The Nation Made Real offers an original interpretation of the role of visual art in the making of nations in Western Europe

The Aesthetics of Reaction Neil McWilliam, 2021 A study that explores the complex relationship between nationalism traditionalism and the critique of modern culture in France in the decades preceding the First World War Coinciding with the explosive challenge to established forms and subject matter in the visual arts promoted by avant garde circles in Paris conservatives attempted to reassert values ostensibly rooted in the character and cultural genealogy of the French nation This anti modernist reaction was promoted by nationalist critics and political theorists who sought to salvage French culture as part of a broader project that challenged liberal democratic institutions put in place under the Third Republic Neil McWilliam s study analyses the various fronts on which this attempted cultural counter revolution was pursued from art production and art criticism to the ways in which different histories produced during the period attempted to define what was distinctively French about the nation s art from the middle ages to the modern period The book offers the first comprehensive overview of nationalism s impact on pre war French art which it complements with synthetic studies of three figures affected by these political and artistic debates the painters Maurice Denis Catholic revival and Emile Bernard Renaissance française as well as the critic Joachim Gasquet Action française In such a way the book goes beyond previous accounts to highlight contradictions and complexities in pre war artistic discourse that enrich our understanding of the ideological stakes involved in clashes over modernity tradition and identity in pre war France Nationalism and French

Visual Culture, 1870-1914 June Ellen Hargrove, Neil McWilliam, Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts (U.S.), 2005
Between its defeat in the Franco Prussian War and the outbreak of World War I France experienced a tremendous rise in populist nationalism the aftershocks of which can still be felt today In examining the forces that shaped the arts of this period from the academy to the avant garde and from the museum to public spaces this volume explores the relationship between the arts and political conflict and the impact of nationalism during the early modern period in France Fifteen distinguished contributors provide a comprehensive overview of a range of artistic media over five decades Generously illustrated with works by artists including Georges Braque Maurice Denis Edouard Manet and Pierre Puvis de Chavannes as well as with images from the popular press the book addresses such topics as how artists memorialized the Franco Prussian War and connections between nationalism and artistic styles Collectively the essays represent a new approach in treating nationalism as a common thread among political and philosophical movements generally seen in terms of their ideological differences

Nationalism and Popular Culture Tim Nieguth, 2020-01-27 How do nations come to shape our collective imagination so profoundly This book argues that the power of national identity and national belonging stems in part from the ways in which nationalism is embedded in popular culture Comprised of chapters covering a wide range of cases from both the Global North and Global South including Argentina Australia Canada Europe Israel Pakistan and the United States the text unpacks the connections between nationalism and film television music and other facets of everyday culture In doing so it demonstrates that popular culture can help us understand why and how nationhood has become so deeply entrenched in modern society This book will be of interest to scholars of political science nationalism sociology history media studies and cultural studies

Arts and a Nation Suzanne Pourchier-Plasseraud,2015-09-03 Focusing on Latvia between 1905 and 1940 Suzanne Pourchier Plasseraud has chosen a nation without an ancient state history of its own to illustrate the evolution of the concept of national identity into a claim for independence with the help of art and artists

The Art Market in Rome in the Eighteenth Century Paolo Coen,2018-11-05 Recent interest in the economic aspects of the history of art have taken traditional studies into new areas of enquiry Going well beyond provenances or prices of individual objects our understanding of the arts has been advanced by research into the demands intermediaries and clients in the market Eighteenth century Rome offers a privileged view of such activities given the continuity of remarkable investments by the local ruling class combined with the decisive impact of external agents largely linked to the Grand Tour This book the result of collaboration between international specialists brings back into the spotlight protagonists facts and dynamics that have remained unexplored for many years

Can Art History be Made Global? Monica Juneja,2023-03-20 The book responds to the challenge of the global turn in the humanities from the perspective of art history A global art history it argues need not follow the logic of economic globalization nor seek to bring the entire world into its fold Instead it draws on a theory of transculturation to explore key moments of an art history that can no longer be approached through a facile globalism How can art historical analysis theorize relationships of connectivity that have characterized cultures and regions across distances How can it meaningfully handle issues of commensurability or its absence among cultures By shifting the focus of enquiry to South Asia the five meditations that make up this book seek to translate intellectual insights of experiences beyond Euro America into globally intelligible analyses

Picturing Evolution and Extinction Fae Brauer, 2015-10-05 With the increasing loss of biological diversity in this Sixth Age of Mass Extinction it is timely to show that devolutionary paranoia is not new but rather stretches back to the time of Charles Darwin It is also an opportune moment to show how human driven extinction as designated by the term Anthropocene has long been acknowledged The halcyon days of European industrial progress colonial expansion and scientific revolution trumpeted from the Great Exhibition of 1851 until the Dresden International Hygiene Exhibition of 1930 were constantly marred by fears of rampant degeneration depopulation national decline environmental devastation and racial extinction This is demonstrated by the discourses of catastrophism charted in this book that percolated across Europe in response to the theories of Darwin and Jean Baptiste Lamarck as well as Marcellin Berthelot Camille Flammarion Ernst Haeckel Louis Landouzy Félix Le Dantec Cesare Lombroso Thomas Huxley Bernard Augustin Morel Louis Pasteur Elisée Reclus Rudolf Steiner and Wilhelm Wundt among others This book presents pioneering explorations of the interrelationship between these discourses and modern visual cultures and the ways in which the picturing of evolution and extinction by artists as diverse as Roger Broders Albert Besnard Fernand Cormon Hélène Dufau mile Gall František Kupka Pablo Picasso Charles Mani y Roig Sophie Taeuber and Vasilii Vatagin betrayed anxieties subliminally festering over degeneration alongside latent hopes of regeneration Following Darwin's concept of evolution as Janus faced the dialectical interplay of evolution and extinction and degeneration and regeneration is explored in modern visual cultures in Australia America Britain France Germany Russia Spain and Switzerland at significant spatio temporal junctures between 1860 and 1930 By unravelling the picturing of the dread of alcoholism cholera dysentery tuberculosis typhoid and rabies alongside phobias of animalism criminality hysteria impotency and ecological disaster each chapter makes an original contribution to this new field of scholarship By locating these discourses and visual cultures within the golden age of Neo Lamarckism they also reveal how regeneration was pictured as the Janus face of degeneration able to facilitate evolution through the inheritance of beneficial characteristics in propitious environments In striking such an uplifting note amidst the dissonant cacophony of catastrophism this book reveals why the art and science of Transformism proved so appealing in France as elsewhere and why visual cultures of regeneration became as dominant in the twentieth century as the picturing of degeneration had been in the nineteenth century It also illuminates the paradoxical inversion that occurred in the twentieth century when devolution became equivalent to evolution for many

Modernists Hence whilst this book opens with the picturing of indigenous people in Australia and North America as doomed races by the first publication of Darwin's On The Origin of Species it closes with the quest by 1930 for a regenerative sun tan as dark as the skin of those indigenous people

The Italian Risorgimento Lucy Riall, Professor of History Lucy Riall, 2002-11 The Risorgimento was a turbulent and decisive period in the history of Italy Lucy Riall's engaging account is the first book of its kind on the upheavals of the years between 1815 and 1860 when a series of crises destabilised the states of Restoration Italy and led to the creation of a troubled nation state in 1860 Comprehensive yet original this textbook Examines the social history of nineteenth century Italy and the social context of political action Offers a critical overview of the historiography of the topic Takes account of the most recent literature especially literature in Italian not normally accessible to students Adopts a broad thematic approach Places the Italian experience in a European context

"French Sculpture Following the Franco-Prussian War, 1870-80" Michael Dorsch, 2017-07-05 French Sculpture Following the Franco Prussian War 1870-80 investigates the role played by the trope of the strong woman fallen man in re-establishing morale among the French people following the Franco Prussian War The study explores how certain French sculptors including Falgui Mercier Barrias and Rodin presented this recent history of defeat in commemorative monuments that increasingly dominated public space across France during the final decades of the nineteenth century Though it focuses on French nationalism and the commemoration of war or as is the case with the French following the Franco Prussian War the commemoration of defeat this volume also examines shifts in gender roles in the latter half of the nineteenth century and the impact of military defeat on relations between the sexes The book probes the aesthetic discourse of the period concerning the merits of traditional allegorical sculpture versus new fangled realist sculpture in depicting modern life Drawing on extensive archival research Michael Dorsch gives a voice to the sculptures he discusses restoring these often ignored works to their proper place in history

Japanese Visual Culture Mark W. MacWilliams, 2014-12-18 Born of Japan's cultural encounter with Western entertainment media manga comic books or graphic novels and anime animated films are two of the most universally recognized forms of contemporary mass culture Because they tell stories through visual imagery they vault over language barriers Well suited to electronic transmission and distributed by Japan's globalized culture industry they have become a powerful force in both the mediascape and the marketplace This volume brings together an international group of scholars from many specialties to probe the richness and subtleties of these deceptively simple cultural forms The contributors explore the historical cultural sociological and religious dimensions of manga and anime and examine specific sub genres artists and stylistics The book also addresses such topics as spirituality the use of visual culture by Japanese new religious movements Japanese Goth nostalgia and Japanese pop cute kawaii subculture and comics for girls and more With illustrations throughout it is a rich source for all scholars and fans of manga and anime as well as students of contemporary mass culture or Japanese culture and civilization

The Artistic Foundations of Nations and Citizens Ann Ward, 2021-09-28

This book examines politics through the lens of art and literature. Through discussion on great works of visual art, literature, and cultural representations of political thought in the medieval, early modern, and American eras, it explores the relevance of the nation state to human freedom and flourishing as well as the concept of citizenship and statesmanship that it implies in contrast to that of the global community. The essays in this volume focus on shifting notions of various core political concepts like citizenship, republicanism, and nationalism from antiquity to the present day to provide a systematic understanding of their evolving histories through Western Art and literature. It highlights works such as the Bayeux Tapestry, Shakespeare's Henry V, Henry VI, and A Midsummer Night's Dream, Twain's Joan of Arc, and Hermann's Nichts als Gespenster among several other canonical works of political interest. Further, it questions if we should now look beyond the nation state to some form of transnational global community to pursue the human freedom desired by progressives or look at smaller forms of community resembling the polis to pursue the friendship and nobility valued by the ancients. The volume will be invaluable to students and teachers of political science, especially political theory and philosophy, visual arts, and world literature.

Art in Zion
Dalia Manor, 2004-12-03. Art in Zion deals with the link between art and national ideology and specifically between the artistic activity that emerged in Jewish Palestine in the first decades of the twentieth century and the Zionist movement. In order to examine the development of national art in Jewish Palestine, the book focuses on direct and indirect expressions of Zionist ideology in the artistic activity in the yishuv, the Jewish community in Palestine. In particular, the book explores two major phases in the early development of Jewish art in Palestine: the activity of the Bezalel School of Art and Crafts and the emergence during the 1920s of a group of artists known as the Modernists.
