The Mind and its Stories Patrick Colm Hogan, 2003-09-29 There are profound extensive and surprising universals in literature which are bound up with universals in emotion Hogan maintains that debates over the cultural specificity of emotion are misdirected because they have ignored a vast body of data that bear directly on the way different cultures imagine and experience emotion literature This is the first empirically and cognitively based discussion of narrative universals Professor Hogan argues that to a remarkable degree the stories people admire in different cultures follow a limited number of patterns and that these patterns are determined by cross culturally constant ideas about emotion In formulating his argument Professor Hogan draws on his extensive reading in world literature experimental research treating emotion and emotion concepts and methodological principles from the contemporary linguistics and the philosophy of science He concludes with a discussion of the relations among narrative emotion concepts and the biological and social components of emotion

Mimesis and the Human Animal Robert Storey, 1996-12-16 In Mimesis and the Human Animal Robert Storey argues that human culture derives from human biology and that literary representation therefore must have a biological basis As he ponders the question What does it mean to say that art imitates life he must consider both What is life and What is art A unique approach to the subject of mimesis Storey's book goes beyond the politicizing of literature grounded in literary theory to develop a scientific basis for the creation of literature and art

Evolution and Literary Theory Joseph Carroll, 1995 Over the past two decades poststructuralism in its myriad forms has come to dominate literary criticism to the exclusion of virtually any other point of view Few scholars have escaped the coercive authority of its programmatic radicalism In Evolution and Literary Theory Joseph Carroll vigorously attacks the foundational principles of poststructuralism and offers in their stead a bold new theory that situates literary criticism within the matrix of evolutionary theory

On Biblical Poetry F.W. Dobbs-Allsopp, 2015-08-26 On Biblical Poetry takes a fresh look at the nature of biblical Hebrew poetry beyond its currently best known feature parallelism F W Dobbs Allsopp argues that biblical poetry is in most respects just like any other verse tradition and therefore biblical poems should be read and interpreted like other poems using the same critical tools and with the same kinds of guiding assumptions in place He offers a series of programmatic essays on major facets of biblical verse each aspiring to alter currently regnant conceptualizations in the field and to show that attention to aspects of prosody rhythm lineation and the like allied with close reading can yield interesting valuable and even pleasurable interpretations What distinguishes the verse of the Bible says Dobbs Allsopp is its historicity and cultural specificity those peculiar encrustations and encumbrances that typify all human artifacts Both the literary and the historical then are in view throughout The concluding essay elaborates a close reading of Psalm 133 This chapter enacts the final movement to the set of literary and historical arguments mounted throughout the volume an example of the holistic staging which Dobbs Allsopp argues is much needed in the field of Biblical Studies

What Art Is Michelle Kamhi, Louis Torres, 2016-05-26 What is art The arts establishment has a simple answer anything is art if a reputed artist or expert says it is Though many people are skeptical about the alleged new art forms that have proliferated since the early twentieth century today's critics claim that all such work however incomprehensible is art A groundbreaking alternative to this view is provided by philosopher novelist Ayn Rand 1901-1982 Best known as the author of The Fountainhead and Atlas Shrugged Rand also created an original and illuminating theory of art which confirms the widespread view that much of today's purported art is not really art at all In What Art Is Torres and Kamhi present a lucid introduction to Rand's esthetic theory contrasting her ideas with those of other thinkers They conclude that in its basic principles her account is compelling and is corroborated by evidence from anthropology neurology cognitive science and psychology The authors apply Rand's theory to a debunking of the work of prominent modernists and postmodernists from Mondrian Jackson Pollock and Samuel Beckett to John Cage Merce Cunningham and other highly regarded postmodernist figures Finally they explore the implications of Rand's ideas for the issues of government and corporate support of the arts art law and art education This is one of the most interesting provocative and well written books on aesthetics that I know While fully accessible to the general reader What Art Is should be of great interest to specialists as well Ayn Rand's largely unknown writings on art especially as interpreted released from dogma and smoothed out by Torres and Kamhi are remarkably refined Moreover her ideas are positively therapeutic after a century of artistic floundering and aesthetic quibbling Anyone interested in aesthetics in the purpose of art or in the troubling issues posed by modernism and post modernism should read this book Randall R Dipert Author of Artifacts Art Works and Agency Torres and Kamhi effectively situate Rand's long neglected esthetic theory in the wider history of ideas They not only illuminate her significant contribution to an understanding of the nature of art they also apply her ideas to a trenchant critique of the twentieth century's advanced art Their exposure of the invalidity of abstract art is itself worth the price of admission Chris Matthew Sciabarra Author of Ayn Rand The Russian Radical Rand's aesthetic theory merits careful study and thoughtful criticism which Torres and Kamhi provide Their scholarship is sound their presentation is clear and their judgment is refreshingly free from the biases that Rand's supporters and detractors alike tend to bring to considerations of her work Stephen Cox University of California San Diego

The Art of Civilization Didier Maleuvre, 2016-06-22 Didier Maleuvre argues that works of art in Western societies from Ancient Greece to the interconnected worlds of the Digital Age have served to rationalize and normalize an engagement with bourgeois civilization and the city Maleuvre details that the history of art itself is the history civilization giving rise to the particular aesthetics and critical attitudes of respective moments and movements in changing civilizations in a dialogical mode Building a visual cultural account of shifting forms of culture power and subjectivity Maleuvre illustrates how art gave a pattern and a language to the model of social authority rather than simply functioning as a reflective one Through a broad cultural study of the relationship between humanity art and the culture of civilization Maleuvre introduces a new set of paradigms that critique and affirm the relationship between humanity and art arguing for it as an engine of social reproduction that transforms how culture is inhabited

The Sunflower Forest William R. Jordan, 2012-02-07 Ecological restoration the attempt to guide damaged ecosystems back to a previous usually healthier or more natural condition is rapidly gaining recognition as one of the most promising approaches to conservation In this book William R Jordan III who coined the term restoration ecology and who is widely respected as an intellectual leader in the field outlines a vision for a restoration based environmentalism that has emerged from his work over twenty five years Drawing on a provocative range of thinkers from anthropologists Victor Turner Roy Rappaport and Mary Douglas to literary critics Frederick Turner Leo Marx and R W B

Lewis Jordan explores the promise of restoration both as a way of reversing environmental damage and as a context for negotiating our relationship with nature Exploring restoration not only as a technology but also as an experience and a performing art Jordan claims that it is the indispensable key to conservation At the same time he argues restoration is valuable because it provides a context for confronting the most troubling aspects of our relationship with nature For this reason it offers a way past the essentially sentimental idea of nature that environmental thinkers have taken for granted since the time of Emerson and Muir
