National Competitiveness and Economic Growth Timo J. Hämmäläinen, 2003 The current paradigm shift in the world economy is challenging the traditional competitiveness and growth theories with their few explanatory variables This book offers a more holistic framework to synthesise the key findings of the various branches of competitiveness and growth research The author illustrates this framework with a new long wave theory of socio economic development This theory emphasises the competitiveness and growth benefits of rapid structural adjustment in the rapidly changing technoeconomic environment Based on thorough analysis the author argues that both markets and governments have become less efficient due to the current transformation of the world economy His empirical data from 22 OECD countries in the 1980s and 1990s illustrates that efficiency and growth oriented governments have significantly contributed to their countries economic success National Competitiveness and Economic Growth will furnish its readers with a better understanding of the interdependencies of many important but seemingly unrelated aspects of modern economies and societies for example the dynamics of business and technology and cultural and institutional change It will appeal to economists business professionals and policymakers with a special interest in the competitiveness and growth of firms and national economies as well as the long term development of socio economic systems

The Societal Foundations of National Competitiveness Michael J. Mazarr, 2022-06-21 Nations rise and fall succeed or fail in rivalries and enjoy stability or descend into chaos because of a complex web of factors that affect competitive advantage One critical component is the package of essential social characteristics of a nation The ultimate story of the Cold War is that the United States was simply a more competitive society than the Soviet Union more energetic more vibrant more innovative more productive more legitimate Through analysis of comparative studies of historical eras and trends historical case studies and the findings of issue specific empirical research the report explores how seven characteristics of a society determine its competitive standing and distinguish dynamic and competitively successful nations If the history surveyed in this report provides an accurate guide to the future the fate of the United States in today's rivalries will not be determined solely or even in significant degree by the numbers of its weapons or amounts of defense spending or how many proxy wars it wins but by the basic characteristics of its society The author applies the seven leading characteristics that affect national standing to the United States to create a snapshot of where the country stands That application provides some reason for optimism The United States continues to reflect many of these characteristics and the overall synergistic engine more than any other large country in the world However multiple trends are working to weaken traditional U S advantages Several such as the corruption of the national information space pose acute risks to the long term dynamism and competitiveness of the nation raising the worrying prospect that the United States has begun to display classic patterns of a major power on the far side of its dynamic and vital curve together papers written by representatives from UN agencies and academics who take a fresh look at the expanding role of transnational corporations and foreign direct investment in the world economy These papers deal with such issues as the nature and extent of globalisation the shifting relations between transnational corporations and national economies and the opportunities and obstacles facing policy makers in the rapidly changing global economy Competition Policy in the Global Economy William S. Comanor, Akira Goto, Leonard Waverman, 2005-10-26 International agreements on competition law and policy are notoriously difficult to implement This collection of essays examines the complexities involved when the issues of international co ordination and harmonization of competition law and policy are considered Cooperation and Competition in the Global Economy Antonio Furino, 1988 Regional Competitiveness Ron Martin, Michael Kitson, Peter Tyler, 2012-11-12 There is now a wide spread interest in regions as a key focus in the organization and governance of economic growth and wealth creation This important book considers the factors that influence and shape the competitive performance of regions This is not just an issue of academic interest and debate but also of increasing policy deliberation and action However as the readings in this book make clear the very idea of regional competitiveness is itself complex and contentious Many academics and policy makers have used the concept without fully considering what is meant by the term and how it can be measured Policy formulation has tended to rush ahead of understanding and analysis and the purpose of this book is to close this important gap in understanding This book was previously published as a special issue of Regional Studies The Influence of National Competition Policy on the International Competitiveness of Nations Andreas Mitschke, 2008-05-05 Does every open economy profit from economic globalization Why do some countries profit more than others What role does national economic policy play with regard to a nation s potential to profit from economic globalization Is there a need for an international harmonization of economic policy in order to protect global competition and to prevent international conflicts or to the contrary is national economic policy a crucial and indispensable instrument for fostering the international competitiveness of an economy These questions were the starting point for a research project of the department of Economics at the University of Nuremberg in 2003 The intention was to take a fresh look at the various harmonization claims which have been raised both in economic literature and by politicians As politicians in general simultaneously also strive for enhancing the international competitiveness of their nation the project aimed at the relation between harmonization claims on the one hand and the competitiveness debate on the other The decision to set the focus of this project on the role of competition policy has been triggered against the background of the ongoing debate on international competition rules In October 2001 the International Competition Network ICN has been established in New York Furthermore the Doha Ministerial Declaration of November 2001 envisaged WTO negotiations on international competition rules National Economic Strategies for a Global Economy United States.
