Voicing the Soviet Experience Katharine Hodgson, 2003-11-06 The career of Olga Berggol'ts offers a case study in the complexities that faced Soviet writers in the Stalin era and demonstrates that the borders between official and unofficial literature were permeable and shifting This study draws on unpublished materials including the poet's notebooks and diaries to show how conflict and ambiguity functioned as a structuring principle in her work The tensions of attempting to reconcile Party loyalty with personal and artistic integrity are revealed in her lyric poetry her treatment of other genres including prose and in the intensively intra-textual nature of her writing Dr Hodgson reassesses the cultural heritage of an era that can seem remote and impenetrable but which is complex and intriguing Motherland in Danger Karel C.

Berkhoff,2012-04-25 Berkhoff addresses one of the most neglected questions facing historians of the Second World War How did the Soviet leadership sell the campaign against the Germans to people on the home front Motherland in Danger takes us inside the Stalinist state to witness up close how the Soviet media reflected and distorted every aspect of the war

Written with the Bayonet Katharine Hodgson,1996-01-01 Focusing on a wide range of poetry written between 1941 and 1945 this work explores Soviet poets response to World War II It also traces the influence of Stalinist culture and departures from literary conventions established in the pre-war years In a chronological survey the poets immediate reaction to the events of the war is placed in its historical and literary political context Reinventing Romantic Poetry Diana Greene,2004-01-15 Reinventing Romantic Poetry offers a new look at the Russian literary scene in the nineteenth century While celebrated poets such as Aleksandr Pushkin worked within a male-centered Romantic aesthetic the poet as a bard or sexual conqueror nature as a mother or mistress the poet's muse as an idealized woman Russian women attempting to write Romantic poetry found they had to reinvent poetic conventions of the day to express themselves as women and as poets Comparing the poetry of fourteen men and fourteen women from this period Diana Greene revives and redefines the women's writings and offers a thoughtful examination of the sexual politics of reception and literary reputation The fourteen women considered wrote poetry in every genre from visions to verse tales from love lyrics to metaphysical poetry as well as prose works and plays Greene delves into the reasons why their writing was dismissed focusing in particular on the work of Evdokiia Rostopchina Nadezhda Khvoshchinskaia and Karolina Pavlova Greene also considers class as a factor in literary reputation comparing canonical male poets with the work of other men whose work like the women's was deemed inferior at the time The book also features an appendix of significant poems by Russian women discussed in the text Some found in archival notebooks are published here for the first time and others are reprinted for the first time since the mid-nineteenth century Boris Pasternak Christopher Barnes,2004-02-12 This concluding volume of Christopher Barnes's acclaimed biography of the Russian poet and prose writer Boris Pasternak covers the period from 1928 to his death during which he wrote the famous Dr Zhivago and was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature Drawing on archive material including the Pasternak family archive eyewitness accounts and a huge range of biographical and background information Barnes brings to light many aspects of Pasternak's personality and private life while illuminating his relations with the Communist regime and the literary establishment. There is a detailed discussion of Pasternak's original writing with ample quotation in English translation and his translations of Goethe, Shakespeare and others. The growth story of Dr Zhivago is traced and the personal and political implications of the novel's controversial publication explored. The biography concludes with a discussion of Pasternak's Nobel Prize award, final years and death with a brief account of his posthumous and artistic legacy.

In Stalin's Time Vera Sandomirsky Dunham, 1990. This new edition of In Stalin's Time which brings back into print Vera Dunham's 1976 landmark study of popular fiction in the Soviet Union during the Stalin regime is updated to include new material by the author and a new introduction by Richard Sheldon Dunham describes how the middle brow or postwar establishmentarian literature of the Stalinist period was a product of a Big Deal intended to propagate values and establish an alliance between the regime and the middle class. Both descriptive and analytical, Dunham's complex picture of high totalitarianism not only reveals insights into the details of Soviet life but illuminates important theoretical questions about the role of literature in the political structure of Soviet society.
