knowledge of several different disciplines such as electronics data processing telecommunications and networks Without detailing all aspects of electronics circuit design and computer architecture related to the design of embedded systems this book written by expert specialists in electronics data processing and telecommunications and networks gives important insights into the communication techniques and problems encountered in embedded systems The book focuses on applications in the area of telecommunications and networks because the vast majority of embedded systems are deployed in communications systems and equipment and it therefore makes an excellent field wide case study

Engineering Self-Organising Systems Giovanna Di Marzo Serugendo, Anthony Karageorgos, Omer F. Rana, Franco Zambonelli, 2004-05-06

As information handling systems get more and more complex it becomes increasingly difficult to manage them using traditional approaches based on centralized and pre defined control mechanisms Over recent years there has been a significant increase in taking inspiration from biology the physical world chemistry and social systems to more efficiently manage such systems generally based on the concept of self organisation this gave rise to self organising applications This book constitutes a reference and starting point for establishing the field of engineering self organising applications It comprises revised and extended papers presented at the Engineering Self Organising Applications Workshop ESOA 2003 held at AAMAS 2003 in Melbourne Australia in July 2003 and selected invited papers from leading researchers in self organisation The book is organized in parts on applications natural metaphors multi cells and genetic algorithms stigmergy and atoms and evolution artificial interaction mechanisms middleware and methods and tools

Service Assurance with Partial and Intermittent Resources Petre Dini, Pascal Lorenz, José Neuman De Souza, 2004-09-09

The 1st Workshop on Service Assurance with Partial and Intermittent Resources SAPIR 2004 was the first event in a series introducing the concept of pi resources and bridging it with the emerging and important field of distributed and heavily shared resources The topics concerning this event are driven by a paradigm shift occurring in the last decade in telecommunications and networking considering partial and intermittent resources pi resources The Internet converged networks delay tolerant networks ad hoc networking GRID supporting networks and satellite communications require a management paradigm shift that takes into account the partial and intermittent availability of resources including infrastructure networks computing and storage and service components in distributed and shared environments A resource is called partial p resource when only a subset of conditions for it to function to complete specification is met yet it is still able to provide a potentially degraded service while an intermittent or sporadic resource i resource will be able to provide a service for limited and potentially unpredictable time intervals only Partial and intermittent services are relevant in environments characterized by high volatility and fluctuation of available resources such as those experienced in conjunction with component mobility or ad hoc networking where the notion of traditional service guarantees is no longer applicable Other characteristics such as large transmission delays and storage mechanisms during the routing require a rethinking of today s paradigms with regards to service assurance and how service
