Japan on Display Morris Low, 2006-09-27 Sixty years on from the end of the Pacific War Japan on Display examines representations of the Meiji emperor Mutsuhito 1852 1912 and his grandson the Showa emperor Hirohito who was regarded as a symbol of the nation in both war and peacetime Much of this representation was aided by the phenomenon of photography The introduction and development of photography in the nineteenth century coincided with the need to make Hirohito s grandfather the young Meiji Emperor more visible Photo books and albums became a popular format for presenting seemingly objective images of the monarch reminding the Japanese of their proximity to the Emperor and the imperial family In the twentieth century these national albums provided a visual record of wars fought in the name of the Emperor while also documenting the reconstruction of Tokyo scientific expeditions and imperial tours Drawing on archival documents photographs and sources in both Japanese and English this book throws new light on the history of twentieth century Japan and the central role of Hirohito With Japan s defeat in the Pacific War the Emperor was transformed from wartime leader to peace loving scientist Japan on Display seeks to understand this reinvention of a more human Emperor and the role that photography played in the process

Militarism and Foreign Policy in Japan E Causton, 2010-11-01 The Manchurian Incident of 1931 led to a Japanese occupation the birth of Manchoukuo and the withdrawal of Japan from the League of Nations At the time it seemed as if the army and navy were exerting a supreme influence This volume points out that this influence is not new and that there are strong reasons for its existence and continuance It shows how it is fostered by the peculiar political structure of the country and how though often unintelligible to Europeans it may be understood and accounted for in the light of the historical and political background of Japan

Japanese Cinema and Otherness Mika Ko, 2013-05-13 Over the last 20 years ethnic minority groups have been increasingly featured in Japanese Films However the way these groups are presented has not been a subject of investigation This study examines the representation of so called Others foreigners ethnic minorities and Okinawans in Japanese cinema By combining textual and contextual analysis this book analyses the narrative and visual style of films of contemporary Japanese cinema in relation to their social and historical context of production and reception Mika Ko considers the ways in which multicultural sentiments have emerged in contemporary Japanese cinema In this respect Japanese films may be seen not simply to have reflected more general trends within Japanese society but to have played an active role in constructing and communicating different versions of multiculturalism In particular the book is concerned with how representations of otherness in contemporary Japanese cinema may be identified as reinforcing or subverting dominant discourses of Japaneseness the author book also illuminates the ways in which Japanese films have engaged in the dramatisation and elaboration of ideas and attitudes surrounding contemporary Japanese nationalism and multiculturalism By locating contemporary Japanese cinema in a social and political context Japanese Cinema and Otherness makes an original contribution to scholarship on Japanese film study but also to bridging the gap between Japanese studies and film studies

Modern Japan W. G. Beasley, 2021-12-19 Originally published in 1975 much of Western scholarly writing on Japan had in recent years concerned the study of modernisation The papers in this volume which were prepared by leading specialists from Europe and Israel concentrate on the problems arising from modernisation rather than on an analysis of the process itself The historical papers deal with various aspects of the political and international tensions that link modernisation to Japanese expansion and the Second World War the civil war of 1868 early newspapers and nationalist opinion the Washington Conference politics in the 1930s the bombing of Japan in 1945 Those on literature examine some related themes concerning national attitudes as expressed in drama and the novel especially in the context of the relationship of modern ideas and institutions to traditional culture and society Similar questions are raised by the discussion of new post war religions as well as in papers on the use of leisure and on industrial relations in contemporary Japan Finally there are two contributions dealing with the economic consequences of the industrial miracle that has marked the latest phase of modernisation one on balance of payments difficulties and one on current plans to deal with the problems of urban growth Many of these papers present the results of hitherto unpublished research of great importance to students of modern Japan
