Cattle Housing Systems, Lameness and Behaviour H.K. Wierenga,D.J. Peterse,1987-03-31 Proceedings of a Seminar held in Brussels on June 3 4 1986 at the Commission of the European Communities      Helminth Zoonoses Stanny Geerts,V. Kumar,J. Brandt,1987-06-30 In spite of the availability of modern broad spectrum anthelmintic drugs the prevention and control of helminth zoonoses remain a challenge to human and veterinary parasitologists and to physicians and veterinarians working on the field Although the life cycles of most helminths of zoonotic importance are well known there are still major gaps in our knowledge especially in the fields of epidemiology diagnosis and treatment The International Colloquium on Helminth Zoonoses held at the Institute of Tropical Medicine Antwerp 11 12 December 1986 laid emphasis on more recent advances made in the control and epidemiology of these zoonotic diseases The disease complexes echinococcosis hydatidosis taeniasis cysticercosis and the larva migrans syndrome were dealt with in considerable detail In the first chapter the phenomenon of strain variation in Echinococcus spp is examined in the light of newer findings The progress made in recent years towards a more specific diagnosis and drug targeting in hydatidosis is reported In the second chapter recent advances in immunisation and treatment of cysticercosis are dealt with The possibility of the existence of strain differences in Taenia saginata is also discussed The third chapter is devoted to trematode zoonoses with particular reference to the situation in South east Asia Senegal schistosomiasis and Liberia paragonimiasis In the last chapter the larva migrans syndrome is treated in detail with special attention to its etiology and diagnosis Reports on lesser known nematode zoonoses like mammomonosomiasis and oesophagostomiasis are included

Physiological and Pharmacological Aspects of the Reticulo-Rumen L.A.A. Ooms, A.D. Degryse, A.S.J.P.A.M. van Miert, 2012-12-06 The success of a scientific workshop depends on a delicate blend of many types of ingredients Most important is to select a provocative topic which is at the forefront of a current investigative study Coupled together with a relatively small but distinguished group of active research scientists known for their continued record of contributing significant findings one has the firm foundation for an exciting and rewarding investment of time and effort This was the setting for the first workshop organized by the European Association for Veterinary Pharmacology and Toxicology Ruminants have been domesticated for many centuries and have served mankind as a source of dairy products meat wool and power The ruminant stomach has long been and still is a major concern for physiologists pathologists clinicians and pharmacologists This workshop was organized and convened in an attempt to strengthen the basic science of the ruminant stomach as it applies to an economically important group of mammals To achieve this various topics were covered by specialists which ensured presentation of new data followed by discussions In this book reviews are presented on the different topics motility control and regulation neurotransmitters and endogenous substances involved flow of digesta comparative aspects role of content and metabolites food intake rumen metabolism chemical manipulation metabolism of xenobiotics and drugs pharmacology of forestomach motility and the reticulo rumen as a pharmacokinetic compartment

Energy Metabolism in Farm Animals M.W. Verstegen, A.M. Henken, 2012-12-06 Animal production systems have changed dramatically over the last two decades Knowledge of energy metabolism and environmental physiology has increased as appears from many textbooks on these disciplines The contents of the symposia on energy metabolism of farm animals show this and they have initially focussed on feed evaluation and later on comparative aspects of energy metabolism They show part of the progress being made Application of knowledge of energy metabolism for animals has a long history since Lavoisier In addition to this studies about the environmental requirements of animals have shown that we are still far from accurate assessment of these requirements in terms of nutrients and energy. In model studies on energy metabolism researchers have recognized the interaction between the environment and the energy requirements of animals. Estimation of energy requirements has been done in physiological, physical and behavioural studies. The impact of conditions as encountered by animals in various production systems has been approached from different viewpoints related to these different disciplines. In addition various kinds of infections, bacterial, parasitic, subclinical, clinical have been evaluated only recently with regard to their effect on protein and/or energy metabolism and thus on production. People working in the field of feed evaluation have defined how chemical and physical properties of nutrition influence energy to be derived for maintenance and production.

Diagnostic Ultrasound and Animal Reproduction M.A.M. Taverne, A.H. Willemse, 2013-06-29 The use of ultrasonic imaging techniques for diagnostic purposes in veterinary medicine and animal science has lagged far behind their use in human medicine. In the area of domestic animal reproduction diagnostic ultrasonography has a relatively short history. Reports on B mode scanning first appeared as late as 1969 when Stouffer and co-workers used it for counting foetal numbers in late gestation sheep. After Lindahl had re-evaluated the potential of two-dimensional ultrasonography for pregnancy diagnosis in sheep in 1976 results of the first large scale field trials by Fowler and Wilkins on predicting foetal numbers during the first half of gestation in sheep were published as recently as 1980. In this year also the first paper by Palmer and co-workers on ultrasonic scanning of the uterus and ovaries in the mare appeared. The improvement of diagnostics which was achieved by the application of this technique is illustrated by its present routine use in clinical equine practice and sheep breeding. Besides offering an accurate early pregnancy diagnosis in species such as the horse, cow, sheep, goat, pig and dog, ultrasonography enables the visualization of ovarian and uterine structures for the identification of both physiological and pathological conditions. In this way it replaces or supplements the more common diagnostic techniques used by the general practitioner so far. Ultrasonography has also opened several new lines of research for clinicians and research workers.

Acute Virus Infections of Poultry J.B. McFerran, M.S. McNulty, 2012-12-06 This book is based on the proceedings of a seminar on acute viral infections of poultry which was held in Brussels on 13-14 June 1985. The aim of the seminar which was sponsored by the CEC was to gather information on those infections of immediate or increasing importance. It is hoped that dissemination of this information will make it easier to harmonize diagnostic and control measures throughout the member states of the EEC. Several points emerge from recent outbreaks of highly pathogenic avian influenza. In view of the apparent change in pathogenicity of the virus involved in the outbreak in the USA infections of domestic poultry particularly with H5 and H7 subtypes should be regarded as a potential threat even if the viruses involved are of low pathogenicity. The reasons for the amount of lateral spread which occurred in the USA outbreak are still not clear and it can not be assumed that future outbreaks of highly pathogenic avian influenza will tend to be self-limiting as in the past. The importance of denying access of wild birds particularly water fowl to domestic poultry needs to be re-emphasised.

Lastly there appears to be increasing support for a combination of slaughter and ring vaccination to control future outbreaks of spreading avian influenza

Molecular Biology of Spirochetes Felipe C. Cabello, Dagmar Hulinska, Henry P. Godfrey, 2006 Diseases produced by spirochetes including Lyme borreliosis syphilis and leptospirosis are on the rise worldwide This volume focuses on a series of state of the art presentations of the research taking place in the laboratories of the contributors and serves as an introduction to those individuals entering in the field of spirochete research

Improving Genetic Disease Resistance in Farm Animals Akke Jitske Akkermans, W. Sybesma, 2012-12-06 This publication contains the proceedings of a seminar held in Brussels on November 8 9 1988 The title of the seminar was Reducing the costs of disease by improving resistance through genetics The seminar was held as an activity of the Community Programme for the Coordination of Agricultural Research 1984 1988 Costs of disease depend on losses caused by morbidity mortality and production decreases and on the costs of preventive measures including vaccination and medication Production losses often contribute a major portion to the total costs To reduce costs of disease preventive measures like vaccination preventive medication and hygienic procedures are applied Genetic resistance is an attractive preventive measure because of its consistent nature in the next generations because it precludes veterinary services and because there are no side effects Constraints are the long term investment relatively slow progress per generation in combination with production traits and the considerable lack of knowledge about inheritance of resistance mechanisms in farm animals
