

A hiker is seen from behind, walking up a steep, rocky mountain trail. The hiker is wearing a backpack and using a trekking pole. The background shows a vast, hazy mountain range under a soft, orange-hued sky, suggesting a sunrise or sunset. A large, semi-transparent white circle is centered over the image, containing the quote and the author's name.

PROGRESS not PERFECTION.”

Dominant Classes And The State In Development Sanjoy Banerjee, 2019-03-04 Why does capitalist development give rise to political alliances between the state and certain economically dominant classes Addressing this question Professor Banerjee uses an evolutionary approach to social structure to develop a theory of the interaction within and among business and manufacturing firms a theory that highlights those aspects of market processes that promote the formation of dominant economic classes Structural evolutionary conceptions of property relations and of state planning and regulation are developed and combined with the market model According to Professor Banerjee the market property relations and state administration form a self sustaining structure that simultaneously develops the economy in an uneven and clustered fashion and gives rise to a dominant alliance between a segment of the state and the fastest accumulating classes in the economy He applies his model to India during the 1956 1975 period examining the industrialization process of the Second and Third plans the crisis of the mid 1960s and the Green Revolution

Real-Time Medical Image Processing Morio Onoe, 2012-12-06 In order to realize real time medical imaging systems such as are used for computed tomography automated microscopy dynamic radioisotope imaging etc special technology is required The high speed image source must be successfully married with the ultra high speed computer Usually the ordinary general purpose computer is found to be inadequate to the image generation and or image processing task The ordinary computer executes instructions at between 1 and 10 million per second Speed has improved by only about a factor of 10 during the past 20 years In contrast a typical computer used in recognizing blood cell images at 10 000 per hour must execute instructions at between 1 billion and 10 billion per second Similar execution rates are required to construct a computed tomography image in real time 1 to 10 seconds For the reasons given above engineering development in image generation and processing in the field of biomedicine has become a discipline unto itself a discipline wherein the computer engineer is driven to design extremely high speed machines that far surpass the ordinary computer and the x ray radioisotope or microscope scanner designer must also produce equipment whose specifications extend far beyond the state of the art
