Woznicki, 2013-12-24 The New American Poetry Fifty Years Later is a collection of critical essays on Donald Allen's 1960 seminal anthology The New American Poetry an anthology that Marjorie Perloff once called the fountainhead of radical American poetics The New American Poetry is referred to in every literary history of post World War II American poetry Allen's anthology has reached its fiftieth anniversary providing a unique time for reflection and reevaluation of this preeminent collection As we know Allen's anthology was groundbreaking it was the first to distribute widely the poetry and theoretical positions of poets such as Charles Olson Allen Ginsberg and the Beats and it was the first to categorize these poets by the schools Black Mountain New York School San Francisco Renaissance and the Beats by which they are known today Over the course of fifty years this categorization of poets into schools has become one of the major if not only way that The New American Poetry is remembered or valued one certain goal of this volume as one reviewer invites is to pry The New American Poetry out from the hoary platitudes that have encrusted it To this point critics mostly have examined The New American Poetry as an anthology former treatments of The New American Poetry look at it intently as a whole Though the almost singularly focused study of its construction and less often reception has lent a great deal of documented highly visible and debated material in which to consider we have been left with certain notions about its relevance that have become imbued ultimately in the collective critical consciousness of postmodernity This volume however goes beyond the analysis of construction and reception and achieves something distinctive extending those former treatments by treading on the paths they create This volume aims to discover another sense of radical that Perloff articulated rather than a radical that departs markedly from the usual we invite consideration of The New American Poetry that is radical in the sense of root of harboring something fundamental something inherent as we uncover and trace further elements correlated with its widespread influence over the last fifty years

Porter, Wendy J. Porter, 2025-02-19 We live in a secular age or so we have been told Nevertheless the Christian church strongly believes that we still experience and in fact are surrounded by acts of transcendence encounters with God that often defy imagination and explanation And yet we do try to explain such phenomena whether theologically experientially biblically historically philosophically literarily or even or especially artistically These two volumes are more than just papers from a major conference on secularism and the pursuit of transcendence held at McMaster Divinity College in Hamilton Ontario They contain genuine attempts by people deeply engaged with their secular surroundings to explain what we mean by transcendence Transcendence has been a longstanding topic among the best thinkers of this and previous ages and the same is true for these volumes which include contributions by Charles Taylor Robert Wuthnow Merold Westphal and Christina Gschwandtner but also by a wide range of others who address the question from divergent vantage points The responses vary as much as the orientations of those involved in the pursuit of defining not only what it means to live in our secular age but to be involved in the pursuit of transcendence or even to perceive the Transcendent s pursuit of us Twayne's World Authors Series ,1974 Ezra Pound and Europe Richard A. Taylor, Claus Melchior, 2023-10-16 The papers included were selected from those given at the 14th international Ezra Pound Conference held at Brunnenburg Tirolo di Merano 16 18 July 1991 The guiding principle for organizing the volume was thematic coherence and quality of thought as well as presentation The articles are gathered under five headings General Impressions Traditional Affiliations Contemporary Connections Constructing Continuities and Specific Texts The exhibitions accompanying the conference are represented and Pound s involvement with Europe is reflected in studies of his relationship with traditional authors as well as his contemporaries Larger considerations and analysis is offered in Section Four and Cathay Cantos LXXIII and Drafts and Fragments are given individual attention In the House of Rising Sounds Stephen Copeland, 2023-05-15 Ancient Celts saw thin places where heaven and earth came strangely close to touching Stephen Copeland experienced something similar when his mentor took him to the Double Door Inn an historic hole in the wall blues venue in Charlotte North Carolina This unassuming place invited Copeland further into a spiritual journey that calls out to each of us to open our senses and tune our ears to thin places all around to become aware of sacred spaces in everyday places When Copeland learned the half century old Double Door Inn would be tragically closing he made the old white house of sound his home during its final year What do thin places teach us about ourselves What do they teach us about reality itself And what do we do when they re gone Copeland s soul searching journey with the Double Door as his guide will help readers become more present and attentive to the thinness of reality as we walk with our feet on the ground and our soul in the stars
