it is widely seen as one of the most stable and successful democracies Conventional wisdom in political science literature suggests that consociational political institutions account for the success of Swiss multilingual democracy This book offers a different institutional explanation The author argues that in mainstream literature important Swiss institutions in particular direct democracy Parliament and the federal executive have largely been misinterpreted they have been labelled as consociational whereas they are rather a product of centripetalism an approach to institutional design in which political incentives are directed toward intergroup compromise because of the need to appeal to voters across group lines in order to form majorities This approach to achieving long term democratic stability stands in sharp contrast to consociationalism

Balkan Fighters in the Syrian War Tanja Dramac Jiries,2021-09-14 This book analyses the process of the recruitment of foreign fighters from the Western Balkans specifically Bosnia and Herzegovina and Kosovo to Syria and Iraq from 2012 to 2015 Utilizing in depth semi structured interviews with foreign fighters and their families as well as a number of relevant stakeholders it answers the question of what were the processes and circumstances leading up to the departure of foreign fighters from Bosnia and Herzegovina and Kosovo and what informed their agency The author draws on the theories of social movement approaches more specifically contentious politics literature and utilizes the specific concepts of triggering mechanisms which refer to the enabling circumstances that make the radicalization and departure possible and pleasure in agency to elaborate on individual motivation The book also shows how a wider state fragility within the context of the post Yugoslav wars and the transitional period that never ended aided radicalization and how an incomplete process of post war transition can fuel the process of political and religious radicalization creating a wider enabling web for recruitment It will be of interest to students and scholars of Southeast European politics and foreign policy post war democratic transition security policy and radicalization more broadly

The Prospects for Liberal Nationalism in Post-Leninist States Cheng Chen,2010-11-01

The Balkans in the New Millennium Tom Gallagher,2005-04-28 Can the Balkans ever become a peaceful peninsula like that of Scandinavia With enlightened backing can it ever make common cause with the rest of Europe rather than being an arena of periodic conflicts political misrule and economic misery In the last years of the twentieth century Western states watched with alarm as a wave of conflicts swept over much of the Balkans Ethno nationalist disputes often stoked by unprincipled leaders plunged Yugoslavia into bloody warfare Romania Bulgaria and Albania struggled to find stability as they reeled from the collapse of the communist social system and even Greece became embroiled in the Yugoslav tragedy This new book examines the politics and international relations of the Balkans during a decade of mounting external involvement in its affairs Tom Gallagher asks what evidence there is that key lessons have been learned and applied as trans Atlantic engagement with Balkan problems enters its second decade This book identifies new problems organized crime demographic crises of different kinds and the collapse of a strong employment base This is an excellent contribution to our understanding of the area

The Politics of East European Area Studies Gareth Dale,Katalin Miklossy,Dieter Segert,2017-09-13 Following the end of the Cold War and European Union enlargement in what sense does Eastern Europe continue to exist as a meaningful geo political concept In addressing this question contributors to this volume Alex Cistelean Robert Bideleux Katalin Mikl ssy and Dieter Segert tease out the implications for an Area Studies approach to the region They examine its contradictory situation within discourses of orientalisation on one hand posited as the underdeveloped pendant to its western neighbours on the other largely Christian by religion and an integral part of a continent that dominated the world They uncover the roots of area studies in the colonial paradigm by which great powers promote the creation of predictive problem solving knowledge that is immediately apprehendable for decision makers helping them to take advantage of a region s resources and strategic position but which tends to homogenise the region s geography and history For critical inquiry they argue the challenge is to delineate transparently the reasons underlying Eastern Europe s construction as an area of study to identify the epistemological interests of motivated organisations such as funding agencies and political bodies and to counter the ongoing orientalism of Western perspectives toward the East This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary Central and Eastern Europe

Goodbye to All That? Dan Stone,2014 Shows how the anti fascist consensus prevalent throughout Europe following World War II has been crumbling since the 1970s and how globalization deregulation the erosion of social democratic welfare capitalism in the West and the collapse of the Communist alternative in the East are leading to a social divisive politically dangerous rise of fascism that could threaten the peace of Europe

Peacemaking, Power-sharing and International Law Martin Wählisch,2019-09-05 This monograph provides a contemporary analysis of the frictions between peacemaking and international human rights law based on the cases of postconflict power sharing in Lebanon and Bosnia Herzegovina In this context it evaluates the long standing debate in the United Nations and human rights bodies about the imperfect peace Written from a practitioner scholarly viewpoint and drawing from new authentic sources the book describes the mechanisms used in peace agreements and post conflict constitutions for managing ethnic or religious diversity explains their legal limits under international human rights law and provides a conceptual framework for analysing the nexus between law and peacemaking The book argues that the relationship between the content of peace agreements and post conflict constitutions their negotiation process and the element of time needs to be untangled to better understand the legal limits of statebuilding in the aftermath of armed conflict It is a key resource for scholars in human rights law and peace and conflict studies advisers in peace processes constitution makers and peace mediators

The Impact of Legislatures Philip Norton,2020-09-10 The Impact of Legislatures brings together key articles and path breaking scholarship published in The Journal of Legislative Studies during its first 25 years of publication enabling the reader to make sense of the impact of legislatures in the modern world Encompassing theory comparative analysis and county based empirical studies the volume examines the impact of legislatures as the key representative institutions of nations addressing their relationships both to government and to the people Legislatures are ubiquitous They provide legitimacy to measures of public policy and to government As such they are key to how a nation is governed But they do much more than confer legitimacy They are generally multi functional and functionally adaptable bodies and are an essential link between citizen and government However scholarship on them has not been extensive and has often been descriptive and country specific limiting the capacity to make sense of them as a particular species of institution The chapters in this volume reflect scholarship that helps the reader appreciate the significance of the place and consequences of legislatures examining not only the relationship between the legislature and the executive but also the oft neglected relationship between legislatures and the people Reflecting the growing body of research in the field of legislative studies carried by The Journal of Legislative Studies since its inception in 1995 The Impact of Legislatures is essential reading for anyone wishing to understand the impact of legislatures in the world today

Ethnonationality's Evolution in Bosnia Herzegovina and Macedonia Arianna Piacentini, 2020-05-28 This book is centred upon the concept of ethnonationality investigating how its meanings and functions have changed across political regimes time and generations Piacentini explores two similar yet different realities Bosnia Herzegovina and Macedonia now North Macedonia both former Yugoslav republics multiethnic and currently characterised by consociational arrangements and ethnic politics This temporal perspective encompasses both the Yugoslav and post Yugoslav period empirically exploring two generations living together in the same family each socialised by different macro environments and socio political and economic conditions The book explores which ideas rules and patterns of behaviour related to ethnonationality have been transmitted between the generations Ethnonationality's Evolution in Bosnia Herzegovina and Macedonia will be of interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including sociology politics and conflict studies

Postwar Tony Judt, 2006-09-05 Finalist for the Pulitzer Prize Winner of the Council on Foreign Relations Arthur Ross Book Award One of the New York Times's 100 Best Books of the 21st Century Impressive Mr Judt writes with enormous authority The Wall Street Journal Magisterial It is without a doubt the most comprehensive authoritative and yes readable postwar history The Boston Globe Almost a decade in the making this much anticipated grand history of postwar Europe from one of the world's most esteemed historians and intellectuals is a singular achievement Postwar is the first modern history that covers all of Europe both east and west drawing on research in six languages to sweep readers through thirty four nations and sixty years of political and cultural change all in one integrated enthralling narrative Both intellectually ambitious and compelling to read thrilling in its scope and delightful in its small details Postwar is a rare joy

Central and Eastern European Media in Comparative Perspective John Downey, Sabina Mihelj, 2016-04-15 Appearing more than twenty years after the revolutions in Central and Eastern Europe this book could not have come at a more appropriate time a time to take stock not only of the changes but also the continuities in media systems of the region since 1989 To what extent are media institutions still controlled by political forces To what extent are media markets operating in Central and Eastern Europe Do media systems in Central and Eastern Europe resemble media systems in other parts of Europe The answers to these questions are not the same for each country in the region Their experience is not homogeneous An international line up of distinguished experts and emerging scholars methodically examine the different economic political cultural and transnational factors affecting developments in media systems across Central and Eastern Europe Whereas earlier works in the media system tradition have in the main adopted the political framework of comparative politics the authors argue that media systems are also cultural and economic institutions and there are other critical variables that might explain certain outcomes better Topics discussed range from political economy to gender inequality to the study of ethno cultural diversity This unmatched volume gives you the unique opportunity to study the growing field of comparative media analysis across Eastern and Western Europe A valuable resource that goes beyond the field of media and cultural analysis which media scholars as well as to area specialists should not go without
