Kamusella, 2008-12-16 This work focuses on the ideological intertwining between Czech Magyar Polish and Slovak and the corresponding nationalisms steeped in these languages The analysis is set against the earlier political and ideological history of these languages and the panorama of the emergence and political uses of other languages of the region Historians and Nationalism Monika Baár, 2010-02-25 Monika Ba r examines the work of five prominent East Central European historians in the 19th century analyzing and contrasting their body of work their promotion of a national culture and the contributions they made to European historiography Nations and Nationalisms in East-Central Europe, 1806-1948, 2002 Manufacturing Middle Ages, 2013-08-22 Across the nineteenth century European history philology archaeology art and architecture turned from a common classical vocabulary and ideology to images of pasts and origins drawn primarily from the Middle Ages. The result was a paradox as scholars and artists schooled in the same pan-European vocabularies and methodologies nevertheless sought to discover through them unique and frequently oppositional national identities. These essays edited by Patrick J. Geary and Gábor Klaniczay focus on this all-European phenomenon with a special focus on Scandinavia and East Central Europe bearing witness to the inextricable links between cultural and scientific engagement, the search for national identity and political agendas in the long nineteenth century that made the search for archaic origins an entangled history. Contributors include Walter Pohl, Ian Wood, Sverre Bagge, Maciej Janowski, Sir David Wilson, Anders Andrén, Ernő Marosi, Carmen Popescu, Ahmet Ersoy, Michael Werner, Joep Leerssen, R. Howard Bloch, Pavlína Rychterová, Tommaso di Carpegna Falconieri, Stefan Detchev, Florin Curta, and Peter Lang.

Civic and Uncivic Values in Macedonia Sabrina P. Ramet, 2013-01-23 One of the central challenges facing Macedonia along with other Yugoslav successor states is to develop civic values and to combat such uncivic values as ethnic intolerance, religious bigotry, and homophobia. This volume brings together specialists in Macedonian affairs to offer insights into the experiences and values of the Macedonians.

Beyond Violence Anna Cichopek-Gajraj, 2014-06-19 This book tells a story of Polish and Slovak Holocaust survivors returning to homes that no longer existed in the aftermath of the Second World War. It focuses on their daily efforts to rebuild their lives in the radically changed political and social landscape of post-war Eastern Europe. Such an analysis shifts the perspective from post-war violence and emigration to post-war reconstruction. Using a comparative approach, Anna Cichopek-Gajraj discusses survivors' journeys home, their struggles to retain citizenship and repossess property, their coping with antisemitism, and their efforts to return to normality. She emphasizes the everyday communal and personal experiences of survivors in the context of their relationships with non-Jews. In essence, by focusing on the daily efforts of Polish and Slovak Jews to rebuild their lives, the author investigates the limits of belonging in Eastern Europe after the Holocaust.

The Three Yugoslavias Sabrina P. Ramet, 2006-06-06 Based on extensive archival research and fieldwork and the culmination of more than two decades of study, The Three Yugoslavias is a major contribution to an understanding of Yugoslavia and its successor states.

Genocide and Fascism Aristotle Kallis, 2008-09-25 This book investigates how fascism as an ideology and political praxis reconfigured the ideological, political, and moral landscape of interwar Europe, generating an atmosphere of extreme license that facilitated the leap into eliminationist violence. It demonstrates how fascist ideology linked the prospect of violent cleansing to utopias of national racial regeneration, thus encouraging and legitimizing targeted hatred against particular others. It also shows how the diffusion and internationalization of fascism in the 1930s produced a sense of a revolutionary new beginning and created a transnational fascist new order in which Nazi Germany came to occupy a potent position of authority. The book analyzes how the eliminationist initiative and precedent of Nazi Germany became a second license that empowered fascist regimes across Europe to embark on their own eliminationist projects with diminished accountability. Finally, it examines how this license enhanced by the actions of fascists and the collapse of order caused by World War Two released individuals and communities from the burden of legal and moral accountability turning them into accomplices in the most wide brutal and devastating genocidal campaign that the continent had ever experienced

Creating the Other
 Nancy M. Wingfield, 2004-09-01 The historic myths of a people nation usually play an important role in the creation and consolidation of the basic concepts from which the self image of that nation derives These concepts include not only images of the nation itself but also images of other peoples Although the construction of ethnic stereotypes during the long nineteenth century initially had other functions than simply the homogenization of the particular culture and the exclusion of others from the public sphere the evaluation of peoples according to criteria that included level of civilization yielded rankings of ethnic groups within the Habsburg Monarchy That provided the basis for later more divisive ethnic characterizations of exclusive nationalism as addressed in this volume that examines the roots and results of ethnic nationalist and racial conflict in the region from a variety of historical and theoretical perspectives
