Lawrence, 2013-09-16 During the first half of the twentieth century movements seeking political equality emerged in France's overseas territories Within twenty years they were replaced by movements for national independence in the majority of French colonies protectorates and mandates In this pathbreaking study of the decolonization era Adria Lawrence asks why elites in French colonies shifted from demands for egalitarian and democratic reforms to calls for independent statehood and why mass mobilization for independence emerged where and when it did Lawrence shows that nationalist discourses became dominant as a consequence of the failure of the reform agenda Where political rights were granted colonial subjects opted for further integration and reform Contrary to conventional accounts nationalism was not the only or even the primary form of anti colonialism Lawrence shows further that mass nationalist protest occurred only when and where French authority was disrupted Imperial crises were the cause not the result of mass protest Southwest France, 2003 Complemented by travel advice maps accommodation listings and site descriptions a collection of essays and articles on the region of southwestern France by noted authors travel writers and journalists is organized thematically under such headings as Current Events Food and Drink and Museums and Monuments Original 15 000 first printing

Postcolonial Subjects Mary Jean Matthews Green,1996 Paradise Past Robert W. Kirk,2012-11-07 In the 400 years from Magellan's entrance into Pacific waters to 1920 the lives of the people of the South Pacific were utterly transformed Exotic diseases from Europe and America particularly the worldwide influenza pandemic were deadly for islanders Ardent missionaries changed the belief systems and lives of nearly all Polynesians Aborigines and those Papuans and Melanesians living in areas accessible to westerners By 1920 every island and atoll in the South Seas had been claimed as a colony or protectorate of a power such as Britain France or the United States Factors aiding this imperial sweep included European outposts such as Sydney advances in maritime technology the work of missionaries a desire to profit from the area s relatively sparse resources and international rivalry that led to the scramble for colonies The coming of westerners as this book points out was not entirely negative as head hunting cannibalism chronic warfare human sacrifice and other practices were diminished but whole cultures were irreversibly changed or even eradicated From Fetish to Subject Carole Sweeney, 2004-10-30 Was modern primitivism complicit with the ideologies of colonialism or was it a multivalent encounter with difference Examining race and modernism through a wider and more historically contextualized study Sweeney brings together a variety of published and new scholarship to expand the discussion on the links between modernism and primitivism Tracing the path from Dada and Surrealism to Josephine Baker and Nancy Cunard's Negro An Anthology she shows the development of n grophilie from the interest in black cultural forms in the early 1920s to a more serious engagement with difference and representations in the 1930s Considering modernism race and colonialism simultaneously this work breaks from traditional boundaries of disciplines or geographic areas Why was the primitive so popular in this era Sweeney shows how high popular and mass cultural contexts constructed primitivism and how black diasporic groups in Paris challenged this construction Included is research from original archival material from black diasporic publications in Paris examining their challenges to primitivism in French literature and state sponsored exoticism The transatlantic movement of modernism and primitivism also is part of this broad comparative study Cinema, Colonialism, Postcolonialism Dina Sherzer, 2010-07-05 In this first major study of French colonial and postcolonial cinema Dina Sherzer compiles essays by some of the foremost scholars on the subject who interrogate and analyze the realities behind the images of the nation's past and present Through an examination of France and its colonies multiethnic contemporary France and cinematic discourses which have been and are being produced about France's colonial past these authors explore how the images relay underlying assumptions and their relation to historical and political facts A variety of subjects and viewpoints inform these studies which cover the entire range of films on that topic The authors expound upon the role French and Francophone films are currently playing in reconstructing and imagining France's colonial past Not only do the essays examine how French cinema has represented the encounter of French citizens with individuals from former colonies during the colonial era they examine how French cinema has portrayed and has come to terms with the immigration of former colonial subjects to France In addition the book features another postcolonial facet by analyzing films of directors from the former colonies who give their own representation of colonialism and presentation of their culture This study is a major contribution to postcolonial research Race gender and geography are central themes throughout this book that presents innovative material that contributes to the history of French cinema and emphasizes how cinema participates in and is a part of national culture Au Contraire! These adaptations occur not in spite of French economic and political control but rather because of it Powered by the essential tensions of maintaining French and Creole identities the practice of creole economics provides both assertion of and refuge from the difficulties of being dark skinned and French This powerful ethnographic study shows how local economic meanings and plural identities help explain work off the books Like creole language and music creole economics expresses an irreducibly complex blend of
