Shaw, Cyril J. Weir, 2007-07-05 Test developers need to provide a clear explication of the language ability constructs that underpin the tests they offer in the public domain such an explication is essential for supporting claims about the validity or usefulness of test scores This volume describes the theory and practice of Cambridge ESOL's approach to assessing second language writing ability A comprehensive test validation framework is used to examine the tasks in Cambridge ESOL writing tests from a number of different validity perspectives that reflect the socio cognitive nature of any assessment event The authors show how an understanding and analysis of the framework and its components can assist test developers to operationalise their tests more effectively especially in relation to the key criteria that differentiate one proficiency level from another The book provides an up to date review of relevant literature on assessing writing an accessible and systematic description of the different proficiency levels in second language writing a comprehensive and coherent basis for validating tests of writing This volume is a rich source of information on all aspects of examining writing ability As such it will be of considerable interest to examination boards who wish to validate their own writing tests in a systematic and coherent manner as well as to academic researchers and students in the field of language assessment more generally Book jacket The Deconstruction of Dualism in Theology Gillian McCulloch, 2002 Between Horror and Hope is a study of Paul s metaphorical language of death in Romans 6 1 11 The scholarly debate focuses on two main issues the origin of the commentatio mortis tradition and its development Dr Sabou argues that the origin of this terminology is original to Paul that it was the apostle s own insight into the meaning of Christ's death a death to sin and his understanding of the identity of Christ in his death as the anointed davidic king which guided him to create this metaphor of dying to sin as a way of describing the relationship of the believer with sin On the development of this language of death the author argues that this language conveys two aspects horror and hope The first is discussed in the context of crucifixion in which Paul explains the believer s death to sin by presenting Christ s death as the death of the anointed davidic king who won the victory over sin and death by rising from the dead Paul affirms that believers are coalesced with what was proclaimed about Christ's death and resurrection thereby allowing him to assert that the releasing of the body from the power of sin is a result of crucifixion This crucifixion is the condemnation inflicted on our past lives in the age inaugurated by Adam s sin and this is such a horrible event that believers have to stay away from sin since sin leads to such punishment In contrast hope is presented in the context of burial The believers burial with Christ points to the fact that they are part of Christ's family and this is accomplished by the overwhelming action of God by which he pushes us toward the event of Christ's death an act pictured in baptism It is this burial with Christ that allows believers to share with Christ in newness of life God in History; or, Tracts illustrative of the presence and providence of God in the affairs of men John Cumming, 1849 Perspectives on Science and Christian Faith ,2005 Learning to be Human: The Educational Legacy of John MacMurray Michael Fielding, 2016-04-14 The educational writings of John Macmurray one of the finest 20th century philosophers of his generation have a special relevance for us today In similar circumstances of international crisis he argued for the central importance of education addressing fundamental issues of human purpose how we lead good lives together the emphasis on wisdom rather than knowledge alone the advancement of a truly democratic culture and the overriding importance of community in human flourishing This remarkable collection of articles from leading international scholars includes the hitherto unpublished John Macmurray lecture Learning to be Human and brings together invited contributions from a range of fields and disciplines e g philosophy of education moral philosophy care ethics history of education theology religious education future studies and learning technologies and a number of countries across the world e g Australia the UK and the USA Countering overemphasis on technique and its typical separation from wider human purposes emblematic of much of our current malaise this book asks what it might mean to take the education of persons seriously and how such a perspective helps us to form judgments about the nature and worth of contemporary education policy and practice This book was originally published as a special issue of the Oxford Review of Education Bring the Gospel Home Michael Marten, 2005-12-20 The first comprehensive study of Scottish religious imperialism in the Middle East highly topical in the light of parallels with American religious imperialism in the region has interdisciplinary importance and appeal Attempting to Bring the Gospel Home portrays the Scottish missions to Palestine carried out by Presbyterian churches These missions had as their stated aim the conversion of Jews to Protestantism but also attempted to convert other Christians and Muslims Marten discusses the missions to Damascus Aleppo Tiberias Safad Hebron and Jaffa and locates the missionaries in their religious social national and imperial contexts He describes the three main methods of the missionaries work confrontation education and medicine as well as the ways in which these were communicated to the supporting constituency in Scotland Michael Marten was formerly a graduate student in the Department of Islamic and Middle Eastern Studies University of Edinburgh and now teaches at SOAS God in History, Or, Facts Illustrative of the Presence & Providence of God in the Affairs of Men John Cumming, 1852 Scottish Life and Society: Bibliography for Scottish ethnology, 2000 The Routledge Companion to Absurdist Literature Michael Y. exciting genre that includes some of the most important and influential writers of the twentieth century including Samuel Beckett Harold Pinter Edward Albee Eugene Ionesco Jean Genet and Albert Camus Ever puzzling and always refusing to be pinned down this book does not attempt to define absurdist literature but attempts to examine its major and minor players As such the field is indirectly defined by examining its constituent writers Not only investigating the so called Theatre of the Absurd this volume wades deeply into absurdist fiction and absurdist poetry expanding much of our previous sense of what constitutes absurdist literature Furthermore long overdue approximately one third of the book is devoted to marginalized writers black Latin x female LGBTQ and non Western voices John Macmurray John E. Costello, 2002 and War at the Fault Lines Michael N. Schmitt, 2011-11-15 This collection of essays by Professor Michael N Schmitt of Durham University draws together those of his articles published over the past two decades that have explored particular fault lines in the law of armed conflict As such they examine the complex interplay between warfare and law seeking to identify where the law and warfare appear to diverge and where such apparent divergence can be accommodated through contextual interpretation of the law Each essay examines a particular issue in either the jus ad bellum the law governing resort to force or jus in bello international humanitarian law that has proven contentious in terms of applying extant norms to the evolving face of armed conflict Among the topics addressed are counter terrorism cyber operations asymmetrical warfare assassination environmental warfare and the participation of civilians in hostilities Iohn Macmurray David Fergusson, Nigel Dower, 2002 This volume comprises a multidisciplinary study of the work of the important Scottish philosopher John Macmurray 1891 1976 Macmurray held university posts in London and Edinburgh and exercised a wide influence through his many writings and BBC radio broadcasts More recently his work has come to prominence through his acknowledged influence on British Prime Minister Tony Blair The essays in this collection are from a range of international scholars in the humanities and social sciences In addition to a biographical introduction they cover themes in philosophy religion political theory psychology and ethics A comprehensive bibliography of Macmurray's publications is also included God in History; Or, Facts Illustrative of the Presence and Providence of God in the Affairs of Men John Cumming, 1849
