Preserving What Is Valued Museums Conservation And First Nations:

Preserving what is Valued Miriam Clavir, 2002 Written by a conservator at the U of British Columbia's Museum of Anthropology this text examines the complex issues surrounding the preservation of First Nations artifacts Drawing upon interviews with elders and other members of various First Nations groups Clavir presents their perspectives on cultural preservation She also discusses the science and ethics of museum conservation Black and white photographs of museum workers artists and First Nations people accompany the text Distributed by Raincoast Books Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Preserving what is valued Miriam Lisa Clavir, 1997 Examines the values attached to preserving heritage objects from the perspectives of First Nations principally in British Columbia Canada and compares these with values held in museum conservation

Preserving What Is Valued Miriam Clavir, 2012-03-01 Preserving What Is Valued explores the concept of preserving heritage It presents the conservation profession's code of ethics and discusses four significant contexts embedded in museum conservation practice science professionalization museum practice and the relationship between museums and First Nations peoples Museum practice regarding handling and preservation of objects has been largely taken as a given and it can be difficult to see how these activities are politicized Clavir argues that museum practices are historically grounded and represent values that are not necessarily held by the originators of the objects She first focuses on conservation and explains the principles and methods conservators practise She then discusses First Nations people's perspectives on preservation quoting extensively from interviews done throughout British Columbia and comparing the British Columbia situation with that in New Zealand In the face of cultural repatriation issues museums are attempting to become more culturally sensitive to the original owners of objects forming new understandings of the right ways of storage and handling of materials Miriam Clavir's work is important for museum professionals conservators those working with First Nations collections in auction houses and galleries as well as students of sociology and anthropology

The Future of Indigenous Museums Nick Stanley, 2007 Indigenous museums and cultural centres have sprung up across the developing world and particularly in the Southwest Pacific This book looks to the future of museum practice through examining how these museums have evolved to incorporate the present and the future in the display of culture

First Nations, Museums, Narrations Alison K. Brown, 2014-04-15 When the Franklin Motor Expedition set out across the Canadian Prairies to collect First Nations artifacts brutal assimilation policies threatened to decimate

these cultures and extensive programs of ethnographic salvage were in place Despite having only three members the expedition amassed the largest single collection of Prairie heritage items currently held in a British museum In this book Alison K Brown draws together the multiple narratives that make up this encounter consulting descendants of the collectors and members of the affected First Nations and reviewing both expedition images and the artifacts themselves In doing so she explores the context within which the collection was made as well as the complex relationships between museums anthropologists and First Nations Accessibly written and vigorously researched First Nations Museums Narrations raises timely questions about the role of collections in the twenty first century and considers the way forward for indigenous peoples and the museums that house their cultural treasures

Cultural Law James A. R. Nafziger, Robert Kirkwood

Paterson, Alison Dundas Renteln, 2010-11-01 Cultural law is a new and exciting field of study and practice The core themes of linguistic and other cultural rights cultural heritage traditional crafts and knowledge the performing arts sports and religion are of fundamental importance to people around the world engaging them at the grass roots and often commanding their daily attention The related legal processes are both significant and complex This unique collection of materials and commentary on cultural law covers a broad range of themes Opening chapters explore critical issues involving cultural activities artifacts and status as well as the fundamental concepts of culture and law Subsequent chapters examine the dynamic interplay of law and culture with respect to each of the core themes The materials demonstrate the reality and efficacy of comparative international and indigenous law and legal practices in the dynamic context of culture related issues Throughout the book these issues are presented at multiple levels of legal authority international national and subnational

Education, Values and Ethics in International Heritage Jeanette Atkinson, 2016-04-29 The changing and evolving relationship between museums and communities Indigenous ethnic and marginalized has been a primary point of discussion in the heritage sector in recent years Questions of official and unofficial heritage whose artefacts to collect and exhibit and why have informed and influenced museum practice Developing from this a key issue is whether it is possible to raise awareness of differing cultural perspectives values and beliefs and incorporate this into the education and training of heritage professionals with the aim of making cultural awareness an integrated and sustainable core part of future heritage training and practice This book discusses perceptions of values and ethics authenticity and significance and documents the historical heritage and education context in North America Scandinavia and the United Kingdom with a particular emphasis on Aotearoa New Zealand The author explores whether it is possible to learn respect for differing cultural perspectives through the undertaking of educational programmes identifies various approaches that could complement the development of students and professionals in the cultural heritage and preservation sectors and offers a means of actively engaging with cultural and professional values through a Taxonomy for Respecting Heritage and Values

Museums, Societies and the Creation of Value Howard Morphy, Robyn McKenzie, 2021-12-30 Museums Societies and the Creation of Value focuses on the ways in which museums and the use of their collections have contributed to and continue to be engaged with value creation processes Including chapters from many of the leading figures in museum anthropology as well as from outstanding early career researchers this volume presents a diverse range of international case studies that bridge the gap between theory and practice It demonstrates that ethnographic collections and the museums that hold and curate them have played a central role in the value creation processes that have changed attitudes to cultural differences The essays engage richly with many of the important issues of contemporary museum discourse and practice They show how collections exist at the ever changing point of articulation between the source communities and the people and cultures of the museum and challenge presentist critiques of museums that position them as locked into the time that they emerged Museums Societies and the Creation of Value provides examples of the productive outcomes of collaborative work and relationships showing how they can be mutually beneficial The book will be of great interest to researchers and students engaged in the study of museums and heritage anthropology culture Indigenous peoples postcolonialism history and sociology It will also be of interest to museum professionals

Museum Transformations Annie E. Coombes,Ruth B. Phillips,2020-11-17 MUSEUM TRANSFORMATIONS DECOLONIZATION AND DEMOCRATIZATION Edited By ANNIE E COOMBES AND RUTH B PHILLIPS Museum Transformations Decolonization and Democratization addresses contemporary approaches to decolonization greater democratization and revisionist narratives in museum exhibition and program development around the world The text explores how museums of art history and ethnography responded to deconstructive critiques from activists and poststructuralist and postcolonial theorists and provided models for change to other types of museums and heritage sites The volume s first set of essays discuss the role of the museum in the narration of difficult histories and how altering the social attitudes and political structures that enable oppression requires the recognition of past histories of political and racial oppression and colonization in museums Subsequent essays consider the museum s new roles in social action and discuss experimental projects that work to change power dynamics within institutions and leverage digital technology and new media

developments this collection advances a new definition of everyday aesthetics and provides a cutting edge reflection on the world we inhabit today Fragments of the World: Uses of Museum Collections Suzanne Keene, 2006-08-11 During the past decade a number of individual museums have found imaginative ways of using their collections and of making them accessible However museum collections as a whole are enormous in size and quantity and the question of how can they can be put to best use is ever present When conventional exhibitions can only ever utilise a tiny proportion of them what other uses of the collections are possible Will their exploitation and use now destroy their value for future generations Should they simply be kept safely and as economically as possible as a resource for the future Fragments of the World examines these questions first reviewing the history of collecting and of collections then discussing the ways in which the collections themselves are being used today Case studies of leading examples from around the world illustrate the discussion Bringing together the thinking about museum collections with case studies of the ways in which different types of collection are used the book provides a roadmap for museums to make better use of this wonderful resource As Sacred to Us Blaire Morseau, 2023-10-01 Originally published in 1893 and 1901 Simon Pokagon's birch bark stories were printed on thinly peeled and elegantly bound birch bark In this edition these rare booklets are reprinted with new essays that set the stories in cultural linguistic historical and even geological context Experts in Native literary traditions history Algonquian languages the Michigan landscape and materials conservation illuminate the thousands of years of Indigenous knowledge that Pokagon elevated in his stories This is an essential resource for teachers and scholars of Native literature Neshnab pasts and futures Algonquian linguistics and book history Collaboration and Co-Creation in Museums, Heritage, and the Arts Anna Edmundson, Maya Haviland, 2025-04-28 Collaboration and Co Creation in Museums Heritage and the Arts examines collaborative practices in museums heritage and the arts It offers an interdisciplinary approach combining both practical and theoretical perspectives from leading scholars and practitioners to better understand and support co creation and collaboration in the cultural sector The volume is divided into five parts offering contemporary perspectives on core topics and their interconnections Themes include the politics of engagement sharing and recentring authority decolonising research and practice facilitating partnerships and structuring cocreation and community empowerment Through global case studies and theoretical analyses contributors explore the challenges and opportunities of collaborative practices exploring intersecting dynamics motivations and constraints The book examines various scales of co creation from interpersonal dynamics to community contexts and institutional transformations The work contributes to ongoing discussions about the future of cultural institutions and the role of culture work in fostering perspectives and practices informed by diverse perspectives and generating multiple values It emphasizes co production as a crucial capability for the sector moving forward Collaboration and Co Creation in Museums Heritage and the Arts is essential for students academics communities and cultural practitioners interested in the complexities and rewards of collaborative work It offers valuable insights into the theories and practices that shape collaborative projects across different cultural contexts and disciplines making it an indispensable guide for anyone engaged in or studying the cultural sector

Sharing Knowledge & Cultural Heritage Laura N. K. Van Broekhoven, 2010 Sharing Knowledge Cultural Heritage SK CH First Nations of the Americas testifies to the growing commitment of museum professionals in the twenty first century to share collections with the descendants of people and communities from whom the collections originated Thanks to collection histories and the documenting of relations with particular indigenous communities it is well known that until as recently as the 1970s museum doors except for a handful of cases were shut to indigenous peoples This volume is the result of an expert meeting held in November 2007 at the National Museum

The Museum in Asia Yunci Cai, 2025-02-04 The Museum in Asia advances an understanding of the flourishing museum landscape in the region by offering a variety of conceptual tools and frameworks through which museum development can be analysed and understood Informed by the key theoretical tenets of critical museology and heritage studies this volume seeks to deconstruct the idea of museology and the museum phenomenon in East South and Southeast Asia to identify common themes and trends unique to Asia Drawing on case studies from ten different countries in Asia including China and India it proffers a set of analytical tools to think through how we can understand and conceptualise the study of museums and museology in Asia Contributions to this edited volume are drawn from both Asian and Western academic contexts thus offering both inside and outside perspectives on the museum phenomenon in Asia The Museum in Asia is the first academic book to explore the museum phenomenon in Asia from theoretical perspectives informed by critical museology and heritage studies making it an essential text for the teaching of courses relating to museum studies cultural heritage studies or Asian studies Academics students and professionals who are interested in learning more about the theory behind the museum phenomenon in Asia will find this book to be a useful resource

Reculturing Museums Doris B. Ash, 2022-02-27 Reculturing Museums takes a unified sociocultural theoretical approach to analyze the many conflicts museums experience in the 21st century Embracing conflict Ash asks What can practitioners and researchers do to create the change they want to see when old systems remain stubbornly in place Using a unified sociocultural cultural historical activity theoretical approach to analyzing historically bound conflicts that plague museums each chapter is organized around a central contradiction including finances Who will pay for museums demographic shifts Who will come to museums the roles of narratives Whose story is it ownership of objects Who owns the artifact and learning and teaching What is learning and how can we teach equitably The reculturing stance taken by Ash promotes social justice and equity making change first within museums called inreach rather than outside the museum called outreach challenges existing norms is sensitive to neoliberal and deficit ideologies and pays attention to the structure agency dialectic Reculturing Museums will be essential reading for academics students museum practitioners educational researchers and others who care about museums and want to ensure that all people have equal access to the activities objects and ideas residing in them
