Fictional Worlds and Philosophical Reflection Garry Hagberg, 2022-01-31 This edited collection investigates the kinds of philosophical reflection we can undertake in the imaginative worlds of literature Opening with a look into the relations between philosophical thought and literary interpretation the volume proceeds through absorbing discussions of the ways we can see life through the lens of literature the relations between philosophical saying and literary showing and some ways we can see the literary past philosophically and assess its significance for the present Taken as a whole the volume shows how imagined contexts can be a source of knowledge a source of conceptual clarification and a source of insight and understanding And because philosophical thinking is undertaken after all in words a heightened sensitivity to the precise employments of our words particularly philosophically central words such as truth reality perception knowledge selfhood illusion understanding falsehood can bring a clarity and a refreshed sense of the life that our words take on in fully described contexts of usage And in these imagined contexts we can also see more acutely and deeply into the meaning of words about words metaphor and figurative tropes verbal coherence intelligibility implication sense and indeed the word meaning itself Moving from a philosophical issue into a literary world in which the central concepts of that issue are in play can thus enrich our comprehension of those concepts and in the strongest cases substantively change the way we see them With a combination of conceptual acuity and literary sensitivity this volume maps out some of the territory that philosophical reflection and literary engagement share

Contemporary Readings in the Philosophy of Literature David Davies, Carl Matheson, 2008-03-06 What if anything distinguishes works of fiction such as Hamlet and Madame Bovary from biographies news reports or office bulletins Is there a right way to interpret fiction Should we link interpretation to the author's intention Ought our moral unease with works that betray sadistic sexist or racist elements lower our judgments of their aesthetic worth And what when it comes down to it is literature The readings in this collection bring together some of the most important recent work in the philosophy of literature by philosophers such as Martha Nussbaum John Searle and David Lewis The readings explore philosophical issues such as the nature of fiction the status of the author the act of interpretation the role of the emotions in the act of reading the aesthetic and moral value of literary works and other topics central to the philosophy of literature Brief Encounters Susannah Fullerton, 2009-06-01

Throughout the 19th and early 20th centuries countless distinguished writers made the long and arduous voyage across the seas to Australia They came to give lecture tours and make money to sort out difficult children sent here to be out of the way for health for science to escape demanding spouses back home or simply to satisfy a sense of adventure In 1890 for example Robert Louis Stevenson and his wife Fanny arrived at Circular Quay after a dramatic sea voyage only to be refused entry at the Victoria one of Sydney's most elegant hotels Stevenson threw a tantrum but was forced to go to a cheaper less fussy establishment Next day the Victoria's manager recognising the famous author from a picture in the paper rushed to find Stevenson and beg him to return He did not In Brief Encounters renowned author and speaker Susannah Fullerton examines a diverse array of writers including Charles Darwin Rudyard Kipling Stevenson Anthony Trollope Mark Twain Arthur Conan Doyle DH Lawrence Joseph Conrad HG Wells Agatha Christie and Jack London to discover what they did when they got here what their opinion was of Australia and Australians how the public and media reacted to them and how their future works were shaped or influenced by this country The Long-Lost Secret Diary Of The World's Worst Tomb Hunter Tim
