Looking for Work, Searching for Workers Joshua L. Rosenbloom, 2002-03-25 The dynamic character of American industrialization produced imbalances between the supply of and demand for labor across cities and regions This book describes how employers and job seekers responded to these imbalances to create networks of labor market communication and assistance capable of mobilizing the massive redistribution of population that was essential to maintain the rapid pace of the nation's economic growth between the Civil War and World War I It combines a detailed description of the emerging labor market institutions with a careful analysis of a variety of quantitative evidence to assess the broader economic implications for geographic wage convergence and for American economic growth Despite an expansion in the geographic scope of labor markets at this time the evidence suggests that labor market institutions reinforced regional divisions within the United States and left a lasting impact on the evolution of many other aspects of the employment relationship

Moving Millions Jeffrey Kaye, 2010-04-01

On the same day that reporter Jeffrey Kaye visited the Tondo hospital in northwest Manila members of an employees association wearing hospital uniforms rallied in the outside courtyard demanding pay raises The nurses at the hospital took home about 261 a month while in the United States nurses earn on average more than fifteen times that rate of pay No wonder so many of them leave the Philippines Between 2000 and 2007 nearly 78 000 qualified nurses left the Philippines to work abroad but there s more to it than the pull of better wages each year the Philippine president hands out Bagong Bayani modern day heroes awards to the country s outstanding and exemplary migrant workers Migrant labor accounts for the Philippines second largest source of export revenue after electronics and they ship out nurses like another country might export textiles In 2008 the Philippines was one of the top ranking destination countries for remittances alongside India 45 billion China 34 5 billion and Mexico 26 2 billion Nurses in the Philippines farmers in Senegal Dominican factory workers in rural Pennsylvania even Indian software engineers working in California all are pieces of a larger system Kaye calls coyote capitalism Coyote capitalism is the idea practiced by many businesses and governments that people like other natural resources are supplies to be shifted around to meet demand Workers are pushed out pulled in and put on the line without consideration of the consequences for economies communities or individuals With a fresh take on a controversial topic Moving Millions Knocks down myth after myth about why immigrants come to America and what role they play in the economy Challenges the view that immigrants themselves motivate immigration rather than the policies of businesses and governments in both rich and poor nations Finds surprising connections between globalization economic growth and the convoluted immigration debates taking place in America and other industrialized countries Jeffrey Kaye is a freelance journalist and special correspondent for the PBS NewsHour for whom he has reported since 1984 covering immigration housing health care urban politics and other issues What does it all add up to America s approach to importing workers looks from the outside like a patchwork of unnecessary laws and regulations but the machinery of immigration is actually part of a larger global system that satisfies the needs of businesses and governments often at the expense of workers in every nation Drawing on Jeffrey Kaye s travels to places including Mexico the U K the United Arab Emirates the Philippines Poland and Senegal this book a healthy alternative to the obsession with migrants legal status exposes the dark side of globalization and the complicity of businesses and governments to benefit from the migration of millions of workers Wives of Steel Karen Olson,2005 Wives of Steel is based on more than eighty formal interviews conducted over a fifteen year period with women and some men both white and black all of whom were part of Sparrows Point as workers spouses or longtime residents of the local communities Through the stories they tell we see how a male dominated industry has influenced personal family and social experiences over several generations We also see the distinct differences and surprising similarities among the lives of black and white women which often reflect the complicated relationships among black and white steelworkers in the plant Brokering Servitude Andrew Urban,2018 A note on language Introduction Liberating free labor vere foster and assisted Irish emigration to the United States 1850 1865 Humanitarianism s markets brokering the domestic labor of black refugees 1861 1872 Chinese servants and the American colonial imagination domesticity and opposition to restriction 1865 1882 Controlling and protecting white women the state and sentimental forms of coercion 1850 1917 Bonded Chinese servants domestic labor and exclusion 1882 1924 Race and reform domestic service the great migration and European quotas 1891 1924 Epilogue Notes Index About the author
