Told Me: Notes from "The Lyons Den" Jeffrey Lyons, 2011-06-14 An incredible collection of celebrity stories and photographs from 1934 to the present from the archives of The Lyons Den by eminent New York Post columnist Leonard Lyons compiled by his son movie critic Jeffrey Lyons. This amazing collection of choice anecdotes takes us right back to the Golden Age of New York City nightlife when top restaurants like Toots Shor's 21 and Sardi's as well as glittering nightclubs like the Stork Club, Latin Quarter and El Morocco were the nightly gathering spots for great figures of that era: movie and Broadway stars, baseball players, champion boxers, comedians, diplomats, British royalty, prize-winning authors and famous painters. From Charlie Chaplin to Winston Churchill, from Ethel Barrymore to Sophia Loren, from George Burns to Ernest Hemingway, from Joe DiMaggio to the Duke of Windsor, Leonard Lyons knew them all. For forty glorious years from 1934 to 1974 he made the daily rounds of Gotham nightspots collecting the exclusive scoops and revelations that were at the core of his famous newspaper column The Lyons Den. In this entertaining volume Jeffrey Lyons has assembled a considerable compilation of anecdotes from his father's best columns and has also contributed a selection of his own interviews with stars of today including Penelope Cruz and George Clooney among others. Organized chronologically by decade and subdivided by celebrity, Stories My Father Told Me offers fascinating, amusing stories that are illustrated by approximately seventy photographs. He so captured the tenor of those exciting times that the great Lincoln biographer Carl Sandburg said: "Imagine how much richer American history would have been had there been a Leonard Lyons in Lincoln's time." Public Papers of

Politicians and their press secretaries release news items with one eye on the event and the other on the millions of voters who depend on the White House press corps to keep them informed about the workings of their government. Portraying the President explores the inner workings of the relationship between the White House and the press Rather than emphasize the well publicized sparring between inquisitive reporters and evasive administrative spokesmen intent on enhancing the President s public image the authors stress the vast amount of cooperation between journalists and their sources They point out the similarities of the White House media relationship in recent administrations and suggest what shape it is likely to take in the future The authors also address the key issues of information management and manipulation by both the administration and the press Grossman and Kumar demonstrate that whether a lower level staff member leaks a news item to elevate his own status or an official spokesman mentions a new policy proposal in order to gather support the release of information to the White House press corps involves complicated strategies among a number of administrative personnel Washington reporters aware of some of these tactics compensate by cultivating personal sources and trading information with officials Nevertheless the routine nature of White House reporting and the competitiveness of modern news organizations often trap the reporter into what has been called pack journalism Interviews with current and former White House reporters including Bob Schieffer Tom Brokaw James Naughton James Reston and John Osborne give Portraying the President an authentic firsthand sound and feel Comments from Ron Nessen Gerald Rafshoon Jody Powell and other presidential spokesmen and advisors give insight into White House operations during the Nixon Ford and Carter administrations Portraying the President provides information vital to an appreciation of the modern American political system Its thought provoking conclusions will be of interest political scientists media specialists and anyone interested in current affairs *Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States, Lyndon B.
