typically encountered problems This results from numerous different conditions and principles involved in a problem that leads to many possible different solution methods To prescribe a set of rules for each of the possible variations would involve an enormous number of additional steps making this task more burdensome than solving the problem directly due to the expectation of much trial and error Current textbooks normally explain a given principle in a few pages written by an electronics professional who has insight into the subject matter not shared by others These explanations are often written in an abstract manner that causes confusion as to the principle s use and application Explanations then are often not sufficiently detailed or extensive enough to make the reader aware of the wide range of applications and different aspects of the principle being studied The numerous possible variations of principles and their applications are usually not discussed and it is left to the reader to discover this while doing exercises Accordingly the average student is expected to rediscover that which has long been established and practiced but not always published or adequately explained The examples typically following the explanation of a topic are too few in number and too simple to enable the student to obtain a thorough grasp of the involved principles The explanations do not provide sufficient basis to solve pro High School Pre-Calculus Tutor The Editors of REA,2013-01-01 Specifically designed to meet the needs of high school students REA s High School Pre Calculus Tutor presents hundreds of solved problems with step by step and detailed solutions Almost any imaginable problem that might be assigned for homework or given on an exam is covered Topics include algebraic laws and operations coordinate system relations linear functions sequences series graphing limits and applications A valuable study aid for students taking upper level mathematics courses Fully indexed for locating specific problems rapidly Naval Training Bulletin ,1968
