Wenig,2012-12-06 Robbery larceny blackmail fraud and other crimes with economic motives are likely to be as old as mankind and the evasion of taxes and economic regulations can be assumed to begin with the introduction of taxes and economic regulations Thus the shadow economy is certain ly not a new phenomenon However economists did not pay much attention to it until quite recently P GUTMANN in his pioneering article The Subterranean Economy Financial Analysts Journal Nov Dec 1977 p 24 27 was first to point out that unreported economic activity cannot or at least can no longer be considered as a quantite negligeable Challenged by GUTMANN s hypothesis many economists have then tried to assess the quantitative and qualitative importance of the shadow economy commonly also known as the underground or subterranean or black or unreported economy and by other names There seems to be wide agreement nowadays that the shadow economy has not only reached a substantial portion of total economic activity in both Eastern and Western countries but that it is also growing at rates which can no longer be experienced in the official sector The existence of a considerable volume of unreported economic activities implies that important macroeconomic variables are biased in the official statistics The rate of unemployment for example may be over estimated while production figures on the other hand tend to be underrated The government could thus be misled and choose inadequate policies
