Imperial Rule and the Politics of Nationalism Adria K. Lawrence, 2013-09-16 During the first half of the twentieth century movements seeking political equality emerged in France s overseas territories Within twenty years they were replaced by movements for national independence in the majority of French colonies protectorates and mandates In this pathbreaking study of the decolonization era Adria Lawrence asks why elites in French colonies shifted from demands for egalitarian and democratic reforms to calls for independent statehood and why mass mobilization for independence emerged where and when it did Lawrence shows that nationalist discourses became dominant as a consequence of the failure of the reform agenda Where political rights were granted colonial subjects opted for further integration and reform Contrary to conventional accounts nationalism was not the only or even the primary form of anti colonialism Lawrence shows further that mass nationalist protest occurred only when and where French authority was disrupted Imperial crises were the cause not the result of mass protest Global

Darcie Fontaine, 2016-06-20 Decolonizing Christianity traces the dramatic transformation of Christianity from its position as the moral foundation of European imperialism to its role as a radical voice of political and social change in the era of decolonization As Christians renegotiated their place in the emerging Third World they confronted the consequences of racism and violence that Christianity had reinforced in European colonies This book tells the story of Christians in Algeria who undertook a mission to decolonize the Church and ensure the future of Christianity in postcolonial Algeria But it also recovers the personal aspects of decolonization as many of these Christians were arrested and tortured by the French for their support of Algerian independence The consequences of these actions were immense as the theological and social engagement of Christians in Algeria then influenced the groundbreaking reforms developing within global Christianity in the 1960s

Nation, Society and the State Dr. Abraham Weizfeld, 2012-03-09 This work treats the European political philosophy that has engendered the Nation State concept considered to be the logical evolution of human history as a linear periodization into the Modern State This Modern State concept is treated as the end of history in liberal democratic theory in spite of it remaining a European phenomenon Where it has been imposed beyond the European political culture it has provoked a plague of civil wars and occupations such as in Palestine In Europe itself it has also resulted in such features as the Spanish Inquisition the latter day Spanish civil war and the fascist dictatorship that followed as well as the Nazi regime and its Holocaust in alliance with the various fascist allies seeking their own Nation State Various attempts have followed in Europe itself to overcome the Nation State itself by means of the European Union which sought to unite the Nation States with a federated effort to bring some stability to the economy and life of the region in light of the disastrous wars of the twentieth century The contradictions of the Nation State and Federalism become ever more apparent as the EU now descends into economic chaos This sub title invites a comparison and a contrast between the Jewish political culture and the Zionist movement One may consider political culture as encompassing Civil Society history religious theology and law comprising a collective consciousness this historical heritage forms a national identity which is currently oriented into nationalism by the State The endurance of national identity apart from the State and with the extinction of the State is projected as the basis of an independent Civil Society
