Theology Hussein Ali Abdulsater, 2017-06-02 Examines the critical turn that shaped Imami Shi'ism in the 10th and 11th centuries. A God is not free to act. He is bound by human ethics. To be just, He must create an individual of perfect intellect and infallible morality. People are obligated to submit to this person; otherwise, eternal damnation awaits them. While these claims may be interpreted as an affront to God's power, an insult to human judgment, and a justification for despotism, Shi'ite Muslims in the eleventh century eagerly adopted them in their attempts to forge a rational religious discourse. They utilized everything from literary studies and political theory to natural philosophy and metaphysical speculation in support of this project. This book presents the contribution of al-Shar'af al-Murta'ad (1044-1104) of Baghdad, the thinker most responsible for this irreversible change which remains central to Imami identity. It analyzes his intellectual project and establishes the dynamic context which prompted him to pour the old wine of Shi'ite doctrine into the new wineskin of systematic Mu'tazili theology. Key Features: Comprehensive coverage of al-Murta'ad's enormous oeuvre, running to several thousand pages and diversity spanning virtually all contemporary fields of knowledge. A meticulous engagement with long and dense theoretical texts that are either in manuscript form or poorly edited. An orderly presentation that equips readers with an overall understanding of Shi'ite theology in its main phases while preserving the profundity of analysis. The study of a little-known author whose views nonetheless are still a major influence for Shi'ite Muslims Everyday Shi'ism in South Asia Karen G. Ruffle, 2021-04-20

The first textbook to focus on the history of lived Shi'ism in South Asia. Everyday Shi'ism in South Asia is an introduction to the everyday life and cultural memory of Shi'ite women and men, focusing on the religious worlds of both individuals and communities at particular historical moments and places in the Indian subcontinent. Author Karen Ruffle draws upon an array of primary sources, images, and ethnographic data to present topical case studies, offering broad snapshots of Shi'ite life as well as microscopic analyses of ritual practices, material objects, architectural and artistic forms, and more. Focusing exclusively on South Asian Shi'ism, an area mostly ignored by contemporary scholars who focus on the Arab lands of Iran and Iraq, the author shifts readers' analytical focus from the center of Islam to its periphery. Ruffle provides new perspectives on the diverse ways that the Shi'a intersect with not only South Asian religious culture and history but also the wider Islamic humanistic tradition Written for an academic audience yet accessible to general readers this unique resource Explores Shi'i religious practice and the relationship between religious normativity and everyday religious life and material culture Contextualizes Muharram rituals public performances festivals vow making and material objects and practices of South Asian Shi'a Draws from author's studies and fieldwork throughout India and Pakistan featuring numerous color photographs Places Shi'i religious symbols cultural values and social systems in historical context Includes an extended survey of scholarship on South Asian Shi'ism from the seventeenth century to the present Everyday Shi'ism in South Asia is an important resource for scholars and students in disciplines including Islamic studies South Asian studies religious studies anthropology art history material culture studies history and gender studies and for English speaking members of South Asian Shi'i communities

Constructing Religious Martyrdom John

Soboslai,2024-06-27 Martyrdom is a phenomenon common to many of the world's religious traditions. But why? In this study John Soboslai offers insights into the practices of self-sacrifice within specific sociopolitical contexts. Providing a new understanding of martyrdom through the lens of political theology, he analyzes discourses and performances in four religious traditions during social and political crises: beginning with second-century Christianity in Asia Minor where the term martyr first took its meaning; He also analyzes Shi'a Islam in the 1980s when suicide bombing first appeared as a strategy in West Asia; global Sikhism during World War I where martyrs stood for and against the British Raj; and twenty-first-century Tibetan Buddhism where self-immolators used their bodies in opposition to the programs of the People's Republic of China. Presenting a new theory of martyrdom linked to constructions of sovereign authority, Soboslai reveals common features of self-sacrifice and demonstrates how bodily performances buttress conceptions of authority.

Christian Encounters with Iran Sasan Tavassoli,2011-04-30

The interface between the current Shi'ite landscape and Christian thinking is of the greatest significance for the shifting political and religious dynamics of the Middle East. Sasan Tavassoli here examines Iranian Shi'ite thinkers' encounters with Christian thought since the Islamic revolution of 1979 and provides insight into the cultural and intellectual climate surrounding Christian-Muslim dialogue in contemporary Iran. The literature on Christianity in Iran reveals a wide range of approaches and attitudes, and Tavassoli demonstrates that traditional polemics are giving way to a more descriptive and subjective understanding of Christian thought. He also studies Muslim-Christian dialogue and research conducted and supported by governmental as well as non-governmental organizations and offers a close examination with interviews of the work of three prominent liberal religious intellectuals: Abdol Karim Soroush, Mostafa Malekian, and Mojtaba Shabestari. Placing contemporary Shi'ite thought in the broad historical context of pre and post-revolution Iran, Tavassoli relates concrete religious, cultural, and socio-political realities to the themes and orientations in the latest phase of the Shi'i-Islam-Christianity encounter and offers fresh insight into the dynamism of contemporary Islam and the religious complexities of the Muslim world.

After the Prophet Lesley Hazleton,2010-09-07

In this gripping narrative history, Lesley Hazleton tells the tragic story at the heart of the ongoing rivalry between the Sunni and Shia branches of Islam. Fascinating, lively, and engaging, anyone seeking to understand today's Middle East can learn from this book. Seattle Times. Even as Muhammad lay dying, the battle over who would take control of the new Islamic nation had begun, beginning a succession crisis marked by power grabs, assassination, political intrigue, and passionate faith. Soon Islam was embroiled in civil war, pitting its founder's controversial wife Aisha against his son-in-law Ali and shattering Muhammad's ideal of unity. Combining meticulous research with compelling storytelling, After the Prophet explores the volatile intersection of religion and politics, psychology and culture, and history and current events. It is an indispensable guide to the depth and power of the Shia-Sunni split.
