

Nationalism and Ethnicity in Southeast Asia

What is nationalism?

Nationalism is a political and social ideology that emphasizes the importance of a shared national identity, culture, and history. It is the belief that a nation, defined by its common culture, language, traditions, and history, should have its own sovereign state and government that represents the interests and aspirations of its people.

Nationalism can take different forms, ranging from a peaceful advocacy for self-determination to more extreme forms, such as ethnic or religious nationalism that exclude or discriminate against minorities. Nationalism can also be expressed through symbols, such as flags, anthems, and monuments, that represent the national identity and history.

Ethnicity and Politics in Southeast Asia Amy H. Liu, Jacob I. Ricks, 2022-05-05 What explains the treatment of ethnic minorities in Southeast Asia This Element conceptually disaggregates ethnicity into multiple constituent markers specifically language religion and phenotype By focusing on the interaction between these three ethnic markers Liu and Ricks explore how overlap between these markers can affect whether a minority integrates within a broader ethnic identity successfully extracts accommodation as unique group or engages in a contentious and potentially violent relationship with the hegemon The argument is tested through six case studies 1 ethnic Lao in Thailand integration 2 ethnic Chinese in Thailand integration 3 ethnic Chinese in Malaysia accommodation 4 ethnic Malays in Singapore accommodation 5 ethnic Malays in Thailand contention and 6 ethnic Chinese in Indonesia contention

Dynamic of Ethnic Relations in Southeast Asia Mohd Azizuddin Mohd Sani, Shamsuddin L. Taya, 2010-04-16 Dr Mahathir Mohamad former Prime Minister of Malaysia said in the Far Eastern Economic Review 28 October 1996 The threat is from inside So we have to be armed so to speak Not with guns but with the necessary laws to make sure the country remains stable He implied that ethnic conflict and political instability are inevitable in a multi ethnic society unless protected by certain laws Ethnic conflict is like a time bomb The misuse of human rights for political ends and to exploit ethnic sentiments can spark ethnic conflict In theory the modern nation state must achieve pluralism in its project of nation building There are few nations in the world which consist of a single ethnic group Yet multi ethnicity also seems to be a serious challenge to any system of government especially in Southeast Asia as it adds possibly deep running cleavages to societies Some groups are marginalized in the course of nation building as a result of the nature of the relationship between nation and state Arjun Appadurai stated that the nation and the state have become one another's project groups try to capture states and their power while states try to monopolize about the nationhood There is always tension between the centre and the margin The centre often consists of one ethnic group and marginalised minority groups are denied their right to equality Sometimes horrible wars with thousands of victims commence as a consequence of such processes of ethnically framed nation building Therefore a democratic setting should be functionally superior that is in a better position to moderate the escalatory tendencies inherent in a multi ethnic setting thereby achieving less violence prone conflict management and its eventual resolution in Southeast Asia This book is intended for anyone interested in the subject of ethnic relations and conflicts especially politicians policy makers civil society activists academia and students of ethnic race studies and Southeast Asian politics

Southeast Asian Identities Joel S.

Class and Politics in Malaysian and Singaporean Nation Building Muhamad M. N. Nadzri, 2025-05-23 Nadzri

explores a range of factors that have influenced nation building in Malaysia and Singapore with principal emphasis on the importance of social and economic class In contrast to previous studies on nation building which overwhelmingly rely on the explanatory power of culture race and ethnic community the book foregrounds the importance of social and economic status The three main themes explored in this book are how the nation building projected in each country is driven by the class interests of its ruling elites how elections have impacted the politics of nation building and how each country's nation building policies are designed to build political loyalty and support for the ruling elites The comparability of analytical outcomes using the prism of class interests uncovers the limitations of the explanatory power of race ethnic community and culture in understanding the social and political dynamics of the two countries A valuable read for scholars and students of politics in Malaysia and Singapore that will also be of interest to scholars of comparative approaches to nation building
