Transfer and Transformation Loretta O'Connor,2007-10-18 Typologies are critical tools for linguists but typologies like grammars are known to leak This book addresses the question of typological overlap from the perspective of a single language In Lowland Chontal of Oaxaca a language of southern Mexico change events are expressed with three types of predicates and each predicate type corresponds to a different language type in the well known typology of lexicalization patterns established by Talmy and elaborated by others O Connor evaluates the predictive powers of the typology by examining the consequences of each predicate type in a variety of contexts using data from narrative discourse stimulus response and elicitation This is the first de tailed look at the lexical and grammatical resources of the verbal system in Chontal and their relation to semantics of change The analysis of how and why Chontal speakers choose among these verbal resources to achieve particular communicative and social goals serves both as a documentation of an endangered language and a theoretical contribution towards a typology of language use Hokan Studies Margaret Langdon,Shirley

Eating Grasshoppers Jeffrey H. Cohen, 2025 Entomophagy: the eating of insects is an ancient practice that is still common in many parts of the world. One of the best known examples is in Oaxaca where grasshoppers known as chapulines are harvested in summer and fall, toasted and enjoyed year-round. As Oaxaca has become a popular destination for tourists, especially food tourists, the consumption and market for chapulines has evolved. Jeff Cohen's manuscript argues that understanding chapulines requires seeing them as a food source, a cultural symbol, and an economic engine. Part I: Approaching Chapulines introduces the women at the heart of this study and documents how they harvest, prepare, and consume grasshoppers. Part II: Eating and Thinking Chapulines moves to how other people consume chapulines. For many Oaxacans, especially those in the Central Valleys, chapulines are a regular part of the diet, a food that is highly anticipated every year, as discussed in chapter three. Chapter four documents how tourists approach chapulines. Those who try chapulines are usually looking for an experience, something to connect them with the real Oaxaca, rather than a meal. Part III: Marketing Chapulines follows the women whom Cohen calls chapulineras as they carry chapulines to the marketplace. As with markets everywhere, COVID-19 was a massive disruption, but the chapulineras created a touchless economy that allowed for continued production even as markets closed and most communities isolated in place. If tourists see chapulineras as poor rural Indigenous women who are struggling to make ends meet, these chapters contradict that assumption and reveal the entrepreneurial energy that they bring to the marketplace. A conclusion expands on the text to consider the broader world of food studies and asks why anyone would eat a bug

Communities Surviving Migration James P. Robson, Dan Klooster, Jorge Hernández-Díaz, 2018-10-26 Out migration might decrease the pressure of population on the environment but what happens to the communities that manage the local environment when they are weakened by the absence of their members In an era where community based natural resource management has emerged as a key hope for sustainable development this is a crucial question Building on over a decade of empirical work conducted in Oaxaca Mexico Communities Surviving Migration identifies how out migration can impact rural communities in strongholds of biocultural diversity It reflects on the possibilities of community self governance and survival in the likely future of limited additional migration and steady but low rural populations and what different scenarios imply for environmental governance and biodiversity conservation In this way the book adds a critical cultural component to the understanding of migration environment linkages specifically with respect to environmental change in migrant sending regions Responding to the call for more detailed analyses and reporting on migration and environmental change especially in contexts where rural communities livelihoods and biodiversity are interconnected this volume will be of interest to students and scholars of environmental migration development studies population geography and Latin American studies

Ten Thousand Years of Inequality Timothy A. Kohler, Michael E. Smith, 2019-02-19 Is wealth inequality a universal feature of human societies or did early peoples live an egalitarian existence How did inequality develop before the modern era Did inequalities in wealth increase as people settled into a way of life dominated by farming and herding Why in general do such disparities increase and how recent are the high levels of wealth inequality now experienced in many developed nations How can archaeologists tell Ten Thousand Years of Inequality addresses these and other questions by presenting the first set of consistent quantitative measurements of ancient wealth inequality The authors are archaeologists who have adapted the Gini index a statistical measure of wealth distribution often used by economists to measure contemporary inequality and applied it to house size distributions over time and around the world Clear descriptions of methods and assumptions serve as a model for other archaeologists and historians who want to document past patterns of wealth disparity The chapters cover a variety of ancient cases including early hunter gatherers farmer villages and agrarian states and empires The final chapter synthesizes and compares the results Among the new and notable outcomes the authors report a systematic difference between higher levels of inequality in ancient Old World societies and lower levels in their New World counterparts For the first time archaeology allows humanity s deep past to provide an account of the early manifestations of wealth inequality around the world Contributors Nicholas Ames Alleen Betzenhauser Amy Bogaard Samuel Bowles Meredith S Chesson Abhijit Dandekar Timothy J Dennehy Robert D Drennan Laura J Ellyson Deniz Enverova Ronald K Faulseit Gary M Feinman Mattia Fochesato Thomas A Foor Vishwas D Gogte Timothy A Kohler Ian Kuijt Chapurukha M Kusimba Mary Margaret Murphy Linda M Nicholas Rahul C Oka Matthew Pailes Christian E Peterson Anna Marie Prentiss Michael E Smith Elizabeth C Stone Amy Styring Jade Whitlam Protected landscapes and wild biodiversity Nigel Dudley,2012
