National Strategy For Homeland Security:

National Strategy for Homeland Security United States. Office of Homeland Security, 2002      National Strategy for Homeland Security, 2002 This document is the first National Strategy for Homeland Security The purpose of the Strategy is to mobilize and organize our      National Strategy for Homeland Security, 2002 Emergency preparedness This document is the first National Strategy for Homeland Security The purpose of the Strategy is to mobilize and organize our Nation to secure the U S homeland from terrorist attacks This is an exceedingly complex mission that requires coordinated and focused effort from our entire society the federal government state and local governments the private sector and the American people People and organizations all across the United States have taken many steps to improve our security since the September 11 attacks but a great deal of work remains The National Strategy for Homeland Security will help to prepare our Nation for the work ahead in several ways It provides direction to the federal government departments and agencies that have a role in homeland security It suggests steps that state and local governments private companies and organizations and individual Americans can take to improve our security and offers incentives for them to do so It recommends certain actions to the Congress In this way the Strategy provides a framework for the contributions that we all can make to secure our homeland The National Strategy for Homeland Security is the beginning of what will be a long struggle to protect our Nation It establishes a foundation upon which to organize our efforts and provides initial guidance to prioritize the work ahead The Strategy will be adjusted and amended over time We must be prepared to adapt as our enemies in the war on terrorism alter their means of attack      National Strategy for Homeland Security Executive Office of the United States, Homeland Council, 2012-12-11 America is at war with terrorist enemies who are intent on attacking our Homeland and destroying our way of life The lives and livelihoods of the American people also remain at risk from natural catastrophes including naturally occurring infectious diseases and hazards such as hurricanes and earthquakes and man made accidents Our National Strategy for Homeland Security recognizes that while we must continue to focus on the persistent and evolving terrorist threat we also must address the full range of potential catastrophic events including man made and natural disasters due to their implications for homeland security The purpose of our Strategy is to guide organize and unify our Nation s homeland security efforts It provides a common framework by which our entire Nation should focus its efforts on the following four goals Prevent and disrupt terrorist attacks Protect the American people our critical infrastructure and key resources Respond to and recover from incidents that do occur and Continue to strengthen the foundation to ensure our long term success While the first three goals help to organize our national efforts the last goal entails creating and transforming our homeland security principles systems structures and institutions This includes applying a comprehensive approach to risk management building a culture of preparedness developing a comprehensive Homeland Security Management System improving incident management better utilizing science and technology and leveraging all instruments of national power and influence

Homeland security requires a truly national effort with shared goals and responsibilities for protecting and defending the Homeland Our Strategy leverages the unique strengths and capabilities of all levels of government the private and non profit sectors communities and individual citizens Mindful that many of the threats we face do not recognize geographic boundaries we also will continue to work closely with our international partners throughout the world This updated Strategy which builds directly from the first National Strategy for Homeland Security issued in July 2002 reflects our increased understanding of the terrorist threats confronting the United States today incorporates lessons learned from exercises and real world catastrophes including Hurricane Katrina and proposes new initiatives and approaches that will enable the Nation to achieve our homeland security objectives This Strategy also complements both the National Security Strategy issued in March 2006 and the National Strategy for Combating Terrorism issued in September 2006 Our first and most solemn obligation is to protect the American people The National Strategy for Homeland Security will guide our Nation as we honor this commitment and achieve a more secure Homeland that sustains our way of life as a free prosperous and welcoming America National Strategy for Homeland Security , National Strategy for Homeland Security George W. Bush,2009-04 Since the turn of the millennium our Nation has endured history s deadliest attack of international terrorism and the most destructive natural disaster to strike American soil In the face of these challenges America has responded courageously with focus and clarity of purpose and today we are safer stronger and better prepared to address the full range of catastrophic events including man made accidents and natural disasters that threaten us Our work however is far from over We remain resolute in our commitment to prevent and disrupt terrorist attacks in the Homeland protect the American people and the Nation s critical infrastructure and key resources and effectively respond to and recover from those incidents that do occur Working together our Nation will secure the Homeland in order to sustain our way of life now and for generations to come Homeland Security Norman J. House. Committee on Government Reform. Subcommittee on National Security, Emerging Threats, and International Relations,2005 The National Strategy for Homeland Security sets forth a plan to improve homeland security through the cooperation of federal state local and private sector organizations on an array of functions These functions are organized into the six distinct critical mission areas of 1 intelligence and warning 2 border and transportation security 3 domestic counterterrorism 4 protecting critical infrastructures and key assets 5 defending against catastrophic threats and 6 emergency preparedness and response Within each of these mission areas the strategy identifies major initiatives to be addressed In all the strategy cites 43 initiatives across the six mission areas      A Practical Introduction to Homeland Security and Emergency Management Bruce Oliver Newsome,Jack A. Jarmon,2015-09-24 A Practical Introduction to Homeland Security and Emergency Management From Home to Abroad serves as an extremely versatile useful and timely addition to the homeland security field Jason Levy Virginia Commonwealth University A Practical Introduction to Homeland Security and Emergency Management From Home to Abroad offers a comprehensive overview of the homeland security field examining topics such as counter terrorism border and infrastructure security and emergency management Authors Bruce Newsome and Jack Jarmon take a holistic look at the issues and risks their solutions controls and countermeasures and their political and policy implications They also demonstrate through cases and vignettes how various authorities policymakers and practitioners seek to improve homeland security The authors evaluate the current practices and policies of homeland security and emergency management and provide readers with the analytical framework and skills necessary to improve these practices and policies Homeland Security Patricia A. Dalton, 2003-07 This is a review of governmentwide changes and challenges prevalent in the missions and activities of agencies involved in homeland security including the coordination and collaboration required to meet overall goals and needs and government's efforts in planning and implementing strategic transitional and human capital activities designed to reorganize and strengthen homeland security The federal government's response on homeland security issues is still evolving The federal government's efforts to improve homeland security will require a results oriented approach to ensure mission accountability and sustainability over time Charts and tables National Strategy for Information Sharing: Successes and Challenges in Improving Terrorism-Related Information Sharing, 2007 Our success in preventing future terrorist attacks depends upon our ability to gather analyze and share information and intelligence regarding those who want to attack us the tactics that they use and the targets that they intend to attack Improving information sharing in the post September 11 world requires an environment that supports the sharing of information across all levels of government disciplines and security domains While this Strategy describes the vision that has guided the Administration for the past six years it also sets forth our plan to build upon progress and establish a more integrated information sharing capability to ensure that those who need information to protect our Nation from terrorism will receive it and those who have that information will share it We will improve interagency information sharing at the Federal level while building information sharing bridges between the Federal Government and our non Federal partners The National Strategy for Information Sharing takes its lead from the President's National Security Strategy which provides the broad vision and goals for confronting the national security challenges of the 21st century In addition it is closely aligned with the National Strategy for Combating Terrorism and the National Strategy for Homeland Security This Strategy also supports and supplements the National Implementation Plan which is the foundational document guiding the efforts of the Directorate of Strategic Operational Planning in the National Counterterrorism Center Finally this Strategy aligns with the National Intelligence Strategy published at Presidential direction by the Director of National Intelligence in October 2005 An information sharing framework is recognized as a critical component of intelligence reform in the National Intelligence Strategy Combating terrorism interagency framework and agency programs to address the overseas threat. ,
