Premiers In Profile The Good The Bad And The Transient:

Let the Eastern Bastards Freeze in the Dark Mary Janigan,2013-08-27 The first big book on one of the most overlooked episodes in Canadian history and the origin of today's greatest national debate Let the Eastern Bastards Freeze in the Dark relives the 1918 attempt by 3 premiers to wrest control of their natural resources away from Ottawa and end their role as second class provinces The oil sands Global warming The National Energy Program Though these seem like modern Canadian subjects Mary Janigan reveals them to be a legacy of longstanding regional rivalry Something of a Third Solitude since entering Confederation the West has long been overshadowed by Canada's other great national debate But as the conflict over natural resources and their effect on climate change heats up 150 years of antipathy are coming to a head Janigan takes readers back to a pivotal moment in 1918 when Canada's western premiers descended on Ottawa determined to control their own future and as Margaret MacMillan did in Paris 1919 she deftly illustrates how the results reverberate to this day

A New Westminster Album Gavin Hainsworth,Katherine Freund-Hainsworth,2005-09-17 From prospectors to politicians promoters to profiteers New Westminster's known them all It is Western Canada's oldest city aptly named by Queen Victoria as the first capital of the new colony of British Columbia On the mighty Fraser River it has survived gold rushes loss of capital status fire flood the Depression and two world wars This collection of illuminating black and white photographs artwork and text shows how its tenacious citizens have thrived It follows the city's festivals traditions organizations people and neighbourhoods The city has both witnessed and been the centre of the fascinating events that shaped B C This multifaceted photographic history album depicts almost 150 years of the City of New Westminster

Scandal!!! William Rayner,2001 Lotus Land's scandals of the past 130 years may seem to be all about money but there's also been sex corruption staggering incompetence and outright lies Jump aboard as veteran political junkie William Rayner explores BC's scandal ridden history Read about the comely juror and the murder suspect the two politicians who fell in love on the job the crooked cops the scam artists the double talking bureaucrats and above all the fast ferries from hell Head On! R. G. Harvey,2004 In a province where mountain ranges are at odds with road and rail builders and its capital city and a large portion of its population are on an island it's no surprise that provision of an effective transportation system has been a challenging undertaking or that mistakes have been made In many cases BC's political leaders not only didn't solve problems they added to them And many of the mistakes made resulted from premiers exploiting their time in office to further their own political preferences theories and agendas This insider's examination looks at premiers errors and exploitations along with their triumphs and achievements from the first days of the provincial government Whether it be trouble with bridges premiers Prior and Pattullo railways McBride and Bennett or ferries Clark R G Harvey calls it like he sees it The Wired Northwest Paul W. Hirt,2012-10-18 The Pacific Northwest holds an abundance of resources for energy production from hydroelectric power to coal nuclear power wind turbines and even solar panels But hydropower is king Dams on the

Columbia Snake Fraser Kootenay and dozens of other rivers provided the foundation for an expanding regionally integrated power system in the U S Northwest and British Columbia A broad historical synthesis chronicling the region s first century of electrification Paul Hirt s new study reveals how the region s citizens struggled to build a power system that was technologically efficient financially profitable and socially and environmentally responsible Hirt shows that every energy source comes with its share of costs and benefits Because Northwest energy development meant river development the electric power industry collided with the salmon fishing industry and the treaty rights of Northwest indigenous peoples from the 1890s to the present Because U S federal agencies like the Army Corps of Engineers and the U S Bureau of Reclamation built many of the large dams in the region a significant portion of the power supply is publicly owned initiating contentious debates over how that power should best serve the citizens of the region Hirt dissects these ongoing battles evaluating the successes and failures of regional efforts to craft an efficient yet socially just power system Focusing on the dynamics of problem solving governance and the tense relationship between profit seeking and the public interest Hirt s narrative takes in a wide range of players not only on the consumer side where electricity transformed mills mines households commercial districts urban transit factories and farms but also power companies operating at the local and regional level and investment companies that financed and in some cases parasitized the operators His study also straddles the international border It is the first book to compare energy development in the U S Northwest and British Columbia Both engaging and balanced in its treatment of all the actors on this expansive stage The Wired Northwest helps us better understand the challenges of the twenty first century as we try to learn from past mistakes and re design an energy grid for a more sustainable future 35

Accords Tony Penikett, John Calvert, 2025-06-23 What does a cash strapped government do when the collective agreements for almost a quarter million of its unionized employees expire simultaneously while wishing to maintain a respectful relationship with its labour supporters In 1997 the Premier of British Columbia BC Canada Glen Clark thought of an imaginative solution It was to offer unions an opportunity to participate with the government in developing policies on issues affecting their members and the services they provide This was BC s public sector policy Accord process The goal was to establish a different more collaborative relationship with unions one in which they had a voice in shaping policy solutions This parallel process entirely separate from collective bargaining would also avoid the adversarial relationship that so often characterizes a government s relations with its unions by recognizing the positive role unions and their members could play in contributing to improving BC s public programs and services The authors who worked on the Accord process with Premier Clark provide an insider s story of the intensive three year period during which the parties negotiated 35 policy accords across the entire provincial public sector The Accords covered a wide range of issues including pension trusteeship and portability early retirement provincial school class size benefits trusts government procurement policy hospital laboratory services workforce training pay equity creation of a health and safety agency and numerous smaller policy fixes The accord process demonstrated that it was possible for a government to initiate a new and more collaborative relationship with its unions by inviting them into the policy process The accords definitely improved relations with the government and contributed to collective bargaining settlements within the government's money mandate *Canadian Books in Print.
