Sidebotham, Martin Hense, Hendrikje M. Nouwens, 2008 For thousands of years Egypt has crowded the Nile Valley and Delta The Eastern Desert however has also played a crucial though until now little understood role in Egyptian history Ancient inhabitants of the Nile Valley feared the desert which they referred to as the Red Land and were reluctant to venture there yet they exploited the extensive mineral wealth of this region They also profited from the valuable wares conveyed across the desert between the Nile and the Red Sea ports which originated from Arabia Africa India and elsewhere in the east Based on twenty years of archaeological fieldwork conducted in the Eastern Desert The Red Land reveals the cultural and historical richness of this little known and seldom visited area of Egypt A range of important archaeological sites dating from Prehistoric to Byzantine times is explored here in text and illustrations Among these ancient treasures are petroglyphs cemeteries fortified wells gold and emerald mines hard stone quarries roads forts ports and temples With 250 photographs and fascinating artistic reconstructions based on the evidence on the ground along with the latest research and accounts from ancient sources and modern travelers the authors lead the reader into the remotest corners of the hauntingly beautiful Eastern Desert to discover the full story of the area's human history Egypt and Syria in the Fatimid, Ayyubid and Mamluk Eras IV Urbain Vermeulen, J. van Steenbergen, 2005 Each volume deals with a wide variety of scholarly subjects all revolving around the central theme of Syro Egypt's high and late medieval history Topics dealt with include archaeology architecture codicology economic political and religious history as well as belles lettres Imperial Rome, Indian Ocean Regions and Muziris K.S. Rathbone, 2017-05-01 After its conquest by Alexander the Great in 332 bc Egypt was ruled for the next 300 years by the Ptolemaic dynasty founded by Ptolemy I one of Alexander's generals With the defeat of Cleopatra VII in 30 bc Egypt became a province of the Roman Empire and later of the Byzantine Empire For a millennium it was one of the wealthiest most populous and important lands of the multicultural Mediterranean civilization under Greek and Roman rule The thousand years from Alexander to the Arab conquest in ad 641 are rich in archaeological interest and well documented by 50 000 papyri in Greek Egyptian Latin and other languages But travelers and others interested in the remains of this period are ill served by most guides to Egypt which concentrate on the pharaonic buildings This book redresses the balance with clear and concise descriptions related to documents and historical background that enable us to appreciate the fascinating cities temples tombs villages churches and monasteries of the Hellenistic Roman and Late Antique periods Written by a dozen leading specialists and reflecting the latest discoveries and research it provides an expert visitor's guide to the principal cities many off the well worn tourist paths It also offers a vivid picture of Egyptian society at differing economic and social levels The Hellenistic Settlements in Syria, the Red Sea Basin, and North Africa Getzel M. Cohen, 2006-10-03 This authoritative and sweeping compendium the second volume in Getzel Cohen's organized survey of the Greek settlements founded or refounded in the Hellenistic period provides historical narratives detailed references citations and commentaries on all the settlements in Syria The Red Sea Basin and North Africa from 331 to 31 BCE Organized geographically the volume pulls together discoveries and debates from dozens of widely scattered archaeological and epigraphic projects Cohen's magisterial breadth of focus enables him to provide more than a compilation of information the volume also contributes to ongoing questions and will point the way toward new avenues of inquiry Egypt After the Pharaohs, 332 BC-AD 642

Agius, 2019-04-04 Few images are as evocative as the silhouette of the Arab dhow as under full sail it tacks to windward on glittering waters of Red Sea before moving across the face of the rising or setting sun In this authoritative new book Dionisius A Agius one of the foremost scholars of Islamic material culture offers a lucid and wide ranging history of the iconic dhow from medieval to modern times

Araby the Blest Daniel T. Rome's Eastern Trade Gary K. Young, 2003-10-04 The spectacular ruins of such places as Palmyra and Petra bear witness to the wealth and power which could be derived from the silks spices and incense of the east Such goods were highly prized in the Roman Empire and merchants were ready to face the perils of deserts oceans warfare and piracy to meet the demand for their wares But exactly how did the trade in luxury goods operate and to whose benefit Gary K Young's study offers unprecedented coverage of the major trading regions of Egypt Arabia Palmyra and Syria with detailed analysis of the routes used and of the roles of all the participants He looks closely at the influence of the commerce in eastern goods both on the policy of the Roman imperial government and upon local communities in the East itself His findings contradict the standard view that the imperial government had a strong political interest in the eastern trade rather its primary concern was the tax income the trade brought in He also demonstrates the need for greater recognition of the efforts made by local authorities to exploit the trade to their own advantage Incorporating the considerable archaeological research that has been undertaken in recent years this comprehensive survey provides fresh insight into an important aspect of the eastern Roman Empire

Trade, Commerce, and the State in the Roman World Andrew Wilson, Alan Bowman, 2017-11-03 This volume presents eighteen papers by leading Roman historians and archaeologists discussing trade in the Roman Empire during the period c 100 BC to AD 350 It focuses especially on the role of the Roman state in shaping the institutional framework for trade within and outside the empire in taxing that trade and in intervening in the markets to ensure the supply of particular commodities especially for the city of Rome and for the army As part of a novel interdisciplinary approach to the subject the chapters address its myriad facets on the basis of broadly different sources of evidence historical papyrological and archaeological They are grouped into three sections covering institutional factors taxation legal structures market regulation financial institutions evidence for long distance trade within the empire in wood stone glass and pottery and trade beyond the frontiers with the east as far as China India Arabia the Red Sea and the Sahara Rome's external trade with realms to the east emerges as being of particular significance but it is in the eastern part of the empire itself where the state appears to have adapted the mechanisms of taxation in collaboration with the elite holders of wealth to support its need for revenue On the other hand the price of that collaboration which was in effect a fiscal partnership ultimately led in the longer term in slightly different forms in the east and the west to a fundamental change in the political character of the empire

Roads in the Deserts of Roman Egypt Maciej Paprocki, 2019-07-19 Egypt under the Romans 30 BCE 3rd century CE was a period when local deserts experienced an unprecedented flurry of activity In the Eastern Desert a marked increase in desert traffic came from imperial prospecting quarrying activities and caravans transporting wares to and from the Red Sea ports In the Western Desert resilient camels slowly became primary beasts of burden in desert travel enabling caravaneers to lengthen daily marching distances across previously inhospitable dunes Desert road archaeology has used satellite imaging landscape studies and network analysis to plot desert trail networks with greater accuracy however it is often difficult to date roadside installations and thus assess how these networks evolved in scope and density in reaction to climatic social and technological change Roads in the Deserts of Roman Egypt examines evidence for desert roads in Roman Egypt and assesses Roman influence on the road density in two select desert areas the central and southern section of the Eastern Desert and the central Marmarican Plateau and discusses geographical and social factors influencing road use in the period demonstrating that Roman overseers of these lands adapted remarkably well to local desert conditions improving roads and developing the trail network Crucially the author reconceptualises desert trails as linear corridor structures that follow expedient routes in the desert landscape passing through at least two functional nodes attracting human traffic be those water sources farmlands mines quarries trade hubs military installations or actual settlements The route of least resistance across the desert varied from period to period according to the available road infrastructure and beasts of burden employed Roman administration in Egypt not only increased the density of local desert node networks but also facilitated internodal connections with camel caravans and transformed the Sahara by establishing new or embellishing existing nodes effectively funnelling desert traffic into discernible corridors Significantly not all desert areas of Egypt are equally suited for anthropogenic development but almost all have been optimised in one way or another with road installations built for added comfort and safety of travellers Accordingly the study of how Romans successfully adapted to desert travel is of wider significance to the study of deserts and ongoing expansion due to global warming
