Mmr And Autism:

MMR and Autism Michael Fitzpatrick, 2004-08-02 The MMR controversy has been characterized by two one sided discourses In the medical world the weight of opinion is overwhelmingly in favour of MMR In the public world the anti MMR campaign has a much greater influence centred on the fears of parents that the triple vaccine may cause autism in their children Both professionals and parents struggle to cope with the anxieties this creates but find it difficult to find a balanced account of the issues In MMR and Autism Michael Fitzpatrick a general practitioner who is also the parent of an autistic child explains why he believes the anti MMR campaign is misguided in a way that will reassure parents considering vaccination and also relieve the anxieties of parents of autistic children At the same time this informative book provides health care professionals and health studies students with an accessible overview of a contemporary health issue with significant policy implications

Immunization Safety Review Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Promotion and Disease Prevention, Immunization Safety Review Committee, 2003-11-26 The Immunization Safety Review Committee was established by the Institute of Medicine IOM to evaluate the evidence on possible causal associations between immunizations and certain adverse outcomes and to then present conclusions and recommendations The committee's mandate also includes assessing the broader societal significance of these immunization safety issues While all the committee members share the view that immunization is generally beneficial none of them has a vested interest in the specific immunization safety issues that come before the group The committee reviews three immunization safety review topics each year addressing each one at a time In this fifth report in a series the committee examines the hypothesis that exposure to polio vaccine contaminated with simian virus 40 SV40 a virus that causes inapparent infection in some monkeys can cause certain types of cancer

Immunization Safety Review Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Promotion and Disease Prevention, Immunization Safety Review Committee, 2004-09-30 This eighth and final report of the Immunization Safety Review Committee examines the hypothesis that vaccines specifically the measles mumps rubella MMR vaccine and thimerosal containing vaccines are causally associated with autism The committee reviewed the extant published and unpublished epidemiological studies regarding causality and studies of potential biologic mechanisms by which these immunizations might cause autism Immunization Safety Review Vaccines and Autism finds that the body of epidemiological evidence favors rejection of a causal relationship between thimerosal containing vaccines and autism The book further finds that potential biological mechanisms for vaccine induced autism that have been generated to date are only theoretical It recommends a public health response that fully supports an array of vaccine safety activities and recommends that available funding for autism research be channeled to the most promising areas The book makes additional recommendations regarding surveillance and epidemiological research clinical studies and communication related to these vaccine safety concerns

Health, Risk and News Tammy Boyce, 2007 The controversy surrounding the measles mumps and rubella MMR vaccine and autism has raised unprecedented questions about the communication of health and science Health Risk and News The MMR Vaccine and the Media examines how this story came to be so influential and asks if the media are to blame for unduly panicking the public Drawing on comprehensive research on media coverage interviews with a range of journalists and sources and analysis of audience opinion this book explores how medical controversies are covered with attention to issues of balance and objectivity expertise news values risk and media effects It will be of interest to students and scholars of media studies journalists and health professionals

Safety Review Committee,Board on Health Promotion and Disease Prevention,Institute Of Medicine,2001-06-15

Immunization is widely regarded as one of the most effective and beneficial tools for protecting the public s health In the United States immunization programs have resulted in the eradication of smallpox the elimination of polio and the control and near elimination of once common often debilitating and potentially life threatening diseases including measles mumps rubella diphtheria pertussis tetanus and Haemophilus influenza type b Along with the benefits of widespread immunization however have come concerns about the safety of vaccines No vaccine is perfectly safe or effective and vaccines may lead to serious adverse effects in some instances Furthermore if a serious illness is observed after vaccination it is often unclear whether that sequence is coincidental or causal and it can be difficult to determine the true nature of the relationship if any between the vaccination and the illness Ironically the successes of vaccine coverage in the United States have made it more difficult for the public to weigh the benefits and complications of vaccines because the now controlled diseases and their often serious risks are no longer familiar However because vaccines are so widely used and because state laws require that children be vaccinated before entering daycare and school in part to protect others it is essential that safety concerns be fully and carefully studied Immunization Safety Review Measles Mumps Rubella Vaccine and Autism the first of a series from the Institute of Medicine IOM Immunization Safety Review Committee presents an assessment of the evidence regarding a hypothesized causal association between the measles mumps rubella MMR vaccine and autism an assessment of the broader significance for society of the issues surrounding the MMR autism hypothesis and the committee s conclusions and recommendations based on those assessments      Autism's False Prophets Paul A.
