Architecture and the Urban Environment Derek Thomas,2007-06-01 This well illustrated text forms a critical appraisal of the place and direction of architecture and urban design in a new world order at the start of the 21st century The book defines architectural and environmental goals for the New Age by analysing recent contemporary work for its responsiveness to important social and environmental issues and comparing it to successful precedents in architecture It argues that this new sustainable approach to architecture should be recognised as a new development of mainstream architectural history This practical guide illustrates current social and natural resource issues to aid architects in their approach to future design Environmental economics is presented as a potential bridge over the divide between the expectations of the business sector and the concerns of environmental lobbies Through examples and case studies an accessible analysis of carefully researched data drawn from primary sources over four continents allows the author to outline the current urgency for architects and urban designers to respond with real commitment to current and future changing contexts This book expresses a holistic vision and proposes a value system in response to the diagnosis It includes sound architectural and environmental ethics end user involvement in the design process and technological advances aimed at sustainable resource use Includes international case studies from Europe North America the Developing world including South Africa South America and Central Asia

Architecture Series: Bibliography ,1988 Building in Hot and Humid Regions Napoleon Enteria,Hazim Awbi,Mat Santamouris,2019-04-26 This book presents an in depth analysis covering climatic and weather conditions house and building development history construction methods and technologies and environmental conditions It provides relevant house and building information and highlights recent advances in hot and humid regions as well as developments in other regions that are relevant to hot and humid climates The countries in hot and humid regions which include the tropical countries the Middle Eastern countries around the Mediterranean and many countries of Central Asia and Africa are home to some of the most challenging conditions in the world in terms of house and building design and construction and in terms of maintaining indoor thermal comfort and air quality in an energy efficient way The book s respective chapters prepared by expert contributors cover essential concepts designs and construction methodologies for houses and commercial buildings As such the book offers a valuable resource for undergraduate and graduate students in architecture and engineering house and building designers and building sciences researchers Building contractors manufacturers and distributors of building equipment and devices and government policymakers and legislators will also benefit from the information provided in this book Islamic Heritage Architecture and Art III J. Casares,S. Dominguez Amarillo,2020-08-11 Islamic architecture has enriched design with a wide variety of structural shapes including among others unique arches a wide variety of vaults and domes which allow for new forms to be developed The influence that these structural forms have in non Islamic countries was one of the themes of the 3rd International Conference on Islamic Heritage Architecture and Art at which the included papers were presented There is much to learn from past experiences to arrive at solutions which are environmentally sound and sustainable in the long term As conventional energy resources become scarce the Islamic design heritage can offer invaluable lessons on how to deal in an efficient manner with cases of hard and extreme environments Traditional architecture and urban environments in most Islamic countries are now being eroded by overemphasis on a global type of architecture and city planning As a consequence many regions are losing their identity It will become increasingly important for new developments to take light of what the classical Islamic urban designs and architectures have to offer modern society An equally important aspect covered is the analysis of the materials employed and the types of structural elements particularly those unique to Islamic architecture Preserving this heritage requires the development of appropriate conservation techniques in response to the different materials used and the ways structural forms work including under extreme conditions such as earthquakes These papers deal with the design of many types of buildings in Islamic countries including not only the better known public buildings like mosques mausolea citadels and forts but also houses and gardens engineering works such as bridges and dams irrigation systems and many others which have also had a profound impact on society
