The Practice of Teachers Professional Development Helen Grimmer, 2014-07-11 This book uses Vygotsky's cultural historical theory to provide a unique theorisation of teachers professional development as a practice A practice can be described as the socially structured actions set up to produce a product or service aimed at meeting a collective human need In this case collaborative interventionist work with teachers in two different Australian primary schools sought to simultaneously identify understand and develop the necessary conditions for supporting the teachers development as professionals The in depth analysis of this practice provides interesting insight into professional development for teachers at all levels of schooling and provides strong support for educational researchers administrators and consultants to reconsider many existing forms of professional learning development programs This book supports the contemporary view that professional learning must take place with teachers rather than be delivered to teachers but provides an important expansion to current work in this area by arguing that a focus on teachers learning of new strategies and principles may still fall short of creating long term change in teachers professional practice By taking a cultural historical approach the focus moves to supporting teachers development of unified concepts the intertwining of theoretical and practical aspects and motives to continue their ongoing development as professionals This emphasis builds teachers capacity to examine and disrupt habitual practices and understand create and implement thoughtful and sustainable transformations in all areas of their professional life This book therefore builds upon the ongoing conversation about professional learning and development offering a new framework for researching understanding and developing this critical practice

Developing Reflective TESOL Practitioners Through Teacher Education Andrzej Cirocki, Mark Wyatt, Xuesong (Andy) Gao, 2024-06-26 This textbook provides insights from Asian contexts into how reflective practice is nurtured on Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages TESOL and English Language Teaching ELT teacher education programmes There is increasing recognition worldwide that given the centrality of reflective practice to teachers ongoing professional development supporting teachers to become reflective practitioners should be integral to teacher education programmes Consequently tertiary level courses in areas such as TESOL and ELT tend to promote reflective practice supported by theoretical input from the burgeoning literature on reflection much of which is produced in the West Relatively under represented in the literature are global perspectives on reflective practice there are consequently relatively few accounts as to how reflective practice is embedded in teacher education programmes in different parts of the world including Asia Hence this book addresses a gap Contributing authors from fourteen countries provide insights into the ways in which teachers are helped to grow as reflective practitioners on their teacher education programmes in their unique contexts This textbook showcases how reflective teaching practices are developed supported by frameworks for critical reflection and in interaction with local educational policies These distinctive accounts aid readers in reflecting on the ways in which reflective practice is supported in their own teacher education contexts and in considering ways of enhancing the reflective dimension of their programmes This textbook showcases innovative reflective activities and can be used as a principal text or as supplemental reading on a range of TESOL and ELT teacher education courses

Reflective Practice for Teachers Maura Sellars, 2013-12-16 The text provides powerful opportunities to challenge thinking and to encourage trainee teachers to articulate and justify their beliefs about the purposes of education the nature of learning and the impact this has on their own developing practice in the classroom Marnie Seymour Senior Lecturer in Primary Education University of Winchester Through a variety of stimulus questions and a focus on what does this mean for you this book encourages pre service teachers to develop habits of reflection that will guide their achievement of an authentic teacher identity Linley Cornish Associate Professor School of Education University of New England Australia An essential aspect of teaching is being able to reflect on your own practice and analyse your professional actions and use this process to develop as a successful teacher Reflective Practice for Teachers explores a range of key issues that you will need to engage with during your teacher preparation and early career in the classroom in order to deepen your understanding of teaching practice Coverage includes What does this mean for you boxes in every chapter that directly relate educational theory to the classroom The changing nature of teaching and the role of the teacher and the importance of making personal evidence based decisions How contemporary issues such as technology global perspectives and the importance of pedagogical practices can support effective teaching Guidance on how to reflect on the richness of diversity in classrooms and the tensions and challenges that may result from differences This is essential reading for teacher education students on university based and school based courses preparing to teach in primary and secondary education and early career teachers seeking to continue their professional learning Maura Sellars is a lecturer in Education at The University of Newcastle Australia

Reconceptualising Reflection in Reflective Practice Misrah Mohamed,Radzuwan Ab Rashid,2023-05-10 This edited volume presents a model that embraces four components of reflective practice planning acting reflecting and evaluating The complexities of reflective practice are manifested through three aspects of reflection problem solving action orientatedness and critical reflection To provide practical guidance the audience is presented with various sets of experiences within the field of education which represent different foci and criticality of reflection The experiences are described through different lenses from individual to groups of educators The chapters provide a reconceptualisation of reflection which underpins an effective reflective practice Therefore readers are provided with information that demonstrates the different phases of reflection that make up an effective cycle of reflective practice It is through the chapters that readers will be able to distinguish the different foci and levels of reflection thus enabling them to engage in reflective practice more effectively The Malaysian context that the book brings gives readers insights into a lesser known context and its people culture and educational system as a whole for comparison The book is written with the needs of student teachers and teacher educators in mind However the model reconceptualised is transferable to other disciplines too
