Race Ethnicity And Difference Imagining The Inclusive Society:

Race Ethnicity and Difference: Imagining the Inclusive Society Peter Ratcliffe, 2004-06-16 This excellent book provides an extremely readable account which deserves to be widely read by a more general audience. In short, the author, in making sense of current imaginings, presents a mix of theoretical and empirical debates as he challenges exclusionary forces. The book's principal aim is to take a critical look at the nature and sources of inequalities in contemporary societies and examine the prospects for an inclusive society. This aim captures an important strength of the text as the analysis attempts to move beyond simple description and provide explanations and possible solutions to enable policy and practice to tackle disadvantage and discrimination. Social Policy This book addresses many of the key problems facing contemporary societies. The social significance attached to various forms of difference, most notably race and ethnicity, has been seen as resulting in the exclusion of some groups from their full rights as citizens. This in turn is viewed as presenting a series of barriers to the creation of more inclusive societies. Peter Ratcliffe explores these arguments in a variety of substantive contexts, for example immigration and the treatment of refugees and asylum seekers, housing and segregation, education, labour markets and policing and urban conflict. Particular emphasis is placed on the role of social agency on the part of minorities in confronting exclusionary forces. This lively and highly readable account deals with difficult theoretical, ethical and policy issues without resort to unnecessary jargon. It is essential reading for undergraduate students in sociology, social policy, urban geography, law and political science and is also of value to the general reader and researcher.

Race, Ethnicity & Society Tina Patel, 2023-02-08 Part of the New Approaches to Sociology series, Race Ethnicity Society expands on Tina Patel's acclaimed book Race and Society. Offering a thoughtful and critically engaging exploration of some of the key issues around race and ethnicity in contemporary society, this book provides a nuanced and impactful perspective for students studying sociology. With a progressive approach that emphasises the social construction of race issues within a post-racial era, moving away from essentialist and polarized explanations of racial interaction, this book introduces the main concepts and key theories, including their post-developments. Includes dedicated chapters on theorizing race and historical context. Focuses on the processes and impact of racial categorisation in contemporary society. Covers contemporary discussions related to Black Lives Matter and the Covid 19 pandemic. Race Ethnicity Society is packed with topical examples and international case studies to engage students, along with chapter summaries, study questions and further reading. It's a highly readable and thought-provoking guide to the study of race, ethnicity and society for students of sociology, criminology and related disciplines. Dr Tina G Patel is a Senior Lecturer

Transgressing Boundaries.

Elizabeth F. Oldfield, 2013 Fictions written between 1939 and 2005 by indigenous and white post colonial women writers emerging from an African European cultural experience form the focus of this study Their voyages into the European diasporic space in Africa are important for conveying how African women's literature is situated in relation to colonialism. Notwithstanding the centrality of African literature in the new postcolonial literatures in English, the accomplishments of the indigenous writer Grace Ogot have been eclipsed by the critical attention given to her male counterparts while Elspeth Huxley, Barbara Kimenye and Marjorie Oludhe Macgoye, who are of Western cultural provenance but adopt an African perspective, are not accommodated by the genre of expatriate literature. The present study of both indigenous and white postcolonial women's narratives that are common to both categories fills this gap. Focused on the representation of gender, identity, culture and the Other, the texts selected are set in Kenya and Uganda and a main concern is with the extent to which they are influenced by setting and intercultural influences. The African woman's creation of textuality is at once the expression of female individualities and a transgression of boundaries. The particular category of fiction for children as written by Kimenye and Macgoye reveals the configuration of a voice and identity for the female Other and writer which enables a subversive renegotiation of identity in the face of patriarchal traditions.

Promoting social cohesion Newman, Ines, Ratcliffe, Peter, 2011-05-11. This book makes a forthright case for a shift in policy focus from community cohesion to the broader notion of social cohesion and is distinctive and innovative in its focus on evaluation. It constitutes an extremely valuable source both for practitioners involved in social cohesion interventions and for researchers and students studying theory-based evaluation and the policy areas highlighted: housing, intergenerational issues, the recession, education, communications, community development.

Curriculum Windows Thomas S. Poetter, Kelly Waldrop, Tasneem Amatullah, Cleighton Weiland, Jody Googins, Vanessa Winn, 2017-04-01. Curriculum Windows: What Curriculum Theorists of the 1990s Can Teach Us about Schools and Society Today is an effort by students of curriculum studies along with their professor to interpret and understand curriculum texts and theorists of the 1990s in contemporary terms. The authors explore how key books/authors from the curriculum field of the 1990s illuminate new possibilities forward for us as scholar educators today. How might the theories, practices and ideas wrapped up in curriculum texts of the 1990s still resonate with us? Allow us to see backward in time and forward in time all at the same time. How might these figurative windows of insight, thought, ideas, fantasy and fancy make us think differently about curriculum, teaching, learning, students, education, leadership and schools? Further, how might they help us see more clearly, even perhaps put us on a path to correct the mistakes and missteps of intervening decades and of today? The chapter authors and editor revisit and interpret several of the most important works in the curriculum field of the 1990s. The book's Foreword is by renowned curriculum theorist William H. Schubert.

Handbook of Brand Relationships Deborah J. MacInnis, C. Whan Park, Joseph W. Priester, 2014-12-18.
