Race Racism And Psychology Towards A Reflexive History:

Race, Racism and Psychology Graham Richards, 2003-09-02 Topics with racial implications have been hotly debated in the psychological literature for most of this century and are often in the news Graham Richards takes a historical look at how the concepts of race and racism emerged within the discipline and charts the underlying premises of some famous studies in their social and political contexts No one is allowed to be objective in this arena as opponents will always argue that they are not This account is bound therefore to be controversial and excite interest whether or not readers agree with Richards stance

Being Human Roger Smith, 2007-09-11 Challenging commonly held biological religious and ethical beliefs internationally well known historian of science Roger Smith boldly argues that human nature is not some thing awaiting discovery but is active in understanding itself According to Smith being human is a self creation made possible through a reflective circle of thought and action with a past and a future and studying this history from a range of perspectives is fundamental to human self understanding Smith s argument brings together historical and contemporary debates concerning materialism and human nature and the relations of the different fields of knowledge He draws on classic writings from across the human sciences touching on sociology anthropology brain sciences history philosophical hermeneutics and critical theory and demonstrates that there is no position outside history for an absolutely objective or eternally valid view of human nature The question what is human does not have and could not possible have one answer Instead there exists a variety of answers for different purposes and there are good reasons for the many conceptions of what it is to be human Smith does not treat human nature as only biological economic or moral but as a multidimensional subject that should be considered in its proper historical context By understanding this context Smith believes we can come to a truer understanding of ourselves Persuasively and elegantly written Being Human takes an important new turn in the philosophical study of being human

Playing with Fire Roderick D. Buchanan, 2010-05-06 Playing with Fire is a biography of psychologist Hans J Eysenck s career It looks to describe the contradictions in Eysenck s public and professional image and explain how one fed the other It documents his boyhood in Berlin and the origins of his key ideas about personality learning and the biogenetics of behaviour

The Routledge Research Companion to Nineteenth-Century British Literature and Science John Holmes, Sharon Ruston, 2017-05-18 Tracing the continuities and trends in the complex relationship between literature and science in the long nineteenth century this companion provides scholars with a comprehensive authoritative and up to date foundation for research in this field In intellectual material and social terms the transformation undergone by Western culture over the period was unprecedented Many of these changes were grounded in the growth of science Yet science was not a cultural monolith then any more than it is now and its development was shaped by competing world views To cover the full range of literary engagements with science in the nineteenth century this companion consists of twenty seven chapters by experts in the field which explore crucial social and intellectual contexts for the interactions between literature and science how science affected different genres of writing and the importance of individual scientific disciplines and concepts within literary culture Each chapter has its own extensive bibliography The volume as a whole is rounded out with a synoptic introduction by the editors and an afterword by the eminent historian of nineteenth century science Bernard Lightman Freud in Cambridge John Forrester, Laura Cameron, 2017-03-09 Freud may never have set foot in Cambridge that hub for the twentieth century's most influential thinkers and scientists but his intellectual impact there in the years between the two World Wars was immense This is a story that has long languished untold buried under different accounts of the dissemination of psychoanalysis John Forrester and Laura Cameron present a fascinating and deeply textured history of the ways in which a set of Freudian ideas about the workings of the human mind sexuality and the unconscious affected Cambridge men and women from A G Tansley and W H R Rivers to Bertrand Russell Bernal Strachey and Wittgenstein shaping their thinking across a range of disciplines from biology to anthropology and from philosophy to psychology education and literature Freud in Cambridge will be welcomed as a major intervention by literary scholars historians and all readers interested in twentieth century intellectual and scientific life Peoples on Parade Sadiya Qureshi, 2011-10-31 Examines the phenomenon of human exhibitions in nineteenth century Britain and considers how this legacy informs understandings of race and empire today Rationing Education Gillborn, David, Youdell, Deborah, 1999-12-01 This research should make us extremely sceptical that the constant search for higher standards and for ever increasing achievement scores can do much more than put in place seemingly neutral devices for restratification Michael W Apple John Bascom Professor of Curriculum and Instruction and Educational Policy Studies University of Wisconsin Madison Recent educational reforms have raised standards of achievement but have also resulted in growing inequalities based on race and social class School by school league tables play a central role in the reforms These have created an A to C economy where schools and teachers are judged on the proportion of students attaining five or more grades at levels A to C To satisfy these demands schools are embracing new and ever more selective attempts to identify ability Their assumptions and practices embody a new IQism a simple narrow and regressive ideology of intelligence that labels working class and minority students as likely failures and justifies rationing provision to support those often white middle class boys already marked for success This book reports detailed research in two secondary schools showing the real costs of reform in terms of the pressures on teachers and the rationing of educational opportunity It will be important reading for any teacher researcher or policymaker with an interest in equality in education Racial Science and British Society, 1930-62 G. Schaffer, 2008-09-02 From 1930-62 the idea of race was studied across a range of academic disciplines This book explores expert thinkings on race in the period and explains the relationship between scientific racial research social policy and attitudes regarding immigration ultimately offering new insight into the evolving understanding of the idea of race Neurorhetorics Jordynn Jack, 2013-09-13 In academia as well as in popular culture the prefix neuro now occurs with startling frequency Scholars now publish research in the fields of neuroeconomics neurophilosophy neuromarketing neuropolitics and neuroeducation Consumers are targeted with enhanced products and services such as brain based training exercises and babies are kept on a strict regimen of brain music brain videos and brain games The chapters in this book investigate the rhetorical appeal effects and implications of this prefix neuro and carefully consider the potential collaborative work between rhetoricians and neuroscientists Drawing on the increasingly interdisciplinary nature of rhetorical study Neurorhetorics questions how discourses about the brain construct neurological differences such as mental illness or intelligence measures Working at the nexus of rhetoric and neuroscience the authors explore how to operationalize rhetorical inquiry into neuroscience in meaningful ways They account for the production dissemination and appeal of neuroscience research findings revealing what rhetorics about the brain mean for contemporary public discourse This book was originally published as a special issue of Rhetoric Society Quarterly

Between Law and Culture Lisa C. Bower, David Theo Goldberg, Michael C. Musheno, 2001 What happens to legal thought when key terms society culture power justice identity become unsettled With the boundaries defining sociolegal scholarship undergoing a profound shift this book explores the intersections of law culture and identity Sexuality race sports and the politics of policing are among the topics the authors take up as they examine how law both reproduces and challenges fundamental notions of order discipline and identity Contributors Rosemary J. Science for Segregation John P. Jackson, Jr., 2005-08-01 In this fascinating examination of the intriguing but understudied period following the landmark Brown v Board of Education decision John Jackson examines the scientific case aimed at dismantling the legislation Offering a trenchant assessment of the so called scientific evidence Jackson focuses on the 1959 formation of the International Society for the Advancement of Ethnology and Eugenics IAAEE whose expressed function was to objectively investigate racial differences and publicize their findings Notable figures included Carleton Putnam Wesley Critz George and Carleton Coon In an attempt to link race eugenics and intelligence they launched legal challenges to the Brown ruling each chronicled here that went to trial but ultimately failed The history Jackson presents speaks volumes about the legacy of racism as we can see similar arguments alive and well today in such books as The Bell Curve and in other debates on race science and intelligence With meticulous research and a nuanced understanding of the complexities of race and law Jackson tells a disturbing tale about race in America

Educational Diversity Y. Taylor, 2012-09-26 This collection explores the relationship between new equality regimes and continued societal inequalities exploring change ambivalence and resistance specifically in relation to compulsory and post compulsory education seeking to more fully situate the educational journeys and experiences of staff and students      A Human Garden Paul-André Rosental,2019-12-01 Well into the 1980s Strasbourg France was the site of a curious and little noted experiment Ungemach a garden city dating back to the high days of eugenic experimentation that offered luxury living to couples who were deemed biologically fit and committed to contractual childbearing targets Supported by public authorities Ungemach aimed to accelerate human evolution by increasing procreation among eugenically selected parents In this fascinating history Paul Andr Rosental gives an account of Ungemach s origins and its perplexing longevity He casts a troubling light on the influence that eugenics continues to exert even decades after being discredited as a pseudoscience in realms as diverse as developmental psychology postwar policymaking and liberal democratic ideals of personal fulfilment      Cross-Cultural Child Development for Social Workers Lena Robinson,2020-01-03 This innovative text explains child development from a cross cultural perspective Using examples to illuminate key points it considers a range of topics from attachment to identity and communication to socialization This is essential reading for social workers at all stages of their careers who want to develop culturally sensitive practice

Representing Non-Western Music in Nineteenth-century Britain Bennett Zon,2007 Explores the influence of anthropological theories travel literature psychology and other intellectual trends on the perception of non Western music and elucidates the roots of today s field of ethnomusicology      Cambridge and the Torres Strait Anita Herle,Sandra Rouse,1998-09-24 Centenary volume of the Torres Strait Expedition suggesting new ways of looking at its work

Representing Emotions Helen Hills,2017-05-15 Juxtaposing artistic and musical representations of the emotions with medical philosophical and scientific texts in Western culture between the Renaissance and the twentieth century the essays collected in this volume explore the ways in which emotions have been variously conceived configured represented and harnessed in relation to broader discourses of control excess and refinement Since the essays explore the interstices between disciplines e g music and medicine history of art and philosophy and thereby disrupt established frameworks within the histories of art music and medicine traditional narrative accounts are challenged Here larger historical forces come into perspective as these papers suggest how both artistic and scientific representations of the emotions have been put to use in political social and religious struggles at a variety of different levels      Francis Huxley and the Human Condition Ron Roberts,Theodor Itten,2020-10-08 Focused on the life and work of Francis Huxley 1923 2016 this book offers an exploration of the search to understand the human condition one which is simultaneously biographical philosophical cultural historical political and epistemological A member of the illustrious Huxley dynasty Francis Huxley forged an unusual and innovative career making key contributions to social anthropology mental health care and the protection of indigenous peoples His story reveals how the production and dissemination of ideas can be understood in an intergenerational context which is familial and sociological The book reflects on the contemporary relevance of Huxley s work forging links between the central philosophical cultural scientific and political themes that dominate the turbulent early 21st century and the enduring questions that have driven human beings in the search to understand themselves and their place in the world It will be of interest to scholars from across the social sciences and humanities
