Plastic Surgery Tales A Look Behind The Face Of The Speciality:

Plastic Surgery Tales Robert N. Cooper, 2004 No Dr Zide you may not inject my son's leg unless you do this chant And for the next minute she chanted Ah booh galla rum das blah blah blah Barry Zide MD New York Every plastic surgeon has some good stories This book is an anthology of some of the anecdotes from surgeons around the world The book is dedicated to one of the great men in plastic surgery Dr Robert Goldwyn As the editor of our journal Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery he has taught commented criticized and opined His biting wit at times drove me to seek out Patty my office manager to share an editorial that simply had me howling with laughter Satire spoof and serious commentary have been used to get his editorial point across This book is therefore designed to honor this intellectual giant of a man in the language stories that he commands All of the contributors are plastic surgeons and all of the stories are true The story of Chu was so moving that the first half dozen times I recounted it to others I was choked up to the point of tears The anecdotes were collected into chapters that were little more than gross categorizations Humor Tragedy Drama and Poignant The ensuing emotional roller coaster afforded a look Behind the Face of the Specialty by reading the stories of the surgeons All proceeds from this book will be donated to the Plastic Surgeons Education Foundation

Are Those Real? Norman Leaf, 2010-04-15 Americans have long been fascinated by the personal lives of Hollywood celebrities and the over hyped magic of plastic surgery In this entertaining memoir Dr Norman Leaf a highly respected plastic surgeon reveals the complex and all too human connection that exists between these two worlds In his thirty five years practicing in Beverly Hills California Leaf has encountered the great and those aspiring to be great seeing them in a different light than the general public This unique perspective contributes to a touching inspiring humorous and eye opening journey into a world few have the opportunity to see close up while debunking the myths and clearing up the misconceptions about plastic surgery Are Those Real is not a kiss and tell memoir With the exception of a few iconic figures Leaf is careful to protect the identities of his patients Sometimes hilarious sometimes heartbreaking Are Those Real paints an intimate portrait of a master surgeon while shining a light into a little known corner of modern culture In this memoir Leaf appeals to biography buffs and illustrates the good bad happy and just plain funny aspects of plastic surgery

The Silicone Breast Implant Story Marsha L. Vanderford, David H. Smith, 2013-11-05 This volume examines one health issue breast implants across a series of contexts often thought to be separate media coverage doctor patient interaction doctor doctor professional communication support group dialogues public relations campaigns and more In so doing it provides a narrative of how communication shapes the individual perceptions of health government and social policy concerning health care At the core of the silicone breast implant controversy is the need for people to act amid uncertainty about the health risks involved This need to weigh action in the midst of uncertain risk characterizes a large number of health issues The attempts of patients physicians drug manufacturers and others to seek and provide both information and influence makes communication central to these issues Consequently the questions explored in this volume will interest a diverse group of readers This audience includes plastic surgeons in particular physicians in general and anyone involved with women s health issues As the medical profession struggles with its identity amid changes in public attitudes government regulations and medical practices this volume s findings concerning media portrayals of doctors and medical devices become even more important Finally this study reveals how interrelated public information and private decisions are and how closely media and interpersonal relationships fit Tracing one medical issue across interpersonal organizational public relations and mediated forums has clearly demonstrated the multiple ways those communication channels overlap and inform one another
