The Promise of Memory Matthias Fritsch, 2006-06-01 Argues for a closer connection between memories of injustice and promises of justice as a means to overcome violence Introduction to the Philosophy of Tanabe Makoto Ozaki, 2023-12-14

Currents of Encounter invites scholarly contributions that utilize interreligious intercultural comparative postcolonial and other contemporary critical interdisciplinary approaches from across all religious traditions to address topical questions on the challenges and opportunities arising from intercultural interreligious engagements or the intersections of cultures and religions Studies dealing explicitly with the dynamics of the intersection of religious and cultural traditions are increasing every year and scholars have become aware of the complexity and diversity of interreligious and intercultural relations Recent literature offers a broad panoply of theoretical approaches from theologies of religions to comparative theologies from discourse analysis to a postcolonial critique focusing on issues of power from feminist readings asking about the specific role of women in interreligious dialogue to interreligious hermeneutics exploring how meaning may travel across cultural and religious traditions Currents of Encounter welcomes this variety of works in these disciplines and from interdisciplinary perspectives aiming thus to contribute to a better understanding of the complexities of interreligious and intercultural themes The board welcomes both monographs and edited volumes Possible domains interreligious studies intercultural theology and philosophy comparative theology and philosophy theologies of religions The End of the World Ernesto de Martino, 2023-11-29 A philosopher historian of religions and anthropologist Ernesto De Martino is often glossed as ahead of his time In his work a reader sees the roots of psychological and medical anthropology discussions of reflexivity and the role of the ethnographer considerations of colonialism and migration and the trauma they might engender and an anticipation of the existential turn in anthropology A reader would also find an attentiveness to hope and possibility despite the gloomy title of his posthumously published book La fine del mondo The End of the World Perhaps the end of the world is an overstatement But in a rapidly globalizing world one in which the entire earth becomes our shared cultural homeland despite our different values and local histories the end of the world might simply mean the end of a world our particular world and the dawning of something new the world of tomorrow De Martino seeks in part to make the idea of the end of a world less horrifying while at the same time attending to the individual loss of self that one might feel in contemplating an apocalypse especially as modernization has divorced us from the rituals and folklore that might make such an eventuality less terrifying De Martino writes Two opposed terrors dominate our age the terror of losing the world and the terror of being lost in the world The end of the world the loss of presence Interweaving the cultural and individual levels of apocalypse treating subjects both classic and contemporary and both European and non Western ranging across ethnography and philosophy De Martino probes how we relate to our world and how we might be better subjects and thinkers within it A History of English Law Sir William Searle Holdsworth, 1925 Individuum, Society, Humankind Makoto Ozaki, 2021-10-01 In this collection on the Kyoto School of Philosophy the author offers the reader Tanabe's religious philosophy but also and for the first time his philosophy of nature and ontology. It is not only on individual society and humankind but also on the logical structure of Tanabe's thinking and aspects such as nature, beauty, matter, contemplation, practice, politics, religion, science, history, eternity, etcetera. A highly original work the more as the reader becomes acquainted with Ozaki's own creative synthetic view of the main problems of Christian Buddhist theological and philosophical encounter.

Preaching and Reading the Old Testament Lessons Elizabeth Rice Achtemeier, 2003. Prominent author and biblical scholar Elizabeth Achtemeier provides an outstanding preaching and study resource with this collection of brief expositions on all of the First Lesson texts contained in Cycle C of the Revised Common and Lutheran Lectionaries. Infused with her customary insight into the Hebrew scriptures, this compendium of Achtemeier's stimulating contributions to the preaching journal Emphasis furnishes a plethora of fruitful starting points for preparing sermons solidly rooted in the Bible yet connected to modern life. But as the book's title suggests, this volume isn't just for preachers and homiletics students; it's also a powerful commentary for study groups and personal devotional reading. Achtemeier's unrelenting focus on the promises of God appearing in the Old Testament and fulfilled in the New Testament, combined with her outstanding scholarship, make these faith-filled essays an enriching resource for anyone who wants a clearer understanding of God's Word contained in the scriptures. Elizabeth Achtemeier has spent her interpretive life at the interface between critical exegesis and the task of proclamation. In this series of brief expositions, she exhibits her interpretive agility, her passion for the church, and her subtle judgments on a number of theological issues. Those faced with the weekly task of preaching will find rich and suggestive clues for letting the text have its say in the church. Walter Brueggemann, William Marcellus McPheeters, Professor of Old Testament, Columbia Theological Seminary: "We preachers have learned that there are few better interpreters of the Old Testament than Elizabeth Achtemeier. Her homiletical interpretation is sure to strike fire in our imaginations and serve as a wonderful catalyst for great sermons from these passages. She really does enable us to preach texts from the Hebrew Bible in a new and delightful way." William H. Willimon, Dean of the Chapel and Professor of Christian Ministry, Duke University: "Renowned throughout the United States and Canada as a preacher, teacher, lecturer, and writer, Elizabeth Achtemeier authored 25 books, including the acclaimed Preaching From The Old Testament and her autobiography Not Til I Have Done A Personal Testimony. Achtemeier served for many years as an adjunct professor of Bible and Homiletics at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Virginia.

The Promise I Kept Jackie Madden Haugh, 2018-04-02. The Promise I Kept is a poignant, funny, and often heartbreaking story of a daughter's journey to live up to a vow that she never put her father Jack into a nursing home, his greatest fear for his final days. Thirteen years later, now a single mother, the marker would be called in after her mother's passing. For the next nine years, Jackie Madden Haugh would watch over her father's care, first in his home with live-in help and finally with her. Totally unprepared for her new role, Jackie thought it would be an easy job. After all, her kids saw her as Super Mom, ready to take on all of life's messes. But she quickly found her world filled with adult diapers, a pharmacy of pills, and days heavily laced in utter boredom. Cut off from friends, her children, and work, she began to crumble. As the days melted together, Jackie came to understand the rocky road they traveled was not about what she was doing for him, but what her father was teaching her that would change the trajectory of how she'd continue to live her life in constant gratitude and with a heart filled with enormous love.

The Economy of Promises Bruce G. Carruthers, 2024-08-20 A comprehensive and illuminating account of the history of credit in America and how it continues to divide the haves from the have-nots. The Economy of Promises is a far-reaching study of credit in nineteenth and twentieth-century America. Synthesizing and surveying economic and social history, Bruce Carruthers examines how issues of trust stitch together the modern U.S. economy. In the case of credit, that trust involves a commitment by debtors to repay money they have borrowed from lenders. Each promise poses a fundamental question: why does the lender trust the borrower? The book tracks the dramatic shift from personal qualitative judgments to the impersonal quantitative measurements of credit scores and ratings, which make lending on a much greater scale possible. It discusses how lending is shaped by the shadow of failure and the possibility that borrowers will break their promises and fail to repay their debts. It reveals how credit markets have been shaped by public policy, regulatory changes, and various political factors. And crucially, it explains how credit interacts with economic inequality, contributing to vast and enduring racial and gender differences, which are only exacerbated by the widespread use of credit scores and ratings for big data and algorithmic decision-making. Bringing to life the complicated and abstract terrain of human interaction, we call it the economy. The Economy of Promises is an important study of the tangle of indebtedness that, for better or worse, shapes and defines American lives.

Toward a Homiletical Theology of Promise David Schnasa Jacobsen, 2018-04-17 Promise has a long pedigree in the history of Christian understandings of the gospel. This volume gathers together leading homileticians to consider the breadth of its understanding today in light of the struggle to reconcile God's grace with God's justice. Assuming that promise is a core sense of the gospel, how does this relate to the variety of contexts in which homiletical theology is done? In this final volume in the series, six homileticians from a variety of contexts and perspectives try to move specifically toward a homiletical theology of promise as a way to articulate the central theological gift and task that is preaching the gospel today.
