Cross and Khôra Marko Zlomislíć, Neal DeRoo, 2010-01-01 This volume poses the question of the relationship between the two main influences on the thought of John D Caputo one of the most well known philosophers of religion working in North America today Jacques Derrida and Jesus Christ Given the seemingly abstract character of Derrida's account of the messianic how can one reconcile deconstruction and the concrete messianism of Christianity as Caputo tries to do over and over again How can one hold together the love of a God willing to be crucified and the dry desert khôra which doesn't care This collection of essays from world renowned scholars seeks to illuminate the difficulties inherent in this seemingly contradictory pair of influences With his trademark wit and humor Caputo responds to his interlocutors while clarifying his position on numerous matters of interest to the church and in the academy In addition to dealing with the concern for issues of hermeneutics phenomenology and negative theology for which Caputo has become famous these essays also evaluate Caputo's legacy in fields previously not thought to be affected by his deconstructive version of religion feminism sacramental theology Analytic philosophy of religion and Christology The Best Australian Poetry 2006 Judith Beveridge, 2006 a selection of the best poems from Australia's literary journals cover title The Literature of Australia Nicholas Jose, 2009 Unprecedented in the breadth of what it offers from both the ancient and the recent literature of my country Thomas Keneally from the foreword Lightship Anthology Stephen Beechinor, 2012-11-28 Lightship Anthology 2 is the second collection of short stories poems flash fiction and a first chapter from the 2012 Lightship International Literary Prize winners Lightship Publishing aims to discover and mentor the best new literary voices writing in English and this is an exciting international collection from Indian American Australian Swedish French Irish and British authors Being Australian Catriona Elder, 2020-07-24 After a century of speculation by writers filmmakers travelers and scholars being Australian has become a recognisable shorthand for a group of national characteristics Now in an era of international terrorism being seen as un-Australian has become a potent rhetorical weapon for some and a badge of honour for others Catriona Elder explores the origins meaning and effects of the many stories we tell about ourselves and how they have changed over time She outlines some of the traditional stories and their role in Australian nationalism and she shows how concepts of egalitarianism peaceful settlement and sporting prowess have been used to create a national identity Elder also investigates the cultural and social perspectives that have been used to critique dominant accounts of Australian identity including ideas of class gender sexuality ethnicity and race She shows how these critiques have been in turn queried in recent years Being Australian is an ideal introduction to studying Australia for anyone interested in understanding Australian society culture and history A clever work incisive and original At a time when Australian identities have never been more debated Elder finds an open way through the closed doors which often restrict cultural representations of Australian-ness Professor Adam Shoemaker Dean of Arts ANU This is a timely and significant new analysis essential reading on issues of identity and our own anxieties about national belonging and what it means to be Australian in a globalising world Kate Darian Smith Professor of Australian Studies and History University of Melbourne Literacy for the 21st Century Gail Tompkins, Rod Campbell, David Green, Carol Smith, 2014-08-01 Literacy for the 21st Century 2e gives students the strategies and ability to teach literacy effectively in Australian classrooms Linking the theory and research to classroom practice and with a greater emphasis on the use of digital literacies students will gain a practical understanding of teaching reading and writing Doing Poetic Inquiry Helen Owton, 2017-09-14 This book offers a phenomenologically inspired approach to sharing stories via poetic inquiry a research approach that is rapidly gaining popularity within psychology and the wider social sciences Owton begins by framing how poetry can appeal to all of the senses how it can offer readers a shared experience of the world and why poetry should be used as a research approach Chapters explore various aspects of poetic inquiry including poetry as data turning data into poetry poetry as literature review and poetry as reflective writing The final chapters consider how one might draw on characterising traits to judge poetic inquiry and how poetry might resonate with audiences to effect wider dissemination of research This interdisciplinary exploration will be of interest to scholars in psychology sociology social work and literature as well as to medical and sports practitioners
