Preparing Your Child For School

A Guide For Parents and Carers

The period before a child starts school for the first time can be an anxious time for parents. We have put together the following information as a simple guide to show you can best prepare your child for this exciting time in their lives.

Communication and Language

Many parents and carers worry if their child will be able to tell the teacher if they need something or if they will make friends. Good communication skills support these abilities.

Your child may be starting school with short-hand communication difficulties, or you may have concerns that have not yet been addressed. Talk to your child's new class teacher early on about any concerns that you may have and they will be able to advise the best course of action.

We know that parents and carers can have a huge impact on their child's talking and listening development and the summer is a perfect time for trying out simple language learning activities.

Following Instructions

Classroom instructions often contain several parts for children to remember. A simple game of 'Simon Says' during play can improve the summer recall really help. Give your child an instruction to do, the 'Simon says' and your finger on your nose and see if they can follow your instruction. The game becomes more difficult as they are only supposed to follow your instructions if you start the sentence with 'Simon says'. Can your child listen carefully and only follow the instructions when directed? The game can be made more challenging by adding extra instructions with two or three steps. For example, 'Simon says touch your nose, then clap your hands and then put on your hands on your head'.

Following Instructions

At school, children will be expected to start extending their vocabulary, so it is a good idea to encourage your child to learn and use new words. You could play word games after getting a bedtime story. This is a good way to help your child's vocabulary which is important for reading/writing. There can be school into different jobs, such as cooking, hair and things for making stories.

Follow 'Simon Says' with action. Following

Reading and Writing

Teachers do not expect children to know that alphabet or be able to write sentences when they start school. A good foundation in word awareness skills, such as rhyming and identifying what sound a word begins with would be helpful. Rhyming songs and books is a really good way to support this. You could also say the sounds that letters make, along with their names as you come across them day to day.

A good foundation in being able to write is to develop your child's fine motor skills. This is because good fine motor skills enable a child to hold a pencil firmly as they are writing. There are many resources that could support the development of this skill as the teacher will be able to support this. Rhyming is a good way to develop fine motor skills, whether it is with books or letters, or making necklaces out of beads. Rhyming words around a cardboard template or strips of card through each other can also offer simple activities that you could do at home.

Listening and Attention Skills

Your child will be given many spoken instructions throughout the school day and will need to be able to put their attention from what they are doing to listening to what the teacher is saying.

A lovely activity to promote this is to go on a 'listening walk' where your child listens for all the sounds around them in the park or local centre. You could also do this at home by making your child listen and talk about their back at home to read the journey based on the sounds they hear.

Mathematical Skills

Counting

Being able to count is a skill that is useful in many ways. It is a good idea to encourage your child to learn and use new words. You could play word games after getting a bedtime story. This is a good way to help your child's vocabulary which is important for reading/writing. There can be school into different jobs, such as cooking, hair and things for making stories.
