Plant Breeding Reviews J. Janick, 2012-12-06 Plant breeding the domestication and systematic improvement of crop species is the basis of past and present agriculture Our so called primitive progenitors selected practically all our present day crop plants and the improvement wrought through millenia of selection has so changed some of them that in many cases their links to the past have been obliterated There is no doubt that this ranks among the greatest of human achievements Although plant breeding has been a continuous empirical activity for as long as humans have forsaken the vagaries and thrill of hunting for the security and toil of agriculture genetic crop improvement is now very much of a twentieth century discipline Its scientific underpinnings date to the beginning of this century with the discovery of Gregor Mendel s classic 1865 paper on the inheritance of seven characters in the garden pea If any science can be traced to single event the best example is surely found in the conception of modern genetics that appears in this single creative work The relationship of plant breeding progress to advances in genetics has become closely entwined Mendel himself was concerned with crop improvement and worked on schemes for apple and pear breeding Plant breeding also has claims on other scientific and agricultural disciplines botany plant pathology biochemistry statistics taxonomy entomology and cytology to name a few and has also impinged on our social ethical economic and political consciousness

Plant Genetic Resources and Traditional Knowledge for Food Security Romesh Kumar Salgotra, Bharat Bhushan Gupta, 2016-01-22 With exponentially increasing population across the globe and shrinking resources the concern of food security is looming large over the world community To catch up with the fierce pace of growth in all the sectors of development ensuring uninhibited availability of food resources is a prime agenda The growing global demand for food feed fiber and bio based renewable materials such as bio fuels is changing the conditions for genetic resources development and bio resource production worldwide The crucial role in ensuring food security is played by the agro based industries and enterprises Advances in plant genetic resources coupled with traditional knowledge of the local tribes and native practices facilitate achievement of food security

Plant Genetic Engineering D. Grierson, 2013-03-08 Plant biotechnology offers important opportunities for agriculture horticulture and the food industry by generating new transgenic crop varieties with altered properties This is likely to change farming practices improve the quality of fresh and processed plant products and reduce the impact of food production on the environment The purpose of this series is to review the basic science that underpins plant biotechnology and to show how this knowledge is being used in directed plant breeding It is intended for those involved in fundamental and applied research on transgenic plants in the academic and commercial sectors The first volume deals with plant genes how they work and their transfer from one organism to another Authors discuss the production and evaluation of the first generation of transgenic crops resistant to insects viruses and herbicides and consider aspects of gene regulation and targeting of their protein products to the correct cellular location All the contributors are actively engaged in research in plant biotechnology and several are concerned directly with its commercial applications Their chapters highlight the importance of a fundamental understanding of plant physiology biochemistry and cell and molecular biology for the successful genetic engineering of plants This interdisciplinary approach which focuses research from traditionally separate areas is the key to further developments which are considered in subsequent volumes Don Grierson Contributors Alan B Bennett Mann Laboratory Department of Vegetable Crops University of California Davis CA 95616 John W s
