Ships of Stone in the Adriatic Ivo Eterović, Čedomir Kolar, 1984      A Maritime History of Bath, Maine and the Kennebec River Region William A. Baker, 1973      Trade, Commodities and Shipping in the Medieval Mediterranean David Jacoby, 2024-10-28 This fourth collection by David Jacoby focuses on Western economic expansion the Eastern Mediterranean during the 11th 15th centuries He is concerned to emphasize the interconnections linking the West Byzantium and the Levant and to examine normative sources for commercial activity charters etc against the background of actual practice such as reflected in notarial documents The articles deal with the evolution of urban centres the trade in raw materials and at the same time questions of technology transfer and the mobility of merchants and craftsmen Particular attention is given to the silk trade the author argues that demographic expansion in the Byzantine world as in the West stimulated economic growth and demand for silk led to the emergence of a market driven industry in Byzantium      A Fully Accredited Ocean Victoria Brehm, 1998 Essays about the economic and industrial development of the Lakes that point out the uniqueness of the area

Venetian Ships and Shipbuilders of the Renaissance Frederic Chapin Lane, 2018-12-01 ORIGINALLY published in 1934 this major study by Frederic Lane tracks the rise and decline of the great shipbuilding industry of Renaissance Venice Drawing on a wealth of archival sources Lane presents detailed descriptions of the Venetian arsenal including the great galleys that doubled as cargo ships and warships the sixteenth century round ships which introduced dramatic innovations in rigging and were less vulnerable to attack than the galleys and the majestic galleons whose straight lines and greater speed made them ideal for merchantmen but whose narrowness made them liable to capsize if loaded with artillery Lane also includes vivid accounts of the rivalries between the famous shipbuilders of the period There was the impassioned competition between Leonardo Bressan and Marco Francesco Rosso to design the quickest lightest galley a contest that Bressan won when Rosso was crushed to death the race between Vettor Fausto and Matteo Bressan to build the best galleon for use against pirates and the rivalry between Bernardo di Bernardo and Nicol Palopano to be the master builder of great merchant galleys Additional chapters detail the actual process of ship construction from the design stage to framing and ribbing the hull to building the rigging the organization and activity of the shipbuilders craft guilds and the various private shipyards and the development and management of the Arsenal Tables and appendixes detail the types measurements number and capacity of the ships as well as the wages of the shipbuilders      Making and Moving Sculpture in Early Modern Italy

KelleyHelmstutler DiDio, 2017-07-05 In recent years art historians have begun to delve into the patronage production and reception of sculptures sculptors workshop practices practical aesthetic and esoteric considerations of material and materiality and the meanings associated with materials and the makers of sculptures This volume brings together some of the top scholars in the field to investigate how sculptors in early modern Italy confronted such challenges as procurement of materials their costs shipping and transportation issues and technical problems of materials along with the meanings of the usage hierarchies of materials and processes of material acquisition and production Contributors also explore the implications of these facets in terms of the intended and perceived meanings for the viewer patron and or artist A highlight of the collection is the epilogue an interview with a contemporary artist of large scale stone sculpture which reveals the similar challenges sculptors still encounter today as they procure manufacture and transport their works

Dalmatia and the Mediterranean Alina Payne, 2014-01-23 Using the Braudelian concept of the Mediterranean this volume focuses on the condition of coastal exchanges involving the Dalmatian littoral and its Adriatic and more distant maritime network Spalato and Ragusa intersect with Constantinople Cairo and Spanish Naples just as Sinan Palladio and Robert Adam cross paths in this liquid expanse Concentrating on materiality and on the arts architecture in particular the authors identify portability and hybridity as characteristic of these exchanges and tease out expected and unexpected serendipitous moments when they occurred Focusing on translation and its instruments these essays expand the traditional concept of influence by thrusting mobility and the hardware of cultural transmission its mechanisms rather than its effects into the foreground Contributors include Doris Behrens Abouseif SOAS University of London Jo ko Belamari Institute of Art History Split Marzia Faietti Uffizi Florence Jasenka Gudelj University of Zagreb Cemal Kafadar Harvard University Ioli Kalavrezou Harvard University Suzanne Marchand State University of Louisiana Erika Naginski Harvard University G lru Necipo lu Harvard University Goran Nik i City of Split Split Alina Payne Harvard University Avinoam Shalem Columbia University and David Young Kim University of Pennsylvania

The Economics of the Roman Stone Trade Ben Russell, 2013-11-28 The use of stone in vast quantities is a ubiquitous and defining feature of the material culture of the Roman world In this volume Russell provides a new and wide ranging examination of the production distribution and use of carved stone objects throughout the Roman world including how enormous quantities of high quality white and polychrome marbles were moved all around the Mediterranean to meet the demand for exotic material The long distance supply of materials for artistic and architectural production not to mention the trade in finished objects like statues and sarcophagi is one of the most remarkable features of the Roman world Despite this it has never received much attention in mainstream economic studies Focusing on the market for stone and its supply the administration distribution and chronology of quarrying and the practicalities of stone transport Russell offers a detailed assessment of the Roman stone trade and how the relationship between producer and customer functioned even over considerable distances

Crisis and Change in the Venetian Economy in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries Brian Pullan, 2013-11-05 The decline of Venice remains one of the classic episodes in the economic development of modern Europe Its contrasts are familiar enough the wealthiest commercial power in fifteenth century Europe the strongest western colonial power in the eastern Mediterranean found its principal fame three centuries later in carnival and the arts This metamorphosis from commercial hegemony to fashionable pleasure and landed wealth was however a complex process. It resulted not so much from the Portuguese voyages of discovery at the beginning of the sixteenth century as from increasing Dutch and English competition at its end and from industrial competition chiefly from beyond the Mediterranean. Several of the Articles Dr Pullan has chosen to illustrate these changes are made available in English for the first time and two have been revised for this book. Four deal with the fortunes of entrepot trade and shipbuilding which had furnished the basis of Venetian wealth and influence in the Middle Ages; four others examine the new fields of enterprise which Venice explored in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and which helped to compensate for the decline in traditional activities. This classic book was first published in 1968. Artistic Practices and Cultural Transfer in Early Modern Italy Allison Sherman, 2017-07-05. For too long the centre of the Renaissance has been considered to be Rome and the art produced in or inspired by it. This collection of essays dedicated to Deborah Howard brings together an impressive group of internationally recognised scholars of art and architecture to showcase both the diversity within and the porosity between the centre and periphery in Renaissance art. Without abandoning Rome but together with other centres of art production the essays both shift their focus away from conventional categories and bring together recent trends in Renaissance studies notably a focus on cultural contact, material culture and historiography. They explore the material mechanisms for the transmission and evolution of ideas, artistic training and networks as well as the dynamics of collaboration and exchange between artists, theorists and patrons. The chapters each with a wealth of groundbreaking research and previously unpublished documentary evidence as well as innovative methodologies reinterpret Italian art relating to canonical sites and artists such as Michelangelo, Titian, Tintoretto, Veronese and Sebastiano del Piombo in addition to showcasing the work of several hitherto neglected architects, painters and an inimitable engineer-inventor.
