Miss Pickthorn And Mister Hare:

Miss Pickthorn and Mr. Hare May Sarton, 1966-11 An extended fable about a Latin mistress in retirement with her translations of Horace and a hobo who takes up residence in the henhouse nearby Miss Pickthorn and Mr. Hare May Sarton, 1968 May Sarton Margot Peters, 2011-05-04 The first biography of May Sarton a brilliant revelation of the life and work of a literary figure who influenced her thousands of readers not only by her novels and poetry but by her life and her writings about it May Sarton's career stretched from 1930 early sonnets published in Poetry magazine to 1995 her journal At Eighty Two She wrote more than twenty novels and twenty five books of poems and journals The acclaimed biographer Margot Peters was given full access to Sarton's letters journals and notes and during five years of research came to know Sarton herself the complex woman and artist She gives us a compelling portrait of Sarton the actress the poet the novelist the feminist the writer who struggled for literary acceptance She shows us beneath Sarton's exhilarating irresistible spirit the needy courtier and seducer the woman whose creativity was propelled by the psychic drama she created in others We watch young May at age two as she is abruptly uprooted from her native Belgium by World War I a child ignored both by her mother who was intent on her own artistic vision and reluctant to cope with a child and by her father obsessed with his academic research We see Sarton as a young girl in America and then later at nineteen choosing a life in the theatre landing a job in Eva Le Gallienne's Civic Repertory and gathering what would become a tight knit coterie of friends and lovers Sarton beginning to write poetry and novels Sarton making friends with Elizabeth Bowen and Julian Huxley Erika and Klaus Mann Virginia Woolf the poet H D charming and enlisting them with her work her vitality her hunger for love driven by her need to conquer among her conquests Bowen Huxley and later his wife Juliette We see her intense friendships with literary pals including Muriel Rukeyser her lover and Louise Bogan Sarton's literary sibling who at once encouraged her and excluded her from a world in which Bogan was a central figure We see Sarton begin to create in the spiritual journals that inspired the devotion of readers the image of a strong independent woman who lived peacefully with solitude an image that contradicted the reality of her neediness loneliness and isolation as she pushed away loved ones with her demands and betrayals A fascinating portrait of one of our major literary figures a book that for the first time reveals the life that she herself kept hidden Aging and Identity Sara M. Deats, Lagretta Lenker, 1999-04-30 Viewing artistic works through the lens of both contemporary gerontological theory and postmodernist concepts the contributing scholars examine literary treatments cinematic depictions and artistic portraits of aging from Shakespeare to Hemingway from Horton Foote to Disney from Rembrandt to Alice Neale while also comparing the attitudes toward aging in Native American African American and Anglo American literature The examples demonstrate that long before gerontologists endorsed a Janus faced model of aging artists were celebrating the diversity of the elderly challenging the bio medical equation of senescence with inevitable senility Underlying all of this discussion is the firm conviction that cultural texts construct as well as encode the conventional perceptions of their society that literature the arts and the media not only mirror society's mores but can also help to create and enforce them

Journal of a Solitude May Sarton, 1992-09 The modern American author describes everyday experiences and conveys her feelings of frustration and anger over her attempts to write in solitude Mrs. Stevens Hears the Mermaids Singing May Sarton, 1975 The plot of this short novel is deceptively simple the mood subtle the feeling intense And the music of Miss Sarton's prose leaves compelling echoes in one's mind New York Times Book Review Books and Pamphlets, Including Serials and Contributions to Periodicals Library of Congress. Shadow of a Man May Sarton, 1982 It is the death of Persis Bradford Francis's mother a most unusual woman with an intense feeling for living that starts the son on his road to maturity Grief opens his eyes not only to himself but to Alan Bradford the stepfather he has always disliked A summer in Paris is to Francis a journey of the spirit in which he learns through Solange Bernard to love and finds through love how integrate his mixed heritage and how to make use of it The strange summer partly idyllic partly miserable brings Francis to himself and sends him home to Ann the young woman whom he has never had the courage to love Conversations with May Sarton May Sarton, 1991 With increasing candor and openness May Sarton's conversations have given an intimate view of her honest courageous inner life Best known to her many readers as a novelist and keeper of journals Sarton sees herself pre eminently as a poet In the interviews collected here she speaks forthrightly about herself her independence and her writing Although born in Belgium Sarton is quintessentially American in her choice of solitude on which her personal well being and writing depend She is a modernist who has defined herself as an artist with the occasionally painful recognition that all else must finally be subordinated to her writing Her journal After the Stroke makes clear that when she cannot write she stands on the edge of the abyss of nonbeing These interviews offer Sarton's readers the model of a woman who has supported herself as a writer of achievement who has made her way without the comforts of academic tenure grants or bestseller listings
