Professionalization of Window Display in Britain, 1919-1939 Kerry Meakin, 2024-09-05 This book provides the first comprehensive history of window display as a practice and profession in Britain during the dynamic period of 1919 to 1939. In recent decades the disciplines of retail history, business history, design and cultural history have contributed to the study of department stores and other types of shops. However, these studies have only made passing references to window display and its role in retail society and culture. Kerry Meakin investigates the conditions that enabled window display to become a professional practice during the interwar period, exploring the shift in display styles, developments within education and training, and the international influence on methods and techniques. Piecing together the evidence, visual and written, about people, events, organisations, exhibitions and debates, Meakin provides a critical examination of this vital period of design history, highlighting major display designers and artists. The book reveals the modernist aesthetic developments that influenced high street displays and how they introduced passers-by to modern art movements. The Economics of the Distributive Trades \(RLE Retailing and Distribution\) Patrick McAnally, 2012-10-02 First published in 1971, The Economics of the Distributive Trades is a comprehensive analysis of all sectors of the British retailing sector, written by the then head of the Research Department of the John Lewis Partnership. Using economic statistics and modelling, Patrick McAnally examines the full range of the retailing business, from output to competition, pricing, assortment and transport to location, staff and finance, and in doing so provides an invaluable snapshot of the state of the distributive trades at the end of the Sixties. First published 1971. Proceedings of 2012 3rd International Asia Conference on Industrial Engineering and Management Innovation \(IEMI2012\) Runliang Dou, 2013-01-31 The purpose of the 2012 3rd International Asia Conference on industrial engineering and management innovation (IEMI2012) is to bring together researchers, engineers and practitioners interested in the application of informatics to industrial engineering and management innovation. Streets of Splendor Anneleen Arnout, 2018-10-10 This book addresses the unresolved question of how urban retailing and consumption changed during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. It replaces the usual focus on just one type of shopping institution with that of the urban shopping landscape in its entirety. Based on secondary sources for comparable cities and an in-depth empirical analysis of primary sources for Brussels, the author demonstrates that the unbridled commercialisation of cities in the nineteenth century cannot be understood without taking into account the entirety of the shopping landscape. Through a quantitative and qualitative analysis, she shows how and why the culture and spaces of shopping evolved. Merchants Record and Show Window, 1929 Urban Redevelopment and Modernity in Liverpool and Manchester, 1918-1939 Charlotte Wildman, 2016-09-22 This book is open access and available on www.bloomsburycollections.com. It is funded by Manchester University. Faced with economic decline, unprecedented levels of unemployment and new forms of political extremism during Britain's last great economic crash, politicians and planners in Liverpool and Manchester responded by investing in dramatic and ambitious programmes of urban regeneration. Urban Redevelopment and Modernity in Liverpool and Manchester 1918

1939 is the first book to provide the hitherto unknown story of the innovative transformation of these cities Charlotte Wildman challenges academic scholarship in British history which associates the post 1918 period with the emasculation of local government and the decline of civic culture She shows that local politicians planners architects businessmen and even religious leaders embraced innovative trends in creating distinct forms of urban modernities which particularly changed the way women experienced the transformed city Urban Redevelopment and Modernity in Liverpool and Manchester 1918 1939 offers a complex interactive and multipolar interpretation of the ways cities develop pointing to new methods and ways of understanding both interwar Britain and urban history more generally At a time of debate and discussion about devolution and decentralisation of government this book makes an opportune contribution to debates about urban governance and regionalism in contemporary Britain

Optical Play Julia Bekman Chadaga, 2014-10-31 Longlist finalist 2015 Historia Nova Prize for Best Book on Russian Intellectual and Cultural History Julia Bekman Chadaga's ambitious study posits that glass in its uses as a material and as captured in culture is a key to understanding the evolution of Russian identity from the eighteenth century onward From the contemporary perspective it is easy to overlook how glass has profoundly transformed vision Chadaga shows the far reaching effects of this phenomenon Her book examines the similarities between glass and language the ideological uses of glass and the material's associations with modernity while illuminating the work of Lomonosov Dostoevsky Zamyatin and Eisenstein among others In particular Chadaga explores the prominent role of glass in the discourse around Russia's contentious relationship with the West by turns admiring and antagonistic as the nation crafted a vision for its own future Chadaga returns throughout to the spectacular aspect of glass and shows how both the tendentious capacity and the playfulness of this material have shaped Russian culture

Designing the Department Store Emily M. Orr, 2019-11-28 The book builds an original argument for the department store as a significant site of design production and therefore offers an alternative interpretation to the mainstream focus on consumption within retail history Emily M Orr presents a fresh perspective on the rise of modern urban consumer culture of which the department store was a key feature By investigating the production processes of display as well as fascinating information about display making's tools and technologies the skills of the displayman and the meaning and context of design decisions which shaped the final visual effect are revealed In addition the book identifies and isolates display as a distinct moment in the life of the commodity and understands it as an influential channel of mediation in the shopping experience The assembly and interpretation of a diverse range of previously unexplored primary resources and archives yields fascinating new evidence showing how display achieved an agency which transformed everyday objects into commodities and made consumers out of passersby

Shopping for Pleasure Erika Rappaport, 2021-06-08 In Shopping for Pleasure Erika Rappaport reconstructs London's Victorian and Edwardian West End as an entertainment and retail center In this neighborhood of stately homes royal palaces and spacious parks and squares a dramatic transformation unfolded that ultimately changed the meaning of femininity and the lives of women shaping their experience of modernity Rappaport illuminates the various forces of the period that encouraged and discouraged women's enjoyment of public life and particularly shows how shopping came to be seen as the quintessential leisure activity for middle and upper class women Through extensive histories of department stores women's magazines clubs teashops restaurants and the theater as interwoven sites of consumption Shopping for Pleasure uncovers how a new female urban culture emerged before and after the turn of the twentieth century Moving beyond the question of whether shopping promoted or limited women's freedom the author draws on diverse sources to explore how business practices legal decisions and cultural changes affected women in the market In particular she focuses on how and why stores presented themselves as pleasurable secure places for the urban woman in some cases defining themselves as instrumental to civic improvement and women's emancipation Rappaport also considers such influences as merchandizing strategies credit policies changes in public transportation feminism and the financial balance of power within the home Shopping for Pleasure is thus both a social and cultural history of the West End but on a broader scale it reveals the essential interplay between the rise of consumer society the birth of modern femininity and the making of contemporary London
