Short History Of Melbourne Architecture:

A Short History of Melbourne Architecture Philip Goad, Katrina Place, 2002-01-01 A short history of Melbourne architecture a guide to Melbourne architecture Rise And Fall Of Marvellous Melbourne Graeme Davison, 2014-02-26 In the 1880s a generation after the gold rushes Melbourne rose to become Australia's most populous modern and self consciously metropolitan city Its offices and warehouses leapt skyward its suburbs sprawled and the tentacles of its commerce reached across the continent In the 1890s the housing boom burst depression struck and Melbourne's population and influence declined In this classic work of Australian social history Graeme Davison explores the economic political social and cultural consequences of the meteoric rise and calamitous fall of the city dubbed Marvellous Melbourne Twenty six years after this much acclaimed book was first published Davison offers a reappraisal of his original ideas in a new preface and epilogue The book has also been enhanced by a series of picture essays exploring the response of contemporary artists and photographers to the transformation of city and suburbs

Architecture and Urbanism in the British Empire G. A. Bremner, 2016-10-13 Throughout today's postcolonial world buildings monuments parks streets avenues entire cities even remain as witness to Britain's once impressive if troubled imperial past These structures are a conspicuous and near inescapable reminder of that past and therefore the built heritage of Britain's former colonial empire is a fundamental part of how we negotiate our postcolonial identities often lying at the heart of social tension and debate over how that identity is best represented This volume provides an overview of the architectural and urban transformations that took place across the British Empire between the seventeenth and mid twentieth centuries Although much research has been carried out on architecture and urban planning in Britain's empire in recent decades no single comprehensive reference source exists The essays compiled here remedy this deficiency With its extensive chronological and regional coverage by leading scholars in the field this volume will quickly become a seminal text for those who study teach and research the relationship between empire and the built environment in the British context It provides an up to date account of past and current historiographical approaches toward the study of British imperial and colonial architecture and urbanism and will prove equally useful to those who study architecture and urbanism in other European imperial and transnational contexts The volume is divided in two main sections The first section deals with overarching thematic issues including building typologies major genres and periods of activity networks of expertise and the transmission of ideas the intersection between planning and politics as well as the architectural impact of empire on Britain itself The second section builds on the first by discussing these themes in relation to specific geographical regions teasing out the variations and continuities observable in context both practical and theoretical

Victorian Perceptions of Renaissance Architecture Katherine Wheeler, 2017-07-05 In the mid 1880s The Builder an influential British architectural journal published an article characterizing Renaissance architecture as a corrupt bastardization of the classical architecture of Greece and Rome By the turn of the century however the same journal praised the Renaissance architect Filippo Brunelleschi as the Christopher Columbus of modern architecture Victorian Perceptions of Renaissance Architecture 1850 1914 examines these conflicting characterizations and reveals how the writing of architectural history was intimately tied to the rise of the professional architect and the formalization of architectural education in late nineteenth century Britain Drawing on a broad range of evidence including literary texts professional journals university curricula and census records Victorian Perceptions reframes works by seminal authors such as John Ruskin Walter Pater John Addington Symonds and Geoffrey Scott alongside those by architect authors such as William J Anderson and Reginald Blomfield within contemporary architectural debates Relevant for architectural historians as well as literary scholars and those in Victorian studies Victorian Perceptions reassesses the history of Renaissance architecture within the formation of a modern British architectural profession The Architecture of Victorian Sydney

Buildings in Wood Will Pryce,2005 From the very beginning of architecture long before the invention of masonry buildings were constructed of wood With its unique qualities of form color and structure wood is the most reliable building material at the core of architecture This epic history is the first comprehensive survey of the use of wood in architecture throughout the ages The book is organized both chronologically and geographically It surveys works from the oldest heritage of wooden buildings Kyoto s Buddhist temples and Scandinavia s pagan inspired stave churches to the latest cutting edge designs proving that wood is on the rise as the preferred material in these ecologically conscious times No region of the world with a native tradition of building with wood is left out In North America the book demonstrates the European origins of New England s clapboards and saltboxes and later shows how such sophisticated California architects as Greene Greene or Bernard Maybeck could blend age old traditions of the Far East and Switzerland with a Pacific Coast sense of novelty and whimsy Spectacular and diverse photographs highlight the architectural masterpieces of wooden architecture throughout the world illustrating that wood is a building material with a deep history as well as a vibrant future Bibliographic Guide to Art and Architecture New York Public Library. Art and Architecture Division,1980 The British Architect ,1903

Australia Harry Margalit,2019-11-15 This book tells the story of the architects and buildings that have defined Australia's architectural culture since the founding of the modern nation through Federation in 1901 That year marked the beginning of a search for better city forms and buildings to accommodate the changing realities of Australian life and to express an emerging distinctive and eventually confident Australian identity While Sydney and Melbourne were the settings for many of the major buildings all states and territories developed architectural traditions based on distinctive histories and climates Harry Margalit explores the flowering of these many architectural variants from the bid to create a model city in Canberra through the stylistic battles that opened a space for modernism to the idealism of postwar reconstruction and beyond to the new millennium Australia reveals a vibrant and influential culture of the built environment at its best when it matches civic idealism with the sensuality of a country of stunning light and landscapes Australian national bibliography ,1961

Heritage Politics in Adelaide Sharon Mosler, Sharon Ann Mosler,2011 In the 1970s the Australian Commonwealth Government and three States Victoria 1974 New South Wales 1977 and South Australia 1978 passed legislation to protect the built heritage within their jurisdictions The legislation was primarily a response to two factors a large number of public protests against the demolition of historic buildings in all Australian states by the 1970s and the influence of the UNESCO World Heritage Convention which the Whitlam Government 1972-75 embraced enthusiastically The other states with governments that were more influenced by development interests were slow to follow the federal lead In this study Sharon Mosler examines heritage issues and conflicts in Adelaide from enactment of the first South Australian Heritage Act in 1978 to its successor in 1993 and also analyses issues leading from that period into the twenty first century State legislation introduced by the Labor government of Premier Mike Rann 2002 present has affected the built environment significantly since this book began The Rann government has given the built heritage a low priority in its strategic plan compared to population growth while the Adelaide City Council has become more balanced in the past decade although the council too has focussed on increasing Adelaide's population The result has been more high rise buildings at the expense of heritage conservation and historic precincts Archibald Liversidge, FRS Roy M. MacLeod,2009 When Archibald Liversidge first arrived at Sydney University in 1872 as reader in Geology and Assistant in the Laboratory he had about ten students and two rooms in the main building In 1874 he became professor of geology and mineralogy and by 1879 he had persuaded the senate to open a faculty of science He became its first dean in 1882 In 1880 he visited Europe as a trustee of the Australian Museum and his report helped to establish the Industrial Technological and Sanitary Museum which formed the basis of the present Powerhouse Museum's collection Liversidge also played a major role in the setting up of the Australasian Association for the Advancement of Science which held its first congress in 1888 For anyone interested in Archibald Liversidge his contribution to crystallography mineral chemistry chemical geology strategic minerals policy and a wider field of colonial science Journal of the Royal Institute of British Architects Royal Institute of British Architects,1918 The Architecture of Neil Clerehan Harriet Edquist,2009 Architectural Encounters in Asia Pacific Amanda Achmadi,Paul Walker,Soon-Tzu Speechley,2024-09-19 Architectural Encounters in Asia Pacific explores the architecture of colonial trade and industry revealing a complex network of transnational connections across the built heritage of the world s most dispersed and culturally diverse region A wide ranging collection of case studies uncover these forgotten connections drawing together stories of migratory architects imperial commodities and indentured labour From Iran to Tasmania Japan to Java and Imperial China to the Pacific Islands the chapters reveal how remnants of colonial trade and industry shed light on the many multi faceted mobilities of the imperial age and their enduring legacy in the postcolonial built environments of Australasia the Pacific Southeast Asia and beyond The chapters also reveal deep strands of cultural influences and material imprints long neglected by national histories of architecture and showcase new methodologies to analyse the interconnectivities and bordering practices which are shaping our experiences of the 21st century With almost every chapter arising from new archival sources this richly interdisciplinary volume brings together the work of architectural historians geographers and heritage practitioners to provide a new understanding of the rich and contested history of this region

Housing Economics Geoffrey Meen,Kenneth Gibb,Chris Leishman,Christian Nygaard,2016-04-29 The world has still to emerge fully from the housing triggered Global Financial Crisis but housing crises are not new The history of housing shows long run social progress littered with major disasters nevertheless the progress is often forgotten whilst the difficulties hit the headlines Housing Economics provides a long term economic perspective on macro and urban housing issues from the Victorian era onwards A historical perspective sheds light on modern problems and the constraints on what can be achieved it concentrates on the key policy issues of housing supply affordability tenure the distribution of migrant communities mortgage markets and household mobility Local case studies are interwoven with city wide aggregate analysis Three sets of issues are addressed the underlying reasons for the initial establishment of residential neighbourhoods the processes that generate growth decline and patterns of integration segregation and the impact of historical development on current problems and the implications for policy Practiceopolis: Stories from the Architectural Profession Yasser Megahed,2020-07-30 This is a graphic novel about the contemporary architectural profession in which it acts as the protagonist in the form of an imaginary city called Practiceopolis The novel narrates quasi realistic stories that exaggerate the architectural everyday and the tacit in order to make them prominent and tangible They depict and dramatise the value conflicts between the different cultures of practising architecture and between the architectural profession and other members of the building industry as political conflicts around the future of Practiceopolis The book uses the metaphorical world of Practiceopolis to provoke big questions about everyday routines in the profession that practitioners may take for granted and to examine different ideologies at work among architects and other members of the construction industry The novel ends in the tradition of dystopian worlds common in a certain strand of graphic novels By vividly illustrating and narrating the critical issues he interrogates the author has created a world which any architect student or professional will both instantly recognise and simultaneously reject provoking the reader to challenge themselves and the profession at large
