Missing Connection Between Business And Universities:

The Missing Connection Between Business and the Universities Ernest Albert Lynton, 1984 Resources in Education, 1998 Expanding Literacies Mary Sue Garay, Stephen A. Bernhardt, 1998-01-01 Examines the escalating literacy demands of the new workplace and makes suggestions for reshaping traditional English classes to better equip students with new skills to meet these needs The New Schoolhouse Mary-Ellen Boyle, 2001-07-30 This unique book describes literacy programs that take place in contemporary workplaces and explores their consequences for the employees especially the managers the organizations and society as a whole Employing a critical sociological perspective Boyle argues that literacy education in the workplace has as much to do with organizational legitimacy and managerial ideology as with illiterate workers Her analysis reveals that such programs can be understood as having a range of consequences Not only do they increase skills these programs improve work attitudes and show employer beneficence They also assimilate immigrants assure retention and stability at the lowest organizational level legitimize competitive strategy based on investment in human resources privatize a neglected public good and allow middle managers to maintain their position in the hierarchy among other things As a result she suggests that employer sponsored literacy programs have the effect of perpetuating the inequities experienced by those at the bottom of the organizational chart despite the rhetoric of egalitarianism and opportunity that typically accompanies educational endeavors Through the example of workplace literacy programs Boyle debunks the commonplace assumption that education is an unmitigated good and addresses fears of corporate co optation The phenomenon of employer sponsored education is revealed to be complex and contradictory with consequences that extend beyond the classroom walls Economic inequities are exacerbated by such programs and the social problems associated with illiteracy are not alleviated By exploring the boundary blurring that occurs when market organizations become involved with non market ideas and practices when public and private sector responsibilities shift and when the workplace becomes the new schoolhouse Boyle illuminates the complexities involved at organizational individual and societal levels The World Yearbook of Education 1996 Robert Cowen, 2012-12-06 This annual summary of educational policies and practices worldwide includes discussion of multi skills and flexibility school work links qualifications and education for skills versus education for status Post-secondary Education Institute for Research on Public Policy, 1990 This document contains the colloquium papers which address the following topics the challenge of change coordination versus decentralisation governance and accountability open and distance education and private sector participation It also contains the Lloyds Bank Lecture on education for life and work in the 1990s Understanding And Facilitating Adult Learning Brookfield, Stephen, 1986-06-01 This book provides a critical examination of the myths surrounding adult education and its practice The Cost-effectiveness of National Training Systems in Developing Countries Christopher Dougherty, 1989 Business and Society Danica Purg, Alenka Braček Lalić, Jennifer A. Pope, 2018-06-26 The world of business is constantly evolving and management education institutions will likely face a number of challenges in keeping up with these changes While most books focus on the needs of management education institutions this work addresses the needs of the corporate world in the era of the Fourth Industrial Revolution Featuring an extensive research study spanning 11 countries it offers a unique perspective on the business challenges and developmental needs of companies in emerging and recently emerged economies and on the missing links between those needs and management education Using both company specific and country level data the book provides businesses and educators with rare insights and recommendations on strengthening existing partnerships or establishing them anew between management education institutions and the corporate sector in order to make management education relevant for the 21st century The book argues that relevance should take the center stage of all higher education institutions in order to accomplish their third mission namely service to society This is especially important for management education institutions whose mission is to mold future managers and leaders who can have a significant influence on economic success and the wellbeing of society
