Samplers ,1947 The Encyclopædia Britannica Hugh Chisholm,James Louis Garvin,1926 Childhood by Design Megan Brandow-Faller,2018-04-19 Informed by the analytical practices of the interdisciplinary material turn and social historical studies of childhood Childhood By Design Toys and the Material Culture of Childhood offers new approaches to the material world of childhood and design culture for children This volume situates toys and design culture for children within broader narratives on history art design and the decorative arts where toy design has traditionally been viewed as an aberration from more serious pursuits The essays included treat toys not merely as unproblematic reflections of socio cultural constructions of childhood but consider how design culture actively shaped commodified and materialized shifting discursive constellations surrounding childhood and children Focusing on the new array of material objects designed in response to the modern invention of childhood what we might refer to as objects for a childhood by design Childhood by Design explores dynamic tensions between theory and practice discursive constructions and lived experience as embodied in the material culture of childhood Contributions from and between a variety of disciplinary perspectives including history art history material cultural studies decorative arts design history and childhood studies are represented critically linking historical discourses of childhood with close study of material objects and design culture Chronologically the volume spans the 18th century which witnessed the invention of the toy as an educational plaything and a proliferation of new material artifacts designed expressly for children s use through the 19th century expansion of factory based methods of toy production facilitating accuracy in miniaturization and a new vocabulary of design objects coinciding with the recognition of childhood innocence and physical separation within the household towards the intersection of early 20th century child centered pedagogy and modernist approaches to nursery and furniture design through the changing consumption and sales practices of the postwar period marketing directly to children through television film and other digital media and into the present where the line between the material culture of childhood and adulthood is increasingly blurred

Samplers Donald King,1960 Victoria and Albert Museum, Department of Textiles,1915 Marking Time Edward Town,Angela McShane,2020-11-24 An engaging encyclopedic account of the material world of early modern Britain as told through a unique collection of dated objects The period from 1500 to 1800 in England was one of extraordinary social transformations many having to do with the way time itself was understood measured and recorded Through a focused exploration of an extensive private collection of fine and decorative artworks this beautifully designed volume explores that theme and the variety of ways that individual notions of time and mortality shifted The feature uniting these more than 450 varied objects is that each one bears a specific date which marks a significant moment for reasons personal or professional religious or secular private or public From paintings to porringers teapots to tape measures the objects and the stories they tell offer a vivid sense of the lived experience of time while providing a sweeping survey of the material world of early modern Britain

Defining Visual Rhetorics Charles A. Hill,Marguerite Helmers,2012-08-21 Images play an important role in developing consciousness and the relationship of the self to its surroundings In this distinctive collection editors Charles A Hill and Marguerite Helmers examine the connection between visual images and persuasion or how images act rhetorically upon viewers Chapters included here highlight the differences and commonalities among a variety of projects identified as visual rhetoric leading to a more precise definition of the term and its role in rhetorical studies Contributions to this volume consider a wide variety of sites of image production from architecture to paintings from film to needlepoint in order to understand how images and texts work upon readers as symbolic forms of representation Each chapter discusses analyzes and explains the visual aspect of a particular subject and illustrates the ways in which messages and meaning are communicated visually The contributions include work from rhetoric scholars in the English and communication disciplines and represent a variety of methodologies theoretical textual analysis psychological research and cultural studies among others The editors seek to demonstrate that every new turn in the study of rhetorical practices reveals more possibilities for discussion and that the recent turn to the visual has revealed an inexhaustible supply of new questions problems and objects for investigation As a whole the chapters presented here demonstrate the wide range of scholarship that is possible when a field begins to take seriously the analysis of images as important cultural and rhetorical forces Defining Visual Rhetorics is appropriate for graduate or advanced undergraduate courses in rhetoric English mass communication cultural studies technical communication and visual studies It will also serve as an insightful resource for researchers scholars and educators interested in rhetoric cultural studies and communication studies
