Refugees And Forcibly Displaced People:

Forcibly Displaced World Bank, 2017-07-14 The Syrian refugee crisis has galvanized attention to one of the world's foremost challenges forced displacement The total number of refugees and internally displaced persons now at over 65 million continues to grow as violent conflict spikes This report Forcibly Displaced Toward a Development Approach Supporting Refugees the Internally Displaced and Their Hosts produced in close partnership with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees UNHCR attempts to sort fact from fiction to better understand the scope of the challenge and encourage new thinking from a socioeconomic perspective The report depicts the reality of forced displacement as a developing world crisis with implications for sustainable growth 95 percent of the displaced live in developing countries and over half are in displacement for more than four years To help the displaced the report suggests ways to rebuild their lives with dignity through development support focusing on their vulnerabilities such as loss of assets and lack of legal rights and opportunities It also examines how to help host communities that need to manage the sudden arrival of large numbers of displaced people and that are under pressure to expand services create jobs and address long standing development issues Critical to this response is collective action As work on a new Global Compact on Responsibility Sharing for Refugees progresses the report underscores the importance of humanitarian and development communities working together in complementary ways to support countries throughout the crisis from strengthening resilience and preparedness at the onset to creating lasting solutions

People Forced to Flee United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, 2022-02-16 People in danger have received protection in communities beyond their own from the earliest times of recorded history The causes war conflict violence persecution natural disasters and climate change are as familiar to readers of the news as to students of the past It is 70 years since nations in the wake of World War II drew up the landmark 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees People Forced to Flee marks this milestone It is the latest in a long line of publications stretching back to 1993 that were previously entitled The State of the World's Refugees The book traces the historic path that led to the 1951 Convention showing how history was made by taking the centuries old ideals of safety and solutions for refugees to global practice It maps its progress during which international protection has reached a much broader group of people than initially envisaged It examines international responses to forced displacement within borders as well as beyond them and the protection principles that apply to both It reviews where they have been used with consistency and success and where they have not At times the strength and resolve of the international community seems strong yet solutions and meaningful solidarity are often elusive Taking stock today at this important anniversary is all the more crucial as the world faces increasing forced displacement Most is experienced in low and middle income countries and persists for generations People forced to flee face barriers to improving their lives contributing to the communities in which they live and realizing solutions Everywhere an effective response depends on the commitment to international cooperation set down in the 1951 Convention a vision often compromised by efforts to minimize responsibilities There is growing recognition that doing better is a global imperative Humanitarian and development action has the potential to be transformational especially when grounded in the local context People Forced to Flee examines how and where increased development investments in education health and economic inclusion are helping to improve socioeconomic opportunities both for forcibly displaced persons and their hosts In 2018 the international community reached a Global Compact on Refugees for more equitable and sustainable responses It is receiving deeper support People Forced to Flee looks at whether that is enough for what could and should help define the next 70 years

Everyday Peacebuilding through Democratic Political Education

Stephen L. Esquith, 2025-06-14 Everyday peacebuilding through democratic political education is a necessary but not sufficient condition for limiting negative political emotions such as anger fear and resentment and for cultivating the political virtues needed for an alternative more democratic orientation towards power one that values and exercises power with other members of emergent political communities not power over them These demotic political virtues include self restraint resistance humility respect for the civic dignity of others non violent protest and the radical poise needed to cultivate and coordinate this constellation of political virtues For those who have been forcibly displaced or are only dimly aware of their complicity in this type of political violence to maintain a radically poised stance is a continuing process of democratic political education This book demonstrates how this notion of Radical Poise in theory and practice can be developed through a hybrid process of political education in one country Mali to contest the growth of violence and fear there and elsewhere
