National Security and the General Staff Otto Lauren Nelson, 1946 National Security Organization United States. Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government (1947-1949). Committee on the National Security Organization, 1949 National Security Israel Tal, 2000-04-30 A comprehensive account of Israel's doctrine of national security this study examines to what degree security theories have proven valid and suggests an updated security doctrine for the next century Beginning with the establishment of the state of Israel in 1948 Israeli defense planners have faced a daunting task General Tal describes the history of the Israel Arab wars from the War of Independence onward and presents a security theory specific to Israel from which the fighting doctrines of the Israeli military derive He also to categorizes the levels of security various nations enjoy as a result of their differing geo political situations their power and the conflicts of interests that they face with their neighbors This volume clarifies topics in the area of national security the art of war principles of war and lessons learned from past conflicts Tal concludes that previous security theory proved valid because it was based upon a decision to allocate the great portion of available resources both intellectual and material to secure national defense However this theory is no longer valid due to political changes in the Middle East and the development of modern military technologies He asserts a new approach that rests upon mutual strategic deterrence throughout the region National Security Organization Ferdinand Eberstadt, 1949 National Security Issues, 1986

lead to the Armed Forces being able to undertake those military tasks The Committee has serious concerns over the realisation of what is called Future Force 2020 the Government s intended shape of the Armed Forces from 2020 particularly as the provision of the necessary resources is only a Government aspiration not Government policy The MoD must reform and ensure substantially improved transparency and control over its finance and budgetary practices When committing to undertake new operations the Government should state from the outset where that operation fits in the Defence Planning Assumptions and which of the military tasks it is meeting The Committee is concerned that the Government seems to have postponed the sensible aspiration of bringing commitments and resources into line in that it has taken on the new commitment of Libya while reducing the resources available to MoD

Straits of Taiwan continues to be one of the most dangerous confrontations in Asia. The technical superiority of the Taiwanese forces has been a major factor in maintaining balance, but as mainland China's armed forces modernize, Taiwan's advantages are being eroded. In response, Taiwan has recently undertaken a major reform of its armed forces. Bringing together a wide range of experts including people who are involved in defence policy making in Taiwan, this book presents a comprehensive analysis of these reforms and assesses their likely effectiveness. Chapters are devoted to issues including the Chinese threat, the domestic context of reform, the role of the United States and specific defence issues, making the book an invaluable guide to the changes undertaken and underway within Taiwan's strategic environment. With a foreword by Taiwanese President Chen Shui-bian, Taiwan's Defense Reform will be of interest to policy makers and academics working in this vital strategic area.
