Documentary Film and Radical Psychiatry Des O'Rawe, 2024-12-19 This book examines how documentary film responded to the methods and controversies associated with radical psychiatry especially during the long 1960s Broad in scope and comparative in approach it discusses a range of films in terms of how their production histories and visual styles were influenced by wider cultural technological and autobiographical factors The book argues that documentary filmmaking offers both an important critical perspective on psychiatric treatments institutions and attitudes as well as contributing to a critique of how normative modes of being are constructed across mainstream media and popular culture In their negotiations with the politics of psychiatry such films will often question the ethnographic and observational integrity of the documentary or non fiction form itself especially when it adopts diaristic interactive socially engaged and advocacy strategies to represent mental illness and healthcare provision The relationship between documentary film and the constellation of insights arguments communities and individuals associated with the moment of radical psychiatry remains a complex but indispensable legacy of the post war era      Rx Hollywood Michael DeAngelis, 2018-01-22 Rx Hollywood investigates how therapy surfaced in the themes representations and narrative strategies of a changing film industry In the 1960s and early 1970s American cinema was struggling to address adult audiences who were increasingly demanding films that confronted contemporary issues Focusing upon five fields of therapeutic inquiry therapist patient dynamics female frigidity and male impotence marital discord hallucinogenic drug use and the dynamics of confession Michael DeAngelis argues that the films of this period reveal an emergent common tendency of therapy to work toward the formation of a stronger sense of interpersonal community social and political engagement counteracting alienation and social division in the spirit of connection and community Prior to the 1960s therapy had been considered an introspective process one that emphasized contemplation and insight and prompted the patient to investigate memories and past traumas In the 1960s however therapy would move toward more humanistic client centered community group and encounter models that deemphasized the there and then of past feelings and experiences and embraced the here and now of the present These kinds of therapy promised to heal the self through a process of reaching out helping individuals to connect with communities support networks and other like minded individuals who shared a needed sense of belonging Drawing on a wide range of films including Marnie The Boston Strangler The Chapman Report Carnal Knowledge Divorce American Style Diary of a Mad Housewife Guess Who s Coming to Dinner and Five Easy Pieces DeAngelis shows how American culture framed therapeutic issues as problems of human communication developing treatment strategies that addressed individual psychological problems as social problems
